U. S. Is Due To Move for Coal Strike Injunction

Action Expected Monday at Latest; Truman, Advisers Confer for Hour

By Alfred Friendly
Post Reporter

Abandoning hopes of negotiating a settlement of the soft coal strike, the Administration is believed planning to press for an injunction against the walkout Saturday or, at the latest, Monday.

This decision, it was indicated, was made yesterday at a conference between Mr. Truman and his top labor advisers. The conferees concluded that the President has no choice but to follow the procedures of the Taft-Hartley Act.

He has already invoked the first step, in appointing a board of inquiry to look into the facts of the strike. The board made its report to him on Wednesday. The President delayed making it public, and following it up with an immediate directive to the Attorney General to seek an injunction.

Two Reasons for Delay

There were two reasons, it was understood, for the delay. One was to give the Department of Justice more time to prepare for the knotty problems that will follow issuance of a decree—problems of making the injunction stick.

The second is that Mr. Truman feels he is obliged to study the report—and the much more voluminous record that accompanied it—before he can instruct the Attorney General to proceed to court.

The facts that confirm the indicated decision to seek an injunction within the next few days are these:

1. The White House has officially denied that John R. Steelman, assistant to the President and traditional go-between in negotiations with miners' boss John L. Lewis, sought to confer with Lewis or any of the coal operators to arrange a settlement.

2. Checks among the operators indicate that no Government official has made such attempts with them. If the Administration had contemplated a negotiated settlement, it would have attempted to confer with operators yesterday. Since it did not, it is clear that it has no hopes for that course.

3. There is left, then, no alternative to the President but to follow the road that Congress constructed when it passed the new labor law and set up special "national emergency" procedures in it.

Operators May Try

The only ray of hope for action outside the courts seemed to be, as of last night, that the mine operators on their own initiative, would try for an agreement with Lewis.

Some are known to want new negotiations, for they believe the injunction procedure will take perhaps as long as two weeks to restore mine operations. And there is scarcely enough coal above ground to meet the Nation's needs for that long.

But if they enter discussions with Lewis, it will be through no

Boy, 3 Months Old, Suffocates After Mother Finds Him

A 3-month-old boy, found unconscious in his carriage by his mother yesterday, died a short time later.

The victim was Patrick James Seipel, son of Mrs. Margaret Seipel of 219 Newcomb st. se., a George Washington University Hospital nurse.

Death was caused by suffocation, Deputy Coroner Christopher J. Murphy said.

Homicide squad detectives said the baby was found with his face buried in a pillow and the cover pulled over his head.

Miss Widdemer Will Speak At Book Luncheon

Margaret Widdemer, popular novelist, poet, and short story writer, will be heard as a speaker at The Washington Post Book and Author Luncheon April 7. Miss Widdemer's books include the best-seller "The Rose Garden Husband," "Some Day I'll Find You," and most recently, "Lani."

Other author guests will be former Postmaster General James A. Farley, Willie Snow Ethridge, and Rep. Wright Patman. Buy tickets now at book and department stores.

Senate Committee [illegible]oves U. S. Employe Raise of $650

By Jerry Klutz
Post Reporter

Legislation barely squeaked through the Senate Civil Service Committee yesterday to raise postal salaries a flat $800 each and the pay of most other Federal workers an average of $650.

About 185,000 people here in the Federal and District governments would benefit from it.

The legislation faces a hard fight for approval. The crucial votes on the amendments to the two bills were split 5 for and 4 against. However, the final vote on each bill was 7 to 2.

Only 9 of the 13 committee members were present. It was reported that two, and possibly three, of the absent members would have supported smaller pay raises.

Minority reports will be filed by both Chairman Langer (R., N. Dak.) and Senator Flanders (R., Vt.). Langer will insist that most Federal workers be given a minimum pay raise of $1000 each. The committee yesterday rejected his pay plan by a 6-to-3 vote.

Flanders will object on the ground that the pay raises as proposed would give private labor justification for demanding a third round of wage boosts from industry—and he fears a substantial general wage increase would bring on more inflation. His pay bill—$500 for postal and $300 for nonpostal—could not be used as an argument for a third round of wages, the Senator said.

Flanders also said he believes the cost of the two bills should be held to half a billion dollars, the amount proposed by Senator Bridges (R., N. H.) and other GOP leaders. The bills approved yesterday, he estimates, would cost about 850 million dollars a year.

After Langer's $1000 bill was rejected, the Baldwin $500 flat bill for postal employes was called up. Senator Chavez (D., N. Mex.) moved that the figure be raised to $800. His motion carried by a 5 to 4 vote. The Flanders bill was then made the order of business.

Flanders explained that his bill would overhaul the Classification Act, and in doing so, it would give each of the 800,000 Federal workers covered by it an average increase of $100. In addition, he proposed a flat amount of $200 be added to each salary. Chavez moved into action again. He moved that the $200 be stricken and raised to $550. Again the vote was 5 to 4.

Chavez emphasized that the soaring cost of living thoroughly justified the salary increases he had proposed.

The House Civil Service Committee also met yesterday. It took no action on the Rees bill to provide a flat increase of $468 to most Federal workers. The Rees bill has the support of a subcommittee. When the $468 was challenged both as too high and too low at yesterday's session, Chairman Rees ordered his staff to make a survey and report back next Thursday.

The Senate bill, which was

Dewey Attacks ForeignPolicy, Discounts War

Opens Wisconsin Drive By Calling for 'Moral' Offensive Against Reds

By Robert C. Albright
Post Reporter

Milwaukee, Wis., April 1.—Governor Thomas E. Dewey rode into this presidential testing ground today flaying Administration foreign policy at every stop and calling for a U. S.-led "moral offensive" to halt Communist aggression.

"This is not a war crisis," the politically worried Dewey told an audience in the Davidson Theater here tonight. "It is a peace crisis. You can't shoot and kill an idea with a gun."

In Milwaukee and earlier in Kenosha and Racine, Wisc., he accused the Truman administration of a policy of "appeasement one day and bold bluster the next."

He asserted competent government and courageous leadership can stop short of war Communist envelopment of free nations by erasing "the wobbling uncertainty and paralysis that has plagued our foreign policy."

Admit MacArthur Ahead

Making his first campaign tour in a primary in eight years Dewey was running a scared race. Bearish reports on his prospects in Wisconsin's April 6 perference voting, by his own advance agants, plainly brought him here.

The Dewey people tacitly conceded Milwaukee-reared Gen. Douglas MacArthur is now leading for a majority of the State's 27 convention delegates. They don't grant that Harold E. Stassen is running second to MacArthur, but many neutral observers here think he is.

Unless there is more talk than fact to the local MacArthur boom, what it comes down to is a neck-and-neck race between Stassen and Dewey for Wisconsin's second preference.

Dewey entered the eastern section of the State, where his greatest strength lay in 1944. In that year he won 15 delegatse, Stassen 4, and MacArthur 3. Two were unpledged and Wendell Willkie was shut out. The present contest seemed an even further cry from 1940, when Dewey captured every delegate seat. Stas-

Senate Votes $300,000,000 Education Aid

Bill to Bring States To National Level Is Passed 58 to 22

By Mary Spargo
Post Reporter

By an overwhelming bipartisan vote of 58 to 22, the Senate yesterday passed and sent to the House the bill authorizing a Federal grant of 300 million dollars a year to help the States educate America's children.

The act, sponsored by Senate Republican leader Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio), was the first major social welfare measure passed by either House of the eightieth Congress.

Leadres of both parties called its pasage vital to this country's success in the conflict of ideas between communism and democracy.

$50 Per Child Floor

Voting for it were 27 Republicans and 31 Democrats, while 17 Republicans and five Democrats were opposed.

The Bill is designed to equalize educational opportunities in this country by putting a $50 per child floor under spending for education in every State, with the Federal Government supplementing State funds to achieve that level.

A companion bill is still held in committee on the House side, but there were indications yesterday that the House leadership is getting ready to give the green light for enactment on that side.

Under the measure the States would receive at least five dollars per pupil between 5 and 17 years of age. Some States will receive as much as $28.50 per child in order to bring them up to the $50 Federal minimum for Federal-State spending.

Use for Any Purpose

The funds can be used for any purpose for which the State spends its own school funds. The Senate took a strictly neutral position on the most controversial issue—whether or not Federal funds should be used to help support sectarian and private schools.

An amendment to forbid the use of Federal funds to aid sectarian or private schools in bus transportation, etc., was knocked out 80 to 5.

A directly opposite amendment which would have required the extension of such aid as is consti-

'Scrawled on Cheap Paper'

Maryland Prisoner's Appeal From Jail Wins Him New Trial

Annapolis, Md., April 1 (AP).—A prisoner who "appealed" from his jail cell to Maryland's highest court was granted a new trial today.

The Court of Appeals ordered that Joseph R. Jewett of Baltimore, be retried after he wrote the court that his trial last year in Baltimore Criminal Court was "unfair and inconclusive."

His penciled letter, marked "urgent-rush" and scrawled on cheap, lined stationery, was made the basis for an "extraordinary" case.

He signed the letter "Louis C. Mulcihy, alias Joseph R. Jewett." Court documents used the latter name.

Jewett was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction for "statutory burglary" of a Baltimore warehouse on May 11, 1947

He was "arraigned, tried before the court without a jury, convicted and sentenced" on the same day, last May 21, Judge Charles Markell said in the Appellate Court decision.

"We cannot say the appellant has actually been done any injustice," Judge Markell ruled, "but we are unable to say . . . he actually received a fair trial."

Judge Markell quoted Jewett's letter as saying:

"I was not permitted to examine witnesses in my behalf. All the evidence was not brought out. The arresting officer was not present in the courtroom but was represented by another officer who said he made the arrest.

"Witnesses for the State were stopped when their stories tended to conflict with the evidence and testimony of other witnesses for the State.

"I was given no chance to gather evidence in my behalf and I had no legal counsel."

Truman Asks 3.37 Billions For Defense

Urges Larger Sum In Revised Budget; Veteran Groups, AFL Differ on Draft

By John G. Norris
Post Reporter

Swift developments in America's new preparedness planning came yesterday at the White House, Capitol and Pentagon as officials weighed the potentialities in Soviet actions in Berlin.

These rearmament moves followed in rapid succession:

1. Defense Secretary Forrestal's office planned to whip the Administration's military manpower bill into final shape this morning and send it to Congress late today.

Only unsettled point is the definition of veterans—who will be exempt from the proposed new stopgap draft. Some officials favor drafting former GIs who had less than one year's service, while others feel no one should be taken who had 90 days in uniform.

Any veteran made liable to call under the Administration bill, however, could discharge his obligation by enlisting in the National Gurad or Reserve. Anyone who signed up with the Guard or Reserve since President Truman's preparedness message of March, would be subject to call under the plan, though other Reservists are exempt.

Men who "sat out the war" at West Point or Annapolis would be caught by the new draft under the bill. Service at either of the Academies or in the Army Special Training Program or Navy V-12 program does not make a man an exempted veteran, the measure declares.

2. President Truman laid before Congress his revised military budget, calling for an additional $3,375,000,000 for national defense next year. Included was 375 millions for stockpiling strategic raw materials.

The President warned that additional security funds may be necessary.

3. President William Green of the American Federation of Labor indorsed a limited selective draft to build up United States armed forces to adequate strength. He and a spokesman for the CIO opposed universal military training while the latter also took a stand against the draft.

4. The two largest veterans organizations—the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars—strongly urged both UMT and the draft in testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee. The American Veterans Committee opposed the former and took no stand on the selective service proposal.

5. Legion Comdr. James F. O'Neil hit congressional suggestions to delay UMT and pass only a "wait-and-see" draft plan as a "cowardly out."

6. The House Armed Services Committee called Air Force Secretary W. Stuart Symington before it for a two-hour explanation behind closed doors of USAF needs. They want to determine whether

Berlin Editor's Suggestion

Nationwide Exhibits Proposed For German Art Treasures

The 202 German art treasures, now at the National Gallery, should be exhibited in a dozen other American cities during the next 12 months, a leading German editor proposed yesterday.

The suggestion that the masterpieces should not be returned to Germany this month, as planned, came from Erik Reger, chief editor of the Berlin Tagesspiegel. It is the largest daily newspaper published in Germany under license of the American Military Government.

Reger, visiting this country at the invitation of American publishers, said another year's exhibition of the pictures in the United States "would lead to better understanding between the two nations."

He added his belief that "most of my countrymen" would agree to the proposal.

He suggested, however, that 8 or 10 German art curators and experts come to the United States and take charge of the exhibit as it went from city to city.

This would suggest to the Germans, he explained, that the United States was scrupulously avoiding any impression that it was trying to withhold the pictures from an ultimate return to Germany.

"I have visited the exhibition at the National Gallery," Reger said in an interview, "and I have seen the crowds and the interest which the people took in every detail of the pictures and the painters, many of whom were German masters.

"I learned that in two weeks, more than 200,000 visitors have enjoyed the paintings. I know that many people have come to Washington, especially at this time of year, but certainly these are a small minority of those Americans who would like to see the masterpieces.

"There are so many towns in the United States whose people have no opportunity to come here, but

Visitors to the National Gallery of Art yesterday reached a total of 282,364 since the special exhibit of German art opened March 17.

Daily attendance at this record-breaking exhibit now often exceeds previous attendance records set at the gallery on Sundays, said Macgill James, assistant director of the gallery. A total of 24,532 persons visited the gallery yesterday and 26,902 on Wednesday. Visiting hours are 10 to 5 p. m. daily and 2 to 10 p. m. on Sundays.

U. S. Flies Supplies Into Berlin As Russians Establish Blockade

American Military Trains Canceled To Avoid Incidents

Berlin, April 1 (AP).—The Americans began flying food into Berlin today to thwart a Russian squeeze aimed at forcing her wartime western allies out of this former German capital.

The Russians put swiftly into effect a calculated program of travel and transport restrictions to this isolated Allied outpost deep in the Soviet zone The restrictions:

1. Halted all military trains between Berlin and the western zones, cutting off normal military supply channels.
2. Stopped British barge traffic to the four-power capital.
3. Instituted rigorous examinations of traffic on the Autobahn, only highway linking the city with the west.
4. Turned back one rail coach occupied by civilians of several nationalities.

Clay Enlists Airpower

For several hours the Russians maintained a traffic-snarling inspection along the edges of their Berlin sector.

But the air was free, and Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the United States commander, announced he would use it to supply the 8575 American military personnel and civilians in the city.

He canceled military train service to Berlin which could not be pushed through the Soviet cordon without inviting a clash, and called

Battle Rages in Jerusalem

Restudy of Palestine Issue Decided by Security Council

British Fire Shells Into Area in Effort To Break Up Fight

Jerusalem, April 1 (AP).—British troops lobbed at least a dozen artillery shells into the Montefiore ghetto of Jerusalem tonight in an effort to break up a bloody battle between Arabs and Jews.

The contenders appeared to be locked in the heaviest fighting for possession of the ancient sector since the Arabs and Jews took up arms last fall.

Montefiore is predominantly a Jewish quarter and Arabs launched their attack before dawn today with a barrage of mortar shells.

The boom of heavy artillery and the rapid bark of automatic weapons were heard all over the city. Flares rocketed over Montefiore by the British and the Jews and the beams of a giant Arab searchlight illuminated the battleground.

Meanwhile, a Jerusalem convoy attempting to rush to the rationed Jews in Jerusalem halted on the road for a second night tonight—its way blocked by Arab guns.

But the drivers of the 60

General Assembly To Meet April 16 In Special Session

Lake Success, April 1 (U.P.).—The United Nations Security Council tonight called an emergency session of the U. N. General Assembly to reconsider the fate of Palestine.

The decision threw the Holy Land issue wide open and handed the United States a preliminary victory in its move to postpone the once-hailed U. N. plan for partitioning Palestine into Arab and Jewish states.

The Council also voted unanimously to seek a truce between the feuding Jews and Arabs of Palestine and called on both sides to put an immediate end to "acts of violence." The proposal was made by the United States.

The vote on the special Assembly session was 9 to 0, with Russia and the Ukraine abstaining. They thus became the only Council members still insisting that the U. N. go ahead with the Palestine partition program on schedule.

U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie immediately set April 16 as the date for a special Assembly session. It will be the second special meeting in the U. N.'s two-year history.

The Assembly will have just one month to work out a new Palestine formula or stand by while civil war engulfs the Holy Land. May 15 is the deadline for termination of the British mandate and British Delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan announced in the Council that under

ERP Must Get Precedence, Marshall Says

Latin-American Countries Advised Cooperation Needed

Bogota, Colombia, April 1 (AP).—Secretary of State George C. Marshall said today that the European Recovery Program must take precedence over Latin-American requests for United States aid.

He told the Pan American Conference here that the United States, in trying to bring peace to the world, needs "the understanding and cooperation of other nations whose objectives are the same as ours." He said his country "cannot continue to bear alone" the heavy foreign economic burdens it now carries.

Washington is prepared to increase assistance to dollar short hemisphere neighbors, Marshall said. However, he emphasized that the restoration of Europe has the first call on the United States purse strings. He asked Latin-American countries to sacrifice some of their demands for aid in the interest of world peace.

Operation of the European recovery program is bound to result in more dollars for Latin American producers of prime materials, Marshall said. But he gave the other countries of the hemisphere little hope that articles in short supply, such as steel and heavy machinery, would be coming south o fthe Rio Grande in increased amounts. United States producers themselves are short, he explained.

The Secretary of State said that because of the drain on United

Truman and Tuck to Share William and Mary Platform

By Edward T. Folliard
Post Reporter

Williamsburg, Va., April 1.—The big question in this 215-year-old town tonight is: What will the President of the United States say to the Governor of Virginia, and vice versa, when they meet here tomorrow?

The chances are that both will be gracious and will keep their political quarrel in the background. Still, nobody can say so positively.

The ceremony at historic William and Mary College tomorrow, in which honorary degrees will be awarded to President Truman, Governor William M. Tuck and the two leading figures of Canada, was arranged months ago some time before the Chief Executive sent his civil rights message to Congress.

That message caused Governor Tuck to revise sharply his opinion of Mr. Truman. He became a leader of the Southern "revolt" and pledged himself to make a last-ditch fight to keep Mr. Truman from winning a full term in the White House. Not only that, but he put through the Legislature a bill under which Virginia could throw its 11 electoral votes to some Democrat other than Mr. Truman in the next election.

The President, meantime, has adopted a policy of "no retreat" in his fight on Jim Crowism. The two men are scheduled to meet shortly before 11 a. m. in the great hall of the Sir Christopher Wren Building, one of the structures restored with Rockefeller millions.

Present also will be Viscount Harold Alexander of Tunis, Governor General of Canada, and

Franco's Nation Eliminated After Truman Voices His Disapproval

By Ferdinand Kuhn, Jr.
Post Reporter

All mention of Spain was stricken from the foreign aid bill yesterday after President Truman had announced himself as "utterly opposed" to it.

The provision of the House bill making Spain eligible for American help was wiped out by agreement of the Senate-House conferees. It was their first step in a day-and-night effort to reconcile differences between the two houses.

Last night the conference committee was still in session in the hope of agreeing on a compromise bill before midnight. If the hope is realized it means that both houses will be asked to adopt the compromise today, so that it can be rushed to the White House for President Truman's signature.

Signing Ceremony Planned

Plans were already being made for a signing ceremony to which congressional leaders of both parties would be invited. There was a clear intention at both ends of Pennsylvania ave. to produce the greatest possible psychological impact in Europe from the signing of the bill.

The Senate and House versions were not too far apart when the conferees compared them for the first time yesterday morning.

The Senate was represented by Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.), Arthur Capper (R., Kans.), Alexander Wiley (R., Wis.), Tom Connally (D., Tex.) and Walter F. George (D., Ga.). The House conferees were Representatives Charles A. Eaton (R., N. J.), John M. Vorys (R., Ohio), Karl Mundt (R., S. Dak.), Sol Bloom (D., N. Y.) and John Kee (D., W. Va.).

Question Easily Settled

From all indications the elimination of Spain from the bill caused little trouble. Eaton had disliked it from the start; Vandenberg, announcing the decision to drop it, said "the conferees feel that a decision respecting Spain is the function and prerogative of the 16 participating nations which have already organized themselves into a cooperating unit."

The Administration and the Senate had taken the stand all along that it was up to western Europe to invite Spain or not.

At the afternoon session the chief important agreements reached were these:

1. In place of the so-called "watchdog committee" of Congress, proposed by the Senate and rejected by the House, the conferees agreed to set up a joint committee composed of members of the Foreign Policy and Appropriations Committees of the two Houses. This will prevent the administrator of ERP from having to report to four committees of Congress simultaneously. The proposed joint committee would consist of three members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, three from the House Foreign Affairs Committee

Condemned Man Wins Stay on His Plea for Birthday

District Court yesterday heeded a condemned man's request for one more birthday.

Among three stays of execution approved by Justice Alexander Holtzoff was that of Jesse James Patton, who will be 23 years old June 4.

When Patton's plea for executive clemency was presented by his attorney, Wesley Williams, Justice Holtzoff reset the execution date for June 3, whereupon Williams pointed out that Patton wanted to have his twenty-third birthday.

He now is scheduled to die June 11 for his part in the slaying of Druggist Maurice Bernstein last year.

His accomplice in the murder, Reginald J. Wheeler, 26, also received a stay of execution until June 11.

New date for the execution of Floyd P. Wilson, sentenced to death for the holdup murder of Milton E. Lowe, was set for June 4. He also is asking executive clemency.

PEOPLE In The NEWS

New Air Force Chief of Staff Lives Up To Boy's Idea of What Airman Is Like

Gen. Hoyt Sanford Vandenberg, named yesterday to be Chief of Staff of the United States Air Force, is a soldier's soldier and a small boy's idea of an airman.

Six feet tall and slender, younger looking than his 49 years, Vandenberg is an accomplished staff officer who has fought more than his share of battles, a fighter renowned as a planner and administrator, executive and leader, all rolled into one. His uniform blouse carries ribbons awarded for excellence in all those fields and his angular frame is as much at home in the bucket seat of a Thunderbolt as it is in an office chair.

At West Point, where he was graduated in the lower part of his class June 12, 1923, Vandenberg gave little evidence of the keen mind which was to prepare and then carry out the most ambitious program of aircraft procurement in history. There was nothing in his record then to s et him out as the officer who would work out the air plans for the North African operation, organize the Twelfth Air Force under Doolittle in 1942, assist at the Quebec, Cairo and Tehran conferences, and ultimately head the postwar Central Intelligence Agency.

But rugged youth who played West Point polo with a flourish in his senior year was patently of the same material as the flying general who made more than 20 combat sorties over Europe and then led the Ninth Tactical Air Force in support of the ground armies thrusting across Europe.

Hoyt Vandenberg was born at Milwaukee January 24, 1899. His father, William C. Vandenberg, was a brother of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, now chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and one of the chief architects of the European Recovery Program.

After his graduation from West Point, Vandenberg applied for assignment to the old Air Service, was accepted and sent to the primary training school at Brooks Field, Tex., in September of the same year. When he graduated a year later at Kelly Field, Tex., he married Gladys Rose of Tuxedo, N. Y., whom he had met at a West Point dance.

Vandenberg's first assignment was to the Third Attack Group at Kelly Field, where he became indoctrinated in the type of combat flying he was to bring to perfection 20 years later in Europe. After tours of duty as an instructor and as a fighter pilot in the United States and in Hawaii, Vandenberg, now a first lieutenant, began a routine of specialized schooling. He took the Air Corps Tactical School and the Command and General Staff School in succession and then, after two years as an instructor at the former, was sent to the capstone of the Army's educational system: the Army War College here.

Planned for North Africa

Assigned to the Plans Division in the Office of the Chief of Air Corps, Vandenberg served until 1941, when he was placed on the staff of Gen. H. H. Arnold, first commander of the new Army Air Forces.

He was sent to England in 1942 on the staff of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and worked out air plans for the North African invasion, became chief of staff of the Twelfth Air Force and, after the North African landing, became chief of staff of Stragtegic Air Force under Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, whom he is to succeed. He took advantage of every opportunity to fly combat missions in any capacity from co-pilot to gunner.

In August, 1943, Vandenberg was sent back to the United States as a deputy chief of air staff but after six months returned to Eisenhower as deputy commander in chief of the Allied Expeditionary Force.

Praised by Patton

Then, in the summer of 1944, the young major general was assigned to command the Ninth Air Force, his final combat task. Gen. George S. Patton said his lightning drive through France would have been impossible without the help of the Ninth.

Vandenberg served briefly as chief of Intelligence on the War Department General Staff and as head of the new central intelligence Agency.

Over at the Pentagon the talk yesterday was that with Vandenberk at its head the Air Force will enter a period of aggresiveness and imaginative progress uncommon in military circles.

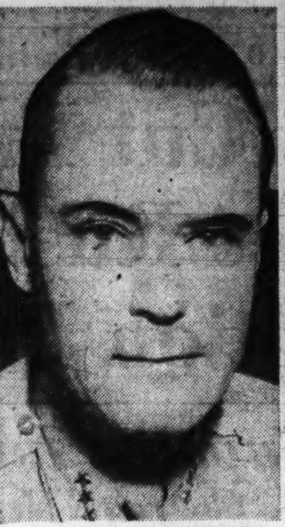
72-Call Month Is New First Aid Corps Record

In answering 74 rescue calls last month, the Bethesda-Chevy Chase First Aid Corps set a new monthly high, Chief Don Dunnington said yesterday.

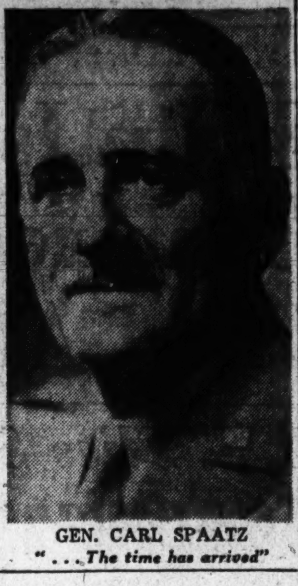
He said it was the most calls answered in any one month since the corps was organized three years ago.

From April 10 to 24 a carnival will be by the corps at Old Georgetown rd. and Commerce la. to raise funds for a building to house the corps' $25,000 worth of equipment.

Spaatz to Retire as Air Force Head July 1; Vandenberg Named as His Successor



GEN. HOYT VANDENBERG
To be named successor



GEN. CARL SPAATZ
"...The time has arrived"

Vice Chief of Staff Scheduled to Take 'Great Strategist's' Duties May 15

Gen. Carl A. (Tooey) Spaatz, the man who led America's air armadas to victory over both Germany and Japan, will retire July 1 as Air Force chief of staff.

President Truman accepted the resignation of the 56-year-old airman and immediately nominated Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, 49, as his successor.

Plans to Write Book

Air Force Secretary W. Stuart Symington paid tribute to the retiring chief, terming him the "World's greatest air strategist." He declared in a letter to Spaatz, that he could understand his desire to turn over the reins to another.

"The long and wearing years of faithful service to your country would have over-taxed the physical abilities of any man," Symington said.

Neither Spaatz's retirement nor Vandenberg's nomination was unexpected. Both were forecast in The Washington Post last fall.

The veteran airman told this newspaper last night that he planned to write a book on air warfare when he doffs his uniform next month. He said he had not yet settled where he would locate.

Backer of "Billy Mitchel"

A native of Pennsylvania, Spaatz has been known as the "Flying Dutchman." He graduated from West Point in 1910 and saw service as a pursuit pilot in World War I. During the lean years of the 20s and 30s, he was an active supporter of the late Gen. Billy Mitchel in his fight for air power.

In 1942, Spaatz became top commander of American air forces in the European theater and director the huge air assaults on Hitler's "Fortress Europa." He also commanded United States air forces in the North African invasion.

After Germany was whipped, he moved to the Pacific, and directed the final B-29 raids on Japan. They included the two atomic attacks on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Spaatz became chief of the Army Air Force in 1946, after Gen. H. H. (Hap) Arnold's retirement. Last summer he was made the first chief of staff of the new separate air force.

Like his present chief, Vandenberg is a West Pointer. A nephew of Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R., Mich.), he was director of Central Intelligence before appointment as Spaatz' chief aide.

Truman Asks 3.37 Billions For Added Defense Needs

the Air Force should be immediately built up to 70 groups or merely have its present 55 groups bolstered as recommended by the administration.

In putting his expanded preparedness estimates before Congress, President Truman did not go into detail about the proposed outlays. He said defense officials will explain them later.

Hopes to Lesson World Tension

Writing to House Speaker Joseph Martin, Mr. Truman said the new appropriations are intended to round out and balance the national security program and are needed to "enable us to meet our international responsibilities."

"It is my earnest hope," he said, "that on the solid foundation of our foreign-aid programs and a limited increase in our present military strength, we can achieve a substantial lessening of present international tension and move toward our goal of securing a just and lasting peace.

"The need for other appropriations for related national security programs is now under consideration and estimates for these will be submitted to the Congress if necessary."

Of the total budget request, the three billions for the armed services were for direct appropriations. Mr. Truman estimated that 1.7 billions of the amount would be actually spent in fiscal 1949. The 375 millions for stockpiling was in the form of contractual authority.

Here's the way the three billion cash would be spent:

Pay, subsistence, etc., of 349,500 additional personnel: 775 millions.

Aircraft orders and research: 775 millions, divided 465 million for the Air Force and 310 million for the Navy.

Maintenance and operation of posts stations, airfields, etc., including the reactivation of closed establishments. 850 mllion dollars.

Green Urges Exemptions

Production of weapons and equipment other than air: 500 millions.

Miscellaneous, including funds for the reserve components, research and development other than air; 90 million.

In backing a limited draft, AFL President Green recommended exemptions for high school students, advanced college students, veterans, fathers and essential workers. He wants it reconsidered by Congress after two years.

Two spokesmen appeared for the CIO, Nathan Cowan, legislative representative, and Meyer Bernstein, veterans' representative. Like Green, they contended that UMT is "undemocratic," and said that the Army and Navy could get the men they need without a draft if racial discrimination is abolished and conditions improved for enlisted men.

Cowan said the CIO is not opposed to stronger military forces and would change its stand on the draft if there is a "pronounced worsening" of the international situation.

Both the American Legion and VFW called upon the committee to approve a single bill incorporating UMT and the draft. Legion Chief O'Neil spoke in blunt terms, declaring that the time has come to put the Nation on a war footing, as war is approaching "at an accelerated pace."

He attacked Henry Wallace, third party presidential candidate, as a "Russian-firster."

Legislative Director Omar B. Ketchum appeared for the VFW, calling for stronger defense forces because no other nation is available today to hold an enemy "until we are ready."

Support for the President's preparedness program also came from Episcopal Bishop Henry W. Hobson of Cincinnati. He urged UMT, warning that the "ostrich attitude we followed in the past" would "prove fatal in another war."

Chat Patterson, national chairman of AVC, said his World War II veterans group was strongly opposed to UMT. AVC's planning group, he declared, is split on the draft.

Both of the military manpower proposals were opposed by Joe R. Nichols, an injured war veteran, and 12 other students from teh Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Rochester, N. Y. William Dameron, appearing for the International Association of Machinists (Ind.), also testified against UMT.

A blind veteran, John F. Brady of New York, president of the Blinded Veterans Association, indorsed universal training. He told the committee that 90 per cent of the assocaition he heads favors UMT, because "next time we may not have time" for the basic training it provides.

Senator William F. Knowland (R., Calif.) and other Senators praised Brady for his statement. He asked Chairman Chan Gurney (R., S. Dak.) to put it in the Congressional record, so "every member of Congress can read it. Gurney said he would.

Brig. Gen. E. A. Evans, executive director of the Reserve Officers Association, backed the draft and UMT as a method of revitalizng the regular and reserve forces.

Protests were made to the committee by Brig. Gen. H. C. Holdridge, retired, because it had cancelled his appearance to testify in opposition to the preparedness program.

A committee spokesman said that Holdridge and about a dozen others had been eliminated from the witness list and asked to file statements in order to speed up the hearings. Public testimony will end today, after Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and others are heard.

Testimony before the group Wednesday from two Negro leaders had an aftermath on the Senate floor yesterday. The two—A. Philip Randolph, AFL labor leader, and Grant Reynolds, member of the New York Correction Commission said they would urge Negroes to refuse to register and serve in the armed services in either peace or war is "jimcrowism" is not abolished in the services.

Senator James O. Eastland (D., Miss.) introduced a resolution calling the testimony "shocking" and asking that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey be sent an official transcript of Grant's statement so the Governor can take action against him.

10. and 12.50

A simple but very ingenious idea makes the "Dunner" entirely different from any shirt you can buy. Hidden under the arms, and normally invisible, there's an insert of French ribbing that yields to every twist and turn of your torso. This webbing extends from shoulder to waistline and gives you nine full inches of extra freedom, without bunching at the waist or twisting at the shoulders.

It will add yards to your drive and comfort to everything you do. "Dunner" shirts are doubly desirable because they're so smart in appearance. We have a large variety of these famous shirts now in fine quality washable fabrics which include plain colors, very neat plaids and distinctive stripings.

Women Reds Assail U. S. in Trieste

Demonstrators Cry Death to Truman And the Pope

Trieste, April 1 (U.P.).—Three thousand Communist women filled rain-soaked Sangiacomo Square tonight shouting, "Death to Truman!" and "Death to the Pope!" after a tension-filled day of Communist agitation.

They cheered wildly as three women speakers denounced United States foreign policy and demanded that France return the former Italian towns of Tenda and Briga, which Italy lost under terms of the peace treaty.

A few hours earlier, police dispersed 500 Communist-led strikers as they attempted to parade to Communist headquarters and Allied military government headquarters. There was no violence.

The women's meeting was sponsored by the Communist Italo-Slovene Anti-Fascist Union. Authorization had been granted for 10,000 to attend, but for the third time since the western powers' proposal that Trieste be returned to Italy the Communists failed to draw their quota at a demonstration.

Shrill cheers greeted one speaker's charge that American Air Force bombing in Italy during the war was "willful, wanton destruction of our homes."

The official Communist newspaper Il Lavoratore published a manifesto declaring that the Anglo-French-American proposal to Russia that Trieste be returned to Italy was a provocation to war and that all citizens must fight to bring failure to the warmongers."

Show of Strength

Military To Parade in Rome Sunday

Rome, April 1 (U.P.).—Twenty-five thousand Italian soldiers, sailors and airmen will parade through Rome Sunday in a government show of strength, the defense ministry announced today.

Arrangements for the parade were made by the interior ministry, which has warned it will crush any violence in connection with April 18 election.

Defense Minister Cipriano Facchinetti said the military show was to commemorate the reorganization of the infantry grenadiers of Sardinia—Italy's "Fighting 69th." All political parties, however, interpreted it as a sign to voters and a warning to the Communists that the government is prepared to deal with any coup attempt.

Reds Charge "Facist Plot"

The Communists claimed they had uncovered a "Fascist plot" to seize power on election day. Premier Alcide de Gasperi's government was said to be "conniving with the plotters," allegedly led by Marshal Giovanni Messe, onetime Italian commander in Russia and Tunisia and head of the "Italian liberation army," a political party.

According to the Communist press, the "government-fascist plan" called for auxiliary police disguised as leftist party members to burn ballot boxes in some precincts of large cities. The government then would declare martial law and turn authority over to Messe.

Communist Mayor Celeste Negarville of Turin was said to have uncovered the details and gained possession of "incriminating papers." These were played up in the leftist press.

Government Claims Fraud

Interior Minister Mario Scelba denounced the charges as "fraud" and said the documents "appear to have forged headings."

Thousands of "April fool" leaflets were showered on Rome today. They read: "Vote the Communist front and get Trieste—Vote the Communist front and have peace—April fool."

At Cremona, the provincial workers organization, led by Communists, voted to occupy silk factories which have been closed in the area. Anti-Communist workers proved to be in the majority, however, for they opposed the order and by tonight the factories still were closed.

Czechs Warned Not to Heed Foreign Radio

Prague, April 1 (AP).—The Communist-controlled Central Action Committee warned today that persons who organize "mass listening" to unfriendly foreign radio broadcasts may be purged from public life.

The directive said those subject to losing their jobs include persons who give "illegal material to the press," advise resistance to government policies, promote sabotage, engage in the black market or are "guilty of corruption."

The youth movement newspaper Mlada Fronta reported that Czechoslovakia is negotiating with Markos Vafiades, Greek guerilla chieftain, to receive 10,000 Greek children in Czechoslovakia. (The Greeks charge the Communists have been kidnaping their children and carrying them off.)

The Ministry of the Interior announced that the United States is refusing to receive into its German zone the 200,000 Germans not yet deported from Czechoslovakia.

G. I. Annoyed Tojo By Putting Gum In His Earphones

Tokyo, Japan, April 1 (U.P.).—A G. I. guard at the war crimes trials said today that a superior officer "chewed me good" for putting chewing gum in former Japanese Premier Hideki Tojo's earphones.

"I don't know what is going to happen now," Pfc. William C. Smith, 18, Eureka Springs, Ark., said. "But, as for chewing gum, I guess I will give that up for awhile."

Smith was on duty in the courtroom for six hours Sunday, when there was no session. Tojo was visibly disturbed when he put on the earphones Monday morning. Another guard removed the gum.

Md. Income Tax Deadline April 15

Maryland income tax returns must be filed on or before April 15, James J. Lacy, comptroller of the treasury, reminded taxpayers yesterday.

The Maryland income tax law is applicable to both residents and nonresidents.

Residents are all those persons who are domiciled in the State on the last day of the taxable year and all others who for more than six months of the taxable year maintain a place of abode within the State, whether domiciled in the State or not.

Nonresidents are liable for income taxes to Maryland only on that income derived from trade, business, profession or occupation carried on in the State, and income derived from tangible property, real or personal, permanently located in the State.

Rebel Defeat Lifts Threat To Salonika

Athens, April 1 (AP)—Greek army troops have lifted the guerilla threat to Salonika by smashing the rebels' mountain stronghold north of the second city of Greece, an American military expert said today.

The victorious operation was the first one planned completely by the joint United States-Greek military advisory group.

Col. Temple G. Holland of Dallas, Tex., chief of the advisory group, said the main guerilla force of 500 men was bottled up, but military officials said later that a large section of the band broke through army lines and scattered in all directions. The army later spotted about 100 of them 4 miles away.

This picture of the fighting was pieced together from a Greek Third Army Corps announcement, Holland's statements to a news conference in Salonika and front dispatches:

Greek regulars operating in the Crucia (Krussia) mountain area 35 miles north of Salonika hammered a wedge through a key guerilla defense point at Pontokkerrassia.

Rocket and machinegun-firing Greek aircraft and artillery raked the positions of the Communist-led rebels, who evacuated their fixed installations and left large quantities of supplies. The bodies of 80 guerillas were found.

A Salonika military court has sentenced a second group of captured guerillas convicted of participating in the February 10 bombardment of the city. Fourteen men and two women were sentenced to death and two men and a woman to life imprisonment.

Gen. Thrasybule Tsakalotos, commander of the Greek First Army Corps, told War Minister George Stratos today that army units had seized the Mount Helicon area, 55 miles northwest of Athens.

Observers of the United Nations special commission on the Balkans were reported to have observed supplies being moved to the guerillas from across the Albanian border. Greek planes badly damaged one supply column.

Finns Seek Treaty Advice

Helsinki, April 1 (AP).—Two members of Finland's treaty delegation to Moscow are making a hurried trip home to confer with President Juho Paasikivi, the foreign office announced tonight.

They will arrive by air tomorrow. One well informed source indicated that the sudden return was tied in with Paasikivi's delay in sending new instructions to the delegation.

The Finnish negotiators went to Moscow nearly two weeks ago to discuss a treaty of friendship and mutual assistance at the invitation of Prime Minister Stalin.

Speculation ran high tonight that deep conflict had arisen here between Paasikivi and the government on the one hand and parliament on the other.

Just before it was announced that two of the Moscow group—doctors Urho Kekkonen and J. Soederhjelm—were returning, the president spent the day in almost uninterrupted conferences with civilian and military advisers.

Russian Archbishop Decries U. S. Bomb

Says 'Warmongers' Can't Halt World Communist Trend

Moscow, April 1 (U.P.).—Archbishop Luka of Simferopol and Crimea said today United States "warmongers" can not hope to halt with the atomic bomb the world trend toward Communism.

Luka, writing n the journal of the Moscow patriarchate, sad the orthodox church is solidly behind the Soviet government, although it absolutely opposes Communist matherialism.

He said the church today is living in complete peace with the Communist government and will not support any priests who plot against it.

"Love Our Fatherland"

"We Russian people love our fatherland and we do not follow the path of its enemies," he wrote.

"American war mongers are motivated by fear in the fact of the inevitable approach of Socialism and Communism."

Luka's article was published two months after the Russian church announced it had found it could support the Communist regime.

"We of course are absolutely alien to materialism, which is the ideological basis for communism," he wrote.

"Fervently Patriotic"

He said, however, that this does not prevent churchmen fro being fervently patriotic, appreciating the good the Soviet system has accomplished and opposing "all kinds of aggression whatsoever."

"I say that if communism cannot find sympathy in the hearts of millions of people, then its enemies need not grab fo ratom bombs to stain treir hands in the blood of millions of people and cast their own people in a maelstrom of war, becouse then the peoples themselvese will turn away from the exit," he said.

Topic Is Secret

Taylor Talks With Franco Hour and Half

Madrid, April 1 (AP).—Myron C. Taylor, President Truman's special envoy to the Vatican, spent an hour and a half with Chief of State Francisco Franco tonight. The topic of their conference remained a secret.

Taylor arrived at El Pardo palace for the meeting only a few minutes after Madrid newspapers reported that a United States congressional conference committee today rejected the House of Representatives' inclusion of Spain in the European recovery program.

Secrecy surrounded Taylor's visit to Spain and Portugal. He arrived today by plane from Lisbon. The United States Embassy said it had no knowledge that Taylor was here on any special mission. It was speculated, however, that his appearance was a prelude to a plan for cooperation between the United States and the Iberian peninsula.

It was reported that Franco barred Paul T. Culbertson, United States charge d'affairs in Spain, from his meeting with Taylor after previously arranging for Culbertson to take part. Some sources said this might have been Franco's method of reacting to the United States congressional action today.

and two from each of the Appropriations Committees.

2. The Senate conferees agreed to a House provision setting aside one billion dollars of the $5,300,000,000 for ERP to be used as loans or as guarantees to private industry. This sum would be authorized as a public debt transaction; that is, it would not have to be appropriated but would come from the sale of notes to the Treasury. Whereas the House bill earmarked half a billion dollars as loans and half in guarantees to industry, the conferees changed the figures to 700 million for loans and up to 300 million in guarantees.

Inducements to Business

The guarantees, intended as inducements to private enterprise, would enable American businessmen to convert into dollars any proceeds from new investments connected with European recovery. The bill specifies that up to 15 million dollars of such guarantees can be made to American newspapers, magazines or other informational media selling publications in Europe.

(3) The conferees struck out a House provision specifying that citizens representing business, labor, agriculture and the professions be included o nthe public advisory Board of the new ERP organization. Labor unions had fought hard to be recognized in this fashion, and are expected to protest angrily against the conferees' action.

Loyalty Provision Accepted

4. The conferees accepted, with minor changes, a House provision calling upon the administrator or the Secretary of State to certify in writing to each employe's loyalty.

5. They eliminated House amendments that would provide for the use of fish, canned goods and corn products in food to be sent to Europe under ERP.

6. The Senate conferees accepted a House provision of 20 million dollars in relief for Trieste, but in such a way that the funds could come out of the interim aid act of last December.

U. S. Pressing Reds To Settle Case Of Pvt. Grunden

Pressure on Soviet authorities for settlement of the case of Pvt. Jack Grunden, 18, of Portland, Oreg., shot in Vienna by a Russian soldier, is continuing without result so far, Lieut. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes notified the Army Department yesterday.

Grunden

Keyes said he had done all in his power to get a satisfactory answer to inquiries regarding punishment of the offending soldier but has been told only that the case had been referred to "higher authority." The matter has been turned over to the Control Council, he said, and American witnesses have been made available to the Russians but have not been called.

Grunden was shot in the back March 8 by a Russian sentry after he and two companions, with three Austrian girls, had been attacked by a drunken Russian soldier. The young American lay in the gutter 45 minutes after being shot, while the Russians made no attempt to help him.

Gravestone Case Marked 'Closed'

The Arlington tavern gravestone mystery was officially marked closed yesterday, with George R. Humrickhouse, United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia declining prosecution.

Humrickhouse said he had determined that "no criminal intent was involved" in the placing of 15 Arlington Cemetery gravestones for use as a pathway to the Owl Tavern, 1716 Wilson blvd. The stones have since been returned to the cemetery.

Iran Rejects Russia Note

Teheran, Iran, April 1 (U.P.).—Iran told Russia today that repeated Soviet objections to the presence here of American military advisers amounted to Soviet interference in this country's internal affairs.

A note delivered to the Soviet Embassy indicated that the Americans came here with the full approval of the Iranian government.

It rejected Russian protests and said they contravened the Iran-Soviet friendship pacts of 1921 and 1927.

Russia first protested the presence of American advisers in a note to Iran delivered January 31. Iran replied February 4, defending her policy and charging Russia with threatening military activity on Iran's northern border.

Today's note was in reply to Russia's second protest, delivered March 24.

However, the note accepted Soviet assurances that Russian troops were not maneuvering on the northern border and that refugees from Iran were not being organized for an attack on this country.

Austin Calls U. N. Success

Lake Success, N. Y., April 1 (NYHT).—Warren R. Austin, American representative to the United Nations, declared today that work through 13 U. N. specialized agencies and such efforts as the European Recovery Program can "gradually create the conditions that will make political agreements possible."

The world organization's record is "discouraging only to the faint-hearted," Austin said, in a 5000 word analysis in the magazine, "United Nations World." In the three years since San Francisco charter days, he said, U. N. has been "the most successful example of international cooperation the world has ever seen."

The review contained but one fleeting reference to Palestine, as a case in which the Assembly had "demonstrated its vigor." But against the recent troubled Holy Land story, there were some sardonic corridor comments on Austin's observation that the pace of U. N. public sessions forced nations to make difficult decisions, without being able to hide "weaknesses, omissions, reversals."

Avoiding specific mention of the veto furore, Austria wrote that "the charter represents a great measure of agreement; in my mind, the maximum charter agreement possible at present."

Clay Now Handling Berlin Situation

United States Policy May Be to Force Soviet to Show How Far They'll Go

By Marshall Andrews
Post Reporter

The delicate job of meeting the Russian efforts to isolate Berlin is for the time being in the hands of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. commander in Germany, the Army Department said yesterday.

Clay is operating under instructions handed him when he took over the occupation forces, an Army spokesman said, and is keeping the Department informed of his actions. Current policy is understood to be centered on preventing the Russians from achieving the department informed of and it is this policy which Clay is carrying out.

There were indications that current policy was to force the Russians to go as far as they are willing in the effort to squeeze the Americans out of Berlin. Any far-reaching change in policy, it was pointed out, is up to the State Department or the White House.

Action Demanded on Hill

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, the Soviet action brought insistence on quick passage of the draft law and construction of the greatest air force in the world. Representative Boggs (D., La.) and Rankin (D., Miss.) called attention of the House to newspaper headlines announcing the Russian seizure of traffic control. Boggs declared the act was a challenge "to pass selective service immediately" and Rankin called for action to procure the world's greatest air force.

Officials at the Army Department said privately there appeared to be two possible results the Russians hoped to achieve. These were:

1. To feel out the American will to resist and to determine just how much pressure can be applied without danger.
2. To force Clay to commit an overt act whereby blame for consequences might be shifted to the Americans.

Berlin Highway Still Open

In support of this view that the Russian aim at present is probably not to take over Berlin the fact is advanced that late yesterday afternoon the Berlin-Helmstadt autobahn had not been closed. Motor traffic was moving over this great highway all day and offered a solution to supplying American in the city.

Other felt it was too early to reach the conclusion that the Russian action was not designed to close Berlin completely. These officials pointed out that notoriously poor Russian communications could very well have prevented coordinated action and the autobahn would be closed shortly.

In any event it was clear that, while some move was expected, it had not been foreseen here that it would take the form it did.

Transport Aircraft Available

The Air Force said it had about 100 ttwin-engine transport aircraft in Germany which could be used to supply Americans in Berlin if the railways continued to be closed and the highway was barricaded also. While these aircraft have a total carbo capacity of some 500,000 pounds, it was pointed out that only Tempelhof Field was available for use. This field, in the heart of Berlin, would have difficulty handling the volume of traffic entailed in air supply.

Furthermore, while the approaches to Templehof from the west is over British and American sectors of Berlin, a westerly wind makes it necessary to fly over the Soviet sector to approach for landing.

In another part of Europe where Soviet-American relations are dangerously close to striking fire, the small United States contingent appeared ready for a show of what force it has.

U. S. Flies Food Into Berlin

on airpower to win the political battle for Berlin.

At stake was a question of prestige in the cold war between East and West. If the Russians succeeded in dislodging the Western Allies from the former German capital, their stock would rise, and the hopes of the supporters of the Western powers in all Germany and Europe would sag.

The British announced that they had protested when Soviet authorities even placed one street barrier in the British zone of Berlin, apparently in the belief it was in the Soviet sector.

After several hours, the Russians replaced the soldiers at the road blocks wtih German police, who continued, however, to examine the documents of German pedestrians.

Tonight an American official said American planes flew 15,000 pounds of food into Berlin in the first few hours after the Clay order.

The four-power agreement laying out air corridors over the Soviet zone to Berlin does not restrict the number of flights.

The United States Air Force based at Wiesbaden will be able to fly in any number of planes with supplies, and the only apparent way the Russians can interfere is to attempt to force or shoot them down.

Templehof Airdrome in Berlin is in the American sector, and the Russians could only interfere with it by sending armed forces across American-occupied territory in the city.

The British also announced two extra flights into Berlin as a temporary measure.

Dispatches from Hamburg said the tense situation had given Germans living along the 400 miles of frontier in the British zone a case of jitters. Wild rumors, most of them spiked by officials, ranged from reports of Russian shells falling in the British zone to the sighting of tank formations in the woods on the Soviet side. The British said they had investigated the story about the shells and had found only shell holes made during the war.

The British verified reports that Russian border posts had been strengthened by the addition of 10 or a dozen men at each place, presumably to bolster the guard against border crossers. Persons crossing from the Soviet zone said there was widespread requisitioning of quarters for troops near the border.

All three western allied commanders rejected Soviet demands that Russian authority be obtained for freight shipments out of Berlin, that their inspectors be allowed to board military trains to personally examine the papers of passengers, and that a somewhat similar Soviet check be made on incoming freight shipments.

American supply officers thereupon went into conference with Brig. Gen. C. K. Bailey, Chief of Staff, to iron out the difficulties created by the Soviet action. Air Force officials said they hoped to move all the passenger and freight traffic normally handled by train. Officials said there were enough supplies in the city for a "considerable time."

Late today Maj. Gen. N. C. D. Brownjohn, deputy British military governor, went into a conference with Lieut. Gen. G. S. Lukjantschenko, Societ Chief of Staff. General Brownjohn asked for the conference last night when he refused to submit to the Russian orders for tightened restrictions.

Afterward a spokesman said the atmosphere of the hour conference was "not hostile, but firm enough. General Brownjohn doesn't feel optimistic that anything will come of it."

The meeting was the first high level contact between the Russians and a western ally since March 20 when the Russians walked out of the Allied Control Council meeting highest four-power govering body in Germany.

Whether there will be another Control Council meeting was still uncertain. The authoritative Communist newspaper Pravda declared in Moscow today that the Allied Control Council "has in fact already ceased to exist."

General Clay became chairman of the body today for the month of April. He could call a meeting for the regular date of April 10 and determine the Soviet intentions.

Despite the strained atmosphere there were no reports of incidents between the Russians and the personnel of the other allies during the day. The Russians assigned some of their best troops to the check points in Berlin, on the Autobahn and on the railroad where Berlin-bound traffic was halted.

China Reds Free U. S. Marines

Shanghai, April 1 (AP). — Four United States Marines were freed today by Chinese Communists who had held them prisoner since December 25, United States Navy headquarters in Shanghai announced.

The brief announcement said efforts were being made to recover the body of a fifth Marine who was killed when the Communists captured the duck-hunting party

The slain Marine was Pfc. Charles J. Brayton, jr., of Governor's Island, N. Y.

Those released were Corpl. William L. Pollard of Forth Worth, Tex.; Pfcs. Carrol W. Dickerson of Olathe, Kans.; Thomas Kapodistria of Buffalo, N. Y.; and Pvt. Robert Hart of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Asks for Law

Clark Seeks Annual Alien Registration

By The Associated Press

The Justice Department yesterday asked Songress to pass a law requiring aliens to register once a year.

The move is part of Attorney General Tom C. Clark's program for curbing Communists.

In a letter to House Speaker Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, the department said that present alien registration laws have been ineffective. These laws require aliens to notify the department of any change of address within five days, and to notify the department of their whereabouts every three months.

The department said those provisions have not worked because "the courts have been reluctant to impose a penalty for such an apparently minor infraction of the law."

The proposed new law would require all aliens to register every July 1. Failure to comply would bring a possible fine of $100 and 30 days in jail. Assistant Attorney General Peyton Ford said it is believed the measure would encourage aliens to become citizens rather than register every year.

Clark's program for curbing communism was given to the House Un-American Activities Committee as an alternative to suggestions for outlawing the Communist Party Clark fears the latter would only drive members underground. Yesterday's request was the first call for specific legislation.

Other points in Clark's plan:

1. Permit the Justice Department to hold aliens for a definite length of time when their own countries won't take them back.
2. Strengthen the espionage act.
3. Hold officers of subversive organizations responsible for registration of their groups under the Voorhis Act.

The House Un-American Activities Committee is scheduled to meet Tuesday to consider a proposal by Representative Karl E. Mundt (R., S. Dak.) to require Communists to register as agents of a foreign government.

The Justice Department, meanwhile, is preparing at least 50 new additions to its list of subversive organizations. Department sources said they would include several "well known" groups that were omitted from the original list of 80-odd organizations issued last December.

Senate Measure May Admit 100,000 Total in 2 Years

Senate Republican leaders agreed yesterday to seek action within the next week on legislation to admit 50,000 European refugees to the United States in each of the next two years.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio) said it will be the next "major measure" brought up after the Senate disposes of a pending bill for Federal aid to schools and acts on President Truman's anticipated veto of tax cutting legislation.

Taft is chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee. He said this group decided at a meeting that it will also push for Senate action on these measures:

1. A bill keeping social security payments and coverage unchanged until Congress can complete a general revision. Taft explained that Supreme Court decisions and Treasury interpretations recently applied social security taxes to some 800,000 persons previously regarded as exempt.
2. A bill requiring a check by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on all employees of the Atomic Energy Commission.
3. A bill to extend the life of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for 10 years with restrictions upon its present lending authority.
4. A bill granting the Commodity Credit Corporation a Federal charter. This is the agency used to support prices of farm products through loans and purchases.

Trial Recessed In Suit to Stop Change in Route 3

Lancaster, Va., April 1 (AP).—Judge Leon M. Bazile today recessed a hearing of a bill of injunction sought by Litwalton and Nuttsville residents to prevent construction of a new portion of Route 3 that would bypass the two villages.

The recess came after Judge Bazile, presiding in Lancaster Circuit Court in the place of Judge E. Hugh Smith who disqualified himself, took under advisement two pleas entered by counsel for the State Highway Commission.

C. O'Conor Goolrick of Fredericksburg, representing the commission, contended that the present action was the same as one brought earlier and which was dismissed by Judge Smith. He argued the court had no legal right to consider the matter further because of previous disposition.

In the second plea Goolrick said that if an injunction were granted it would be futile because an act of the 1942 General Assembly gives the State Highway Department authority to declare parts of primary roads secondary and to establish new primary roads.

who want to enjoy the exhibit too.

"I would suggest that the exhibition go to 10 or a dozen other big cities, throughout the country. It could remain in each about four weeks, making about a year's stay in all."

Reger said he "highly appreciated" the promise of the War Department to return the paintings to Germany after the gallery exhibit closes April 18, but that a better purpose would be served if they were put on view before more Americans.

The appointment of German custodians for the exhibit would convince Germans that the delay was no ruse to deny eventual return of the pictures, he said.

Annapolis Approves Exclusive Bus Franchise

Annapolis, Md., April 1 (AP).—The Annapolis City Council believes "it is in the interest of this community" for the Baltimore and Annapolis Railroad to have an exclusive franchise to run buses between the two cities.

The city council last night resolved at a special meeting to approve the proposal.

The B. and A. has applied for a bus franchise supplementing its rail service.

The resolution was adopted unanimously by Mayor William U. McCready and the sx aldermen present. Two were absent.

House Told Condon Had 30 Red Friends

Rep. Vail Says Immediate Family Member Belongs to 2 Communist 'Front' Groups

A member of the Un-American Activities Committee yesterday told the House that atomic scientist Edward U. Condon associated with "30 or more" Communist sympathizers and Soviet spies.

The charge against the director of the National Bureau of Standards was made by Representative Richard M. Vail (R., Ill.). He declared also that "a member of Dr. Condon's immediate family" belongs to two organizations branded as Communist fronts.

Vail took the floor, he said, to defend the committee against attacks directed at it since it published, on March 1, a subcommittee report accusing Condon of associating with Soviet agents.

Charges Reaffirmed

He reaffirmed the charges contained in that report and added new ones, which he said were included in portions of the subcommittee report not yet released. Besides those mentioned above, Vail's new accusations were:

1. When Condon was connected with the wartime atomic bomb project, he "wrote a letter to his superior registering his impatience with the security regulations set up to protect the secret of atomic energy."

2. He has frequently associated with, and entertained at his home, diplomatic representatives of the Russian, Polish and Czechoslovakian governments.

3. He associated with persons under investigation for espionage activity, among them persons who associated with "known agents of the Soviet government." One of them was discharged from the United States Government because he was considered so pro-Russian that he could not be trusted, and was refused a passport because he was thought to be a security risk.

4. He also associated with a person fired from a non-Government job "because of his Communist tendencies."

Names Not Specified

Vail did not expand the charges or specify the names of Condon's alleged associates. But he said this would be done when the committee holds full hearings on the case, beginning April 21.

As other members of the committee have done, Vail called for the release by the Commerce Department of a letter to it on Condon, written May 15, 1947, by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. This formed the basis for the subcommittee's report, but, as Vail pointed out, an investigator could copy only parts of it.

Commerce Secretary Harriman and the Attorney General have refused to release the lettr, and Prsident Truman has backed them up. This, said Vail, means that, "the very authority of the Congress has been defied. It is incumbent upon us to override the President's action and the dangerous precedent thereby established."

President Truman has declared, however, that there was a multitude of precedents, dating from the time of Washington, for his refusal to submit material to Congress.

Cites 'Strange' Occurrence

Vail pointed out that The Washington Post had noted one omission and one insertion in the subcommittee's quotation of the Hoover letter, and said it was "strange" that the newspaper could refer freely to a document denied Congress.

"At precisely what point do the people's rights in this regard end and the privileges of The Washington Post begin?" he asked.

He deplored "vicious attacks" on the committee and said it had been "vilified and excoriated as intent on the destruction of individual liberties."

The facts are to the contrary, he said, adding:

"The members of the committee individually and collectively are conservative, conscientious, and possessed of a rare degree of calm, deliberate judgment and commonsense, and their unceasing efforts are concentrated upon the preservation of every right guaranteed to American citizens under the Constitution."

Condon could not be reached for comment last night. At his home, it was said he was attending a meeting of the Society of Friends.

Retirement Story Carried Picture Of Wrong Man

In a story about the retirement of H. G. Porter yesterday The Washington Post erroneously printed a picture captioned as Porter that was actually a picture of Senator William Langer (R., N. Dak.).

Porter

Porter, chief of the Office Service Division of CSC, is the first Federal employe on record to ask voluntary retirement under the new Employes' Retirement Act. The Washington Post regrets the error. Porter's picture is printed in this story.

ERP Speed Need Stressed

States taxpayers, Latin American countries would do well to encourage private capital to make investments.

Latin American delegates have expressed concern that the concentration of the United States on Europe's problems might lessen their chances of obtaining financial aid.

Today, however, the general reaction among the delegates to Marshall's statement was favorable.

Juvenal Hernandez, chief Chilean delegate, commented, for instance, that "General Marshall stated the situation correctly. It seems illogical that Latin America can ask for everything with the situation in Europe as it is."

Must Stand United

Gen. Armando Revoredo, Peruvian Foreign Minister, said that "Marshall's words say with military clarity that if we wish to face the future successfully we must stand united in sacrifices, in work, in hope."

Marshall told them the recovery of Europe is a "matter of as much concern to your countries as it is to mine." He said: "If human rights and liberties are blotted out in Europe they will become increasingly insecure in the new world."

Marshall departed from his prepared text to deliver an extemporaneous appeal for greater understanding of the heavy burden imposed upon the United States by world affairs.

He blamed Russia for the world's failure to make more progress toward world recovery and peace declaring:

"The overwhelming desire of the people of the world is for peace, security, freedom to speak their thoughts and freedom to earn a decent living in their own way."

State Dept. Yields on Passport

By Dillard Stokes
Post Reporter

The State Department yesterday backed down from its refusal of an American passport to A. B. Magil, reporter for the Communist paper, Daily Worker.

But the department stuck to its claim that Magil's going abroad will do this country no good.

Magil is a native-born citizen, and has been a Communist for more than 20 years. He wants to cover news for his paper in Palestine and Geneva, and he wants, also, to go to the United Nations conference on freedom of information, in Geneva, to express his views.

Since the first of the year he has twice asked for a passport. The State Department turned him down, its official spokesman—Michael J. McDermott—saying it was "the settled policy of the department to refuse passports to citizens whose going abroad would not, in the department's opinion, be in the interest of the United States at this time."

After this ruling was given, the American delegation at Geneva called on the nations taking part in the conference there to agree upon freedom of action and of movement for newsmen all over the world.

The spokesman said this led the department to review its ruling, and that now Magil could leave the country.

Loyalty Probe Held Atom Study Menace

Research Program Impairment Feared By U. S. Scientists

The Federation of American Scientists yesterday said the Nation's atomic energy research will be "impaired" by the Government's loyalty check program.

The report was prepared by the federation's committtee on secrecy and clearance, after a lengthy survey of loyalty check procedures being followed in Government, industry and university laboratories.

The committee complimented the Atomic Energy Commission for "attempting to devise procedures which would safeguard restricted data to the maximum extent and at the same time protect its employes from unfounded accusations."

Task 'Not Simple'

But it said "this task has not been simple" and the commission has failed to state what standards it will use in judging loyalty.

"We have learned that many loyal scientists, lacking either knowledge of the criteria for clearance, or confidence in the fairness . . . of application, have considered leaving the employ of the (atomic) commission," it said. "Others . . . hesitate to apply for such positions for similar reasons.

"To the extent that this has occurred or may occur, the Nation's atomic energy research will be impaired."

The committee reported that employes of research laboratories operated directly by the various armed services may be fired without a hearing or an appeal if top officials doubt their loyalty.

It said that through questionnaires and a review of individual complaints from scientists, it had against military laboratories:

"Charges (against scientists who were dismissed) sometimes consisted only of membership in liberal ,non-Communist groups . . .

"Many of those refused clearance had been cleared for highly secret work during the war, and do not know why they should suddenly be accused of disloyalty."

"(Employes) have sometimes been unable to obtain either a statement of charges or a hearing."

"Prospective employers were told that (an employe was discharged) for loyalty reasons, although these employers had no connection with military or secret work."

The committee said some industrial laboratories have begun to require loyalty clearances for their scientific employes, including, in some cases, those who are not involved on Government work or any type of secret work.

Four Are 'Hesitant'

It said 16 universities replied to questionaires that they would consider "without prejudice" any qualified scientist seeking employment who had been refused loyalty clearance elsewhere. Four institutions indicated they would be "very hesitant to hire such a person."

"Government officials have repeatedly emphasized that if any doubt (of an employe's trustworthiness) exists whatsoever, such doubt is resolved in favor of the Government," the federation said. "Hence, no stigma should be attached to the person denied clearance since it may not have been his fault at all."

It added that "as a practical matter" most people do hold such a record against a man, and said:

"Therefore, every effort should be made to develop clearance procedures which are as fair and just as possible."

Extra Sum

House Votes 150 Million Atom Funds

The House voted an extra 150 million dollars for atomic energy development late yesterday.

The atomic energy fund, an authorization to let contracts totaling that amount, was part of a catch-all deficiency appropriation bill passed by the House and sent to the Senate. In the same bill were funds for Army occupation needs, for military road construction in Alaska, for Veterans Administration, and other purposes.

Meanwhile it was announced that a 40-square-mile area in Colorado will be drilled this coming summer in search for uranium, used in the making of atomic energy, including bombs.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the land had been reserved for its use by the Interior Department.

The AEC also announced that it would begin buying uranium-bearing ore in the Colorado plateau this summer. This is in preparation for operation of a processing plant at Monticello, Utah.

Censure Voted On Ukrainian's Blast at Press

Geneva, April 1.—The International conference on freedom of information and the press censured a Communist attack on the western press today and gave preliminary approval to peacetime censorship for purposes of military security.

The censorship proposal was included in a joint Franco-American resolution adopted by the all-nation committee on gathering and international transmission of news. The vote was 19 to 6, with three abstentions.

Canada joined Russia, the Ukraine, Poland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia in voting against the resolution. Argentina, Venezuela and Belgium abstained. Canada, Venezuela and Belgium were understood to have stated their opposition to all types of peacetime censorship.

The action came soon after the committee on the gathering and international transmission of information made the first concrete attempt of the conference to muffle Communist criticisms of the western press.

The committee voted to censure Ukrainian Delegate Gregory Pobegai for a blast against the journalistic practices of France, Britain and the United States.

His speech was removed from the record.

The 11-nation working group of the committee on publication and reception of information voted 5 to 0 in favor of considering all peacetime censorship of domestic publications and urging its gradual abolition. Russia and Poland abstained.

Mighty Mite's Mother Faces Court Action

Lewiston, Me., April 1 (AP).—A mother today was summoned to court for publicly exhibiting her infant son, a prodigy who walked with assistance when 5 days old.

In obtaining a warrant for court appearance tomorrow of Mrs. Lucien Kolreg, Police Chief Thomas E. Johnson invoked a statute prohibiting exhibitions dangerous to a child. A newspaper advertisement had listed hours when the baby, Robert, now 14 days old, might be seen and many visitors left donations.

Session Called On Palestine

no circumstances would Great Britain postpone it.

The Jews of Palestine expressed their resolve to set up their provisional government on May 16 and carve their state out of Palestine no matter what the U. N. does.

They restated that determination minutes before the Council tore open the whole question of Palestine's future by calling the special Assembly meeting.

Cadogan's statement killed speculation that Britain might extend its May 15 deadline to help implement a trusteeship plan, which the United States hopes to substitute for partition.

Today's balloting marked the first time Britain has done anything but abstain on Palestine votes in council deliberations.

It was one year ago almost to the day that Great Britain brought the tangled Holy Land dilemma to the U. N. for the first time.

The emphatic Council support for the truce plan and the emergency Assembly meeting did not commit members to support the American move to impose a temporary U. N. trusteeship on the Holy Land when Britain pulls out 45 days from now.

Canada, one of a bloc of small nations who want a clearcut picture of American's plans for the Holy Land, promptly called on the United States to employ the time between now and convening of the Assembly session to place its cards on the Council table.

American Delegate Warren Austin replied that he would be ready to unveil some details of the American proposal for a Palestine trusteeship in the Security Council on Tuesday.

The United States, he said, would like to have all U. N. members join in drafting the trusteeship plan.

Jews and Arabs Locked In Fierce Jerusalem Battle

armored trucks have not given up. They retreated to Hulda, a Jewish village on a side road, and made plans for another dash against the numerous Arab road blocks.

The convoy was en route from Tel Aviv when it ran into a curtain of Arab fire near Latrun, a little beyond the halfway point of its journey. Fighting flared last night as the Jews tried to buck their way ahead.

Ten trucks filtered through the Arab lines. The Arabs were reported to have burned five other vehicles.

The high command of Haganah, Jewish militia, said 17 Jews were killed in the battle. A government announcement said 5 Arabs were killed.

Haganah blacked out news of the convoy. It even issued a formal denial that the 10 trucks got through last night. Occupants of those trucks were widely interviewed, however.

Jews Under Virtual Siege

By stalling the convoy the Arabs called attention to the fact that they have established a virtual siege of Jews in Jerusalem. The 100,000 Jews there have been reduced to a bread ration equivalent to about three slices a day and to an average of one egg a week. Cafes are serving sacchrin for sugar. Jewish butcher shops are bare and grocery stores are out of most canned foods. Arab shops, on the other hand, are well stocked and their prices are dropping as a result of the Arab refusal to sell to Jews.

The stalled convoy is the first to attempt to break the blockade since Friday.

Jerusalem's Jews faced another crisis today when gasoline pumps in their areas ran dry. A dozen taxi drivers staged a small-scale riot.

Jewish sources said Arab warriors ambushed Jewish quarry workers near the village of Castell, 3 miles northwest of Jerusalem. One Jew was killed. Haganah reinforcements sped to the scene from nearby settlements, the informants said, and inflicted heavy casualties on the Arabs.

The two-hour battle ended just before sunset.

Earlier 10 armed Arabs forced their way into the Jerusalem film section offices of the Palestine government and made off with $40,000 worth of equipment.

An Arab bus driver was killed by gunfire in the Jerusalem vicinity. Another Arab was slain in the Jaffa-Tel Aviv borderland.

Since November 29, when the United Nations voted for partition, 2283 persons have been killed in violence in the Holy Land, an unofficial tabulation showed.

Arab newspapers reported that an arms ship "believed to be Russian" was off the Palestine coast near Gaza. The British said they were investigating but did not believe the report.

Gandhi's Son to Defy Ban

Johannesburg, South Africa, April 1 (U.P.).—The son of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi said today he will follow in his father's footsteps, even if they lead to prison or death.

Manilal Gandhi, 54, editor of Indian Tpinion, a weekly newspaper founded by his father, said he plans to cross the forbidden Natal-Transvaal border April 11, just as the recently assassinated Mahatma did in 1913.

He said he is willing to go to prison if it will arouse Indians to fight South African race laws. Entry of Asiatics into the Transvaal is controlled rigidly by state authorities.

Manilal Gandhi was arrested in 1946 for rebelling against the "ghetto law" by trespassing on municipal land. He chose to go to jail for 30 days at forced labor, rather than pay a $12 fine.

He was arrested against last February with 20 adherents he allegedly sent across the forbidden border.

Man Acquitted Of Sex Charge

Rodney F. Wheeler, 24, of 824 51st st. se., yesterday was acquitted in Montgomery County Circuit Court of a charge he had carnal knowledge of a 14-year-old girl in a parked car in Glen Echo, Md., early Christmas morning.

Two 16-year-old youths who accompanied Wheeler and the girl testified Wheeler was alone with the girl "only five minutes" and had "passed out" in the back seat.

3 REASONS WHY YOU'LL ENJOY A & P COFFEE

1. It's fresh! Everyone knows fresh coffee tastes better, and that's why A & P coffee is hurried to the stores in the roaster fresh bean.
2. It's custom ground! That means it's ground to order, exactly fine or coarse enough for best results in your coffee maker. Taste the difference!
3. It's blended to your taste. Unlike most coffees, A & P coffee comes not in one blend, but three—mild, medium and strong. Choose the one you prefer! All three are superb quality.

4528 Cases Before NLRB in February

Month's Total Sets New Record; 51% Increase Over January Figure

February, like the three months before it, was another record-breaker in the amount of business coming in to the National Labor Relations Board.

The agency's statistical summary for the month, published yesterday, showed that 4528 cases were filed with it during the 29-day period. This is greater than any number in the board's 12-month history. It is an increase of 51 per cent over the number of cases filed in January, even though January itself set a new high record.

Of the total cases, 4227, or 93 per cent, were petitions for various types of elections provided for in the Taft-Hartley Act. There were 3564 petitions for union shop election, 34 for elections on decertifying unions and 629 for collective bargaining elections.

Election Record Also Set

Besides the record of petitions filed, the NLRB set a new mark for elections held during the month. It conducted 1747 polls, in which 89 per cent of the persons eligible to vote exercised their right.

Most of the elections, 1473, had to do with authorizing union shops. In 99 per cent of the cases, the majority of employes supported this form of union security. Of the workers voting on the question of whether they wanted a union shop, 95 per cent said "yes."

The union shop is an arrangement under which an employe must become a member of the union 30 days after being hired, and must remain a member, as a condition of continuing his employment.

Backlog of 9468 Cases

During the month, there were eight elections on the question of whether to throw out the existing union as the collective bargaining agent. Five of the polls resulted in decertifying the union; in three cases the union was continued.

The NLRB ended the month with a backlog of 9468 cases pending. Of these, 1675, or 18 per cent, were holdovers from the old Wagner Act days; they were filed before August 22, 1947, the effective date of the new labor law.

Beer Tax Income Drops in Virginia

Richmond, Va., April 1 (AP).—Beer tax collections in Virginia for the first nine months of this fiscal year are running about $336,000 behind the corresponding period last year, the State Tax Department reported today.

The department said collections through yesterday totaled $3,681,807, compared with a yield of $4,018,275 for the comparable period of the 1946-47 fiscal year.

For last month, beer taxes amounted to $452,431, compared with $361,102 in March, 1947, and $165,988 in February of this year.

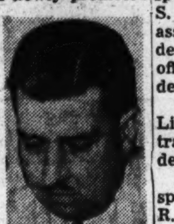
A department official said there is no close relationship between tax collection and beer consumption in any given month. Brewers pay their taxes on a basis of estimated need of crowns, and frequently stock up far in advance.

44 Promoted Police Officers Are Sworn In

The Washington Post

"FAMILY AFFAIR"—L. I. H. Edwards (left), 67, former police inspector who retired in 1941, shakes the hand of his son, Thomas E. Edwards, 42, who was sworn in yesterday as police captain. Captain Edwards, a veteran of 17 years on the Metropolitan Police Force, will be assigned to Fifth Precinct

More than 300 persons crowded into the squad room of the police academy yesterday to witness the swearing in of 44 newly promoted officers.



Stewart

Yesterday also brought an announcement from the park police of three promotions as a result of the retirement of Lieut. Robert G. Thompson.

Harold F. Stewart, 43, of 5602 Lincoln st., Bethesda, Md., becomes a lieutenant; William R. Lasham, 52, of 25 Madison st. ne., becomes a sergeant, and Henry M. Borger, 49, of 3604 41st st., Colmar Manor, Md., becomes a corporal.

Sworn in during the Metropolitan Police ceremony were four inspectors, five captains, seven lieutenants, six sergeants, six corporals, five detective sergeants, five precinct detectives and six probation detectives.

First to take the oath were Inspectors Floyd Truscott and Robert S. Bryant both of whom will be assistant superintendents of the department, Truscott as executive officer and Bryant as chief of detectives.

The oath was administered by Lieut Hoyle D. Secrest, administrative assistant to the chief of detectives.

After Truscott and Bryant, Inspectors Robert C. Pearce and John R. Jefferies were sworn in. Pearce become chief clerk and property clerk of the department and Jefferies will fill the newly created post of night inspector from midnight to 8 a. m.

The captains taking oath were Robert V. Murray, who will be second in command to the detective bureau; Anthony Richitt, new commander of the Ninth Precinct; Charles J. Sullivan, new commander of the Twelfth Precinct; Howward V. Covell, new commander of the First Precinct, and Thomas E. Edwards, new commander of the Fifth Precinct.

The audience which witnessed the ceremony included officials of the FBI and Secret Service, attorneys and friends and families of the officers promoted.

There were many brief addresses. Police Superintendent Robert J. Barrett in his remarks paid tribute to Inspector Walter H. Thomas, the department's former executive officer whose retirement became effective yesterday. He said he regretted that ill health prevented Thomas from attending the ceremony.

Another speaker was former Inspector L. I. H. Edwards, once an assistant superintendent. He is the father of Captain Edwards who was sworn in yesterday.

After swearing in the officers, Lieutenant Secrest administered the oath to 46 rookie policemen selected from 470 applicants. This ceremony was held in the Traffic Division squad room.

The names of 26 of the new rookies were previously announced. The other 20 are:

Edward H. Skelton, Thomas H. Taylor, jr., William M. Boone, John W. Lockwood, Ralph Ogle, William L. Jurney, jr., Alexander Siegel, Miland M. Ritter, James P. O'Connell, Alfred S. Hack, Arnold L. Dowdy, Francis S. Glynn, Anthony F. Zanelotti, James A. Stewart, George W. Killian, jr., Charles J. Borsh, Eldon E. Kitchen, John W. Hart, Joseph J. Szydlowski and James T. McCary, jr.

In the park police, the newly promoted Lieutenant Stewart is a native of Omaha, Nebr., who was appointed to the force in 1935 after four years in the Army. He is a graduate of the FBI National Academy and during World War II saw combat duty in the South Pacific as a Coast Guard lieutenant.

Sergt. Lasham, a native of Minto, N. Dak., has been the fingerprint expert for the National Capital Parks and the park police. He is a veteran of both world wars and was appointed to the force in 1930.

Corploral Borger for the past four years has been attached to park police headquarters as radio dispatcher and communications officer. He is a native of Edgewood, Md., a veteran of World War I and was appointed a park policeman in 1926.

Police and Picket Tactics Criticized

Fight at N. Y. Stock Exchange Entrance Draws Fire From Civil Liberties Union

New York, April 1 (AP).—Denunciation of both picket and police tactics and a union request for an outside investigation highlighted the fourth day of a financial workers strike at the New York Stock and Curb Exchanges.

An American Civil Liberties Union investigator condemned the "lie down" tactics of pickets and the "club wielding" by police during a free-for-all fight at the entrance to the stock exchange Tuesday.

At the same time the AFL United Financial Employes asked 21 prominent citizens to investigate the reasons behind the strike and report for "public judgment."

Claims Abuse of Rights

Louis Bender, former assistant United States attorney delegated by the Civil Liberties Union to investigate the fight, said:

"The action of the pickets with respect to the 'lie down' cannot be condoned. By completely denying the right of access to and from the stock exchange, the pickets abused their lawful right to picket."

He termed the tactics "too foreign to my way of thinking to be adopted by American unionists."

Of the police action, he found "little or no justification for the club wielding tactics."

"The wild and reckless use of stick force to accomplish what might very well have been done had other measures been first tried, was vicious and uncalled for."

'War of Nerves'

Otherwise the strike took on a "war of nerves" aspect.

The United Financial Employes' Union held out a threat of a general strike in the financial district, but left the question of "when" up in the air.

Stock and curb exchange officials said they were operating near normal after the second heavy business day and added they were prepared to go on indefinitely.

The volume of business reached 1,490,000 shares on the stock exchange today, compared with 1,780,000 yesterday. The curb volume was 360,000 today heavier than yesterday's 350,000.

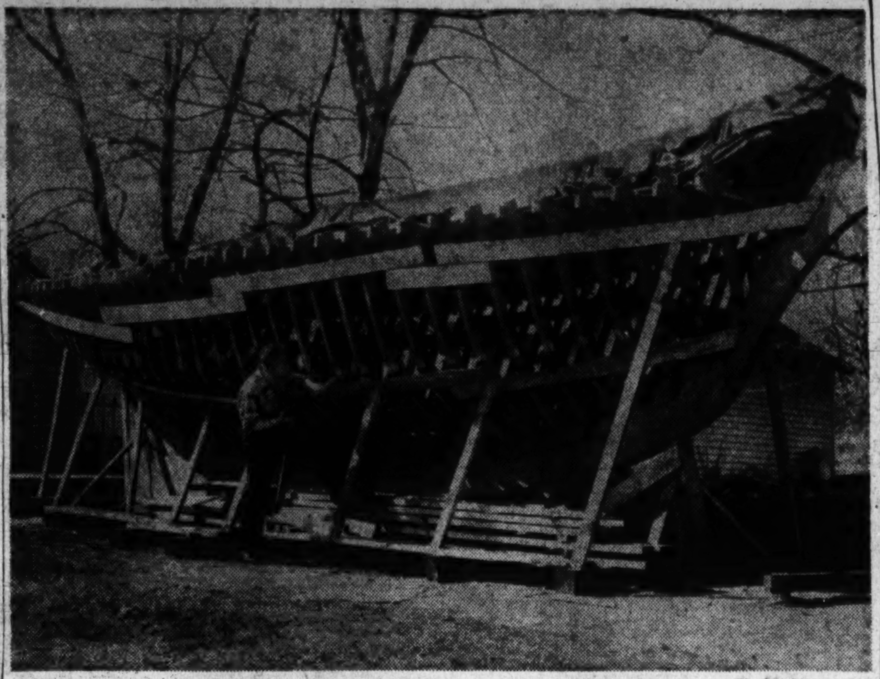
Right in His Own Back Yard . . .



The Washington Post

AUBREY LA PLACE WORK ON HIS 35-FOOT SAILBOAT

In the words of his wife, Aubrey E. La Place of Arlinton "can do anything."

For the past 20 years, the 48-year-old, desk-bound certified public accountant spent his free hours wrapped in the Great American Dream—that tropical cruise in a boat you build in your own back yard.

Only La Place took his dream out of the pipe-and-swivel-chair bracket and put it in his own back yard; a half-built, 35-foot sailing ketch.

Today, it hogs nearly all of the yard of his home at 818 N. Garfield st., looking much like one of those prehistoric skeletons you see in museums.

This amazing learning and building saga began in the spring of 1946 when, about 2000 spare-time working hours ago, La Place roughed out the keel from Georgia pine he bought for $23.

The price: La Place estimates his dream will cost him an estimated $4000 from start to finish. Present market price for a comparable 35-footer would be about $12,000.

The future? La Place plans an extended blue-water cruise in Carribbean and South Atlantic waters after he retires. His past sailing experience is limited to short cruises in friends' boats.

He has yet to learn navigation. But, as Mrs. La Place says, "my husband can do anything."

Where does his wife fit in these future plans? Says she: "Sure I'll go. If anything happens, it will happen to both of us."

Court Move Due in Strike

Government intervention to this end.

Yesterday's White House conference was attended by Attorney General Clark, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, Secretary of Interior Krug. Federal Mediation Director Ching, Steelman, and presidential legal adviser Clifford.

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the purpose of the 1¼-hour session was not to reach a decision, but rather to give the President all possible information on the 18-day old walkout.

Mr. Truman's advisers, Ross said, "went over the whole coal situation from every conceivable angle in order that the President should have the latest and fullest information."

Thereupon Mr. Truman departed for a trip to Williamsburg, Va., taking with him the inquiry board's report and the many documents accompanying it. He must study them, Ross added, "more thoroughly" than he has so far.

He returns to Washington Saturday morning. No action is expected before then. But it is probable he will make the report public shortly after he gets back to the White House.

ITU Locals Told to Reopen Negotiations

Indianapolis, April 1 (AP).—The International Typographical Union told its striking local stoday they must open new negotiations or face loss of strike benefits.

A bulletin sent from ITU headquarters announced the union will "fully comply" with a Federal Court injunction which prohibits discrimination against nonunion printers.

Sent to all ITU locals, the bulletin was labeled "Instructions and Advice,' 'aimed at "maximum security under existing conditions."

Negotiations Ordered

Locals were instructed to withdraw all previous offers and demand sand negotiate new contracts within limits of the injunction.

The union also gave up the "conditions of employment" bargaining policy it adopted in convention last summer—at least for the time the injunction is in force. The bulletin instructed locals to open immediately new negotiations on agreementse based on the "conditions of employment" if employers ask for revisions.

It went further: "Where no such request is made by the employer, it is recommended that the local unions promptly undertake the negotiation of new agreements."

The injunction was issued here last Saturday by Judge Luther M. Swygert. It is in effect only until the National Labor Relations Board makes a decision on charges of unfair labor practices against the ITU now being heard by an NLRB examiner in Detroit.

Bulletin Gives Advice

Advice included in the bulletin by President Woodruff Randolph and other ITU officers:

New contracts may be made subject to termination on 60 days' notice. (Such a clause would become effective if the NLRB dismisses the charges against ITU.)

ITU will approve contracts for one year or any period which "has been customary in a particular locality."

Locals and employers should set up employe competency tests, but not as a means to discriminate against non-union printers.

A struck work clause "is not prohibited by the decree."

Anderson Suggests '36-'41 Tobacco Parity Period

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson suggested yesterday that the period of 1936-1941 be used in determining parity for Maryland tobacco.

At the same time, he opposed a bill by Representative Sasscer (D., Md.) to change the base period from 1919-1929 to 1936-1945 by amending the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938.

A similar bill has been offered in the Senate by Senators Tydings (D., Md.) and O'Conor (D., Md.).

Sasscer said Anderson's views were disclosed in a report to Chairman Hope (R., Kans.) of the House Agriculture Committee.

He explained that under the base period proposed by the Agriculture Department, the parity price would be 49 cents and the support price 41.9 cents.

Pioneer Days Recalled

Rawlings, Wyo. (U.P.).—A model of the old Wyoming town of Saratoga as it was in 1879 has been presented to the Carbon County Museum. The contributor, Joseph Wagoner, Platte Valley pioneer, sent an account of life in the old town at the time of the Meeker massacre across the State line in Colorado along with the model.

The Gallup Poll

Many Back Wallace But Reject Policies

By George Gallup
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J., April 1—The followers of Henry A. Wallace are not a group with homogeneous ideas on public issues. Many who say they plan to vote for him do not agree with the views he has expressed on leading subjects.

They might best be described as a "conglomeration of protesters," who support Wallace more because they are against other parties than because they are drawn to his particular ideas and pronouncements. For example:

Although Wallace has made a big point of opposing the European Recovery Plan, polls among the Wallace supporters find that approximately one-half of them favor the ERP, while about one-fourth oppose it and the rest express no opinion. While it is true that ERP has less support from Wallace followers than from Democrats or Republicans, there is certainly no clear agreement among Wallacites backing up Wallace's own position.

The following table gives a comparison of the vote on ERP by people who favor President Truman, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey or Wallace for president.

	Truman	Dewey	Wallace
Approve	62%	55%	47%
Disapprove	12	22	28
No opinion	26	23	25

Mail Carrier for 30 Years, Stanton Wins Geniality Vote

The Washington Post

DANIEL M. STANTON
Has been delivering the mail for 30 years

Daniel M. Stanton, mail carrier, hasn't been named to any high position in our postal system.

But with residents of the Colony Hill and Dumbarton areas in Georgetown, Dan is the top man in the mail delivery business. They say he is a wonderful man. He's polite, sympathetic, genial and reliable.

Stanton, who lives at 1638 30th st. nw., is 69, has been delivering the mail for 30 years.

"Everybody calls me Dan," he said. "Guess it's because I know all the families on my route pretty well. Got four Congressmen, Army and Navy officers and mostly professional people. Took over my route in 1943 and when you've been over Hoban rd., Reservoir rd., and Kenmore dr. as many times as I have you get to know the names, faces and houses."

15 Miles a Day

Carrying two heavy loads of mail a day, Dan averages 15 miles on foot.

"Feet never give me any trouble, but my left shoulder gives me trouble every now and then. Bursitis, the doctor said. Carry my bag on the left shoulder and the loads get pretty heavy."

He said that mail gets heavier every year.

"Been in the service a long time. Back in 1917, I was working for an insurance company. Two friends and myself were talking about dismissal notices that seemed headed our way. I suggested that in case we lost our jobs, the postal service ought to be a pretty good thing. But I swear I really didn't mean it. They took me up on the suggestion and we went down to take an examination. I was the only one that passed."

Born in Georgetown

Dan was born in Georgetown. His father had a bakery at 2315 L st. nw. All of Dan's postal career has been spent in Georgetown. His first route was in the Que Gardens area. Then for many years he served in the waterfront-brewery area.

And in Georgetown he met Ellen.

"She's my wife—my girl, too, I guess," Dan smiled, "Ellen lived in the next block, pretty, with dark hair — we went to Weightman school and then to Business High school together—we went to St. Stephen's Church at 25th and the Avenue, made our first Holy Communion and were confirmed together and we were married there. Four years ago we renewed our marriage vows in the same church after 40 years of married life. Raised a nice family, too. Five boys, two girls and 14 of our grandchildren are living. One died."

Dan doesn't have much time for hobbies. He said he likes to stay home with Mrs. Stanton these evenings. Carrying the mail and climbing hundreds of steps a day is pretty tiring.

No Dog Trouble

He used to bowl a lot and he likes to listen to the baseball and football games on the radio because he doesn't get a chance to see the games.

Dan wanted to know how he was picked as subject for an interview. It was explained that someone had noticed him riding the streetcar with his bag of mail and had noticed his genial, friendly smile.

"Know what, all these stories about dogs biting mailmen—nothing like that ever happened to me—they're always friends to me—guess they are just like people. Guess I like everybody—everything is all right . . . just fine."

Income Tax Lien Of $240,000 Filed Against Meyers

New York, April 1 (AP). — The Government today slapped a $240,000 income tax lien on the property of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers.

The wartime Air Forces supply officer is now serving a 20-month to 5-year jail term for persuading a business associate to give false testimony to a Senate committee.

The Internal Revenue Department's tax lien alleged Meyers owes the Government more than $240,000 for taxes between 1941 and 1946.

Wallace Orders Corn Planted on Park Ave.

New York, April 1 (NYHT.).—Henry A. Wallace took time out today from his third party campaign for the Presidency to inspect national Wallace-for-President headquarters and order a bit of corn planted in the corner plot of 39 Park Avenue here.

Winchell's Son-in-Law Seeks Annulment

Cambridge, Mass., April 1 (AP). William F. Lawless, 30, of Cambridge sought annulment today in Middlesex probate court of his marriage to Walda E. Winchell, who, he said, had never lived with him as his wife.

The former Army sergeant told the court he thought his young actress wife, daughter of Columnist Walter Winchell, had wed him for the sake of publicity. They eloped in 1945.

'Character' Poll Test Voted by Miss. House

Jackson, Miss., April 1 (AP).—The Mississippi House of Representatives in secret session today adopted a resolution requiring a person to have "good moral character" to vote.

The same resolution was defeated recently, 67 to 59, but a long debate behind closed doors on reconsideration resulted in passage by 115 to 14.

Alabama Electors Given Free Choice

State High Court Upsets Law Binding Them to Party

Montgomery, Ala., April 1 (AP).—The Alabama Supreme Court today declared unconstitutional a 1945 State law binding Presidential electors to support their party nominee.

In an advisory opinion requested by Gov. James E. Folsom, the court unanimously held that the Legislature cannot dictate to electors the choice they must make for President and Vice President.

While admitting States are given authority under the Federal Constitution to establish methods of naming electors, the tribunal ruled that this authority ends with their selection.

"It is true that there has grown up a practice," the opinion said, "under which electors have felt duty bound by virtue of their own consciences to vote for the nominees of the party which nominates them. . . .

"But this course of action has followed their own personal regard for what was their duty and not some statutory mandate. The elector is a constitutional officer and the words in the original Constitution and the amendment thereof show that he is to follow his own judgment and discretion."

'Red Parrot'

'Voice' Chief Says Wallace Echoes Soviet

New York, April 1 (AP).—George V. Allen, new boss of America's war of words with Russia, accused Henry A. Wallace today of "parroting" Soviet propaganda.

The former Ambassador to Iran, who took office only yesterday in Washington as Assistant Secretary of State, declared:

"After two years abroad, I am shocked to return and find the extent to which Mr. Henry Wallace, to take an outstanding example, goes about parroting the misrepresentation of our foreign policy aims. Very many of the things he says are the same sort of villification of our motives I have listened to over the Moscow radio during the past two years in Iran."

Wallace to Reply Saturday

Allen's accusations against Wallace were the first to be directed publicly at the third party presidential candidate by a high State Department official. They were contained in an address at a luncheon-meeting of the Overseas Press and Radio Executive Clubs.

Allen is Assistant Secretary for Public Affairs. Among other things, his duties include supervision of the "Voice of America," this country's shortwave radio network designed to counter Communist propaganda.

Wallace said he had no immediate comment, but would include a reply to Allen's accusations in his speech at New Haven, Conn., Saturday night.

Booed in Brooklyn

An estimated 500 demonstrators, shouting "Down with Russia! Down with communism!" booed Wallace last night as the third party presidential candidate carried his campaign into Brooklyn.

Bearing U. S. flags and the banners of several veterans' organizations, the demonstrators marched in an endless column around a school in Brooklyn's Red Hook section where the former Vice President spoke. They continued their shouts and boos during Wallace's speech, the first of two he made before Italian-American rallies in different sections of Brooklyn.

The third party leader, outwardly unruffled by the demonstration, said in his address that U. S. foreign policy is "breeding civil war for Italy."

Art Draws Crowds

New York (U.P.).—The Metropolitan Museum of Art disclosed in its annual report for 1947 that during the year 2,168,700 persons visited the museum.

Texas Democrats Await State Convention

Austin, Tex., April 1 (AP).—Texas Democratic leaders will shun further southern party protest meetings until after the State convention, May 25, Gov. Beauford H. Jester said today.

Jester said that Robert W. Calvert, State executive committee chairman, would not attend a meeting of southern State chairmen in Atlanta April 12. Calvert declined to attend because he felt he would not be in a position to speak for the Texas party prior to the convention.

Alaskan Mystery Isle Appears, Disappears

Anchorage, Alaska (U.P.).—Bogoslov Island consists of three volcanic cones and is one of the mystery islands in the Bering Sea, 25 miles north of the Aleutians.

It is of volcanic formation and since its first eruptive appearance in 1796 it has disappeared, reappeared and changed physiographically many times. Its most recent eruption was in 1910.

Sea lions and birds have returned to the island at every reappearance.

Vacations by Lottery

McArthur, Ohio (U.P.).—A lottery plan will be followed this year in granting reservations at the Lake Hope vacation cabins on the Zaleski State Forest reservation. A drawing will be held periodically to establish a basic priority list.

Stassen Predicts He'll Top Wisconsin Vote

Milwaukee, April 1 (AP).—Harold E. Stassen predicted tonight that he will win a majority of the Wisconsin delegates to the Republican National Convention.

The former Minnesota Governor is conducting an intensive campaign to win delegates in the State's election next Tuesday. He made the predcition in a message prepared for delivery at a women's club meeting in suburban Wauwatosa.

Stassen said the best evidence he has that at least 14 delegates pledged to him will win "has been the indications of a combination of the opposing candidates at the eleventh hour."

While Stassen did not elaborate on the "combination of the opposing candidates," he evidently referred to a remark by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey last night that Gen. Douglas MacArthur will capture more delegates in Wisconsin than any other presidential candidates. Stassen, Dewey and MacArthur are the only candidates who have delegate slates in the State Republican primary.

Stassen took an indirect slap at Governor Dewey in another part of his address in which he outlined his proposal to outlaw the Communist Party in the United States.

He said:

"We will give special attention to clearing up the Communist activity in the State of New York where Communist national headquarters are located and where 40 per cent of the known Communists in America live and operate."

Toward that end we will actively oppose Communist infiltration and outlaw the Communist Party in America," he said.

"We will stop all shipments to Russia and her satellites which could be used to build a Communist war machine. We will assist nations moving toward freedom in a sound and practical way, backing up the statesmanship of Senator Vandenberg."

Rep. Powell Urges Negroes to Unite For Civil Rights

Representative Adam Clayton Powell, jr., (D., N. Y.) yesterday urged all Negroes to stand together behind President Truman's civil rights program to elminate conditions in Washington which make it "a cesspool of the worst elements of our democracy."

Powell, speaking before nearly 200 delegates at a meeting of the Youth Legislative Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at Howard University, praised the recent showing of Southern Negroes at the pools.

The Negro vote there has become a continuing threat to Southern Congressmen, he said—especially in parts of Texas, where 20,000 Negroes voted last fall in Houston.

Arraignment Set In 'Toy Gun' Case

Three alleged "toy gun" holdup men were charged with robbery yesterday before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage. Arraignment for all three was set for April 8.

Placed under $3000 bond each were Frederick Powell, 27, 909 5th st. ne., and John N. Parker, 29, 308 Virginia ave. se. A $500 bond was ordered for Richard R. Jones, 20, 1431 Morris rd. se.

The three charged in the holdup of Charles Cousen, manager of a 10-cent store at 1513 U st. nw. last Tuesday, which netted $150 in cash.

Late Entries Swell Md. Congress Race

Dozens Beat Primary Filing Deadline; Battles Loom; 6 House Seats at Stake

Maryland's politcal pot was filled to the rim last night as dozens of late entrants squeezed into the State's Democratic and Republican primaries before the midnight filing deadline.

The State's six seats in the House of Representatives are at stake and primary contests loomed, a survey revealed, in all but three cases.

These are on the Republican side in the First, Third and Sixth Districts.

Incumbents Edward T. Miller in the First, embracing the Eastern Shore, and J. Glenn Beall in the Sixth, taking in western Maryland, both were unopposed for the Republican nomination early last night. So was John A. Jahetske, a GOP aspirant in the Third District.

Both party primaries will be held May 3.

The Sixth District, in which Beall of Frostburg, is unopposed for the Republican nomination comprises Montgomery, Frederick, Garrett, Allegany and Washington Counties.

Democrats seeking nomination in the district are F. Byrne Austin, 257 Maple ave., Takoma Park, wholesaler, Dawson J. Horine, Myersville, and Thomas O'Connell, Caney place, Forest Glen, Silver Spring, former chief investigator of the Special Senate Committee to Investigate the National Defense Program.

During the day, George Sachse, Glen Burnie attorney entered the fifth district Democratic race against Representative Lansdale G. Sasscer of Upper Marlboro. Sasscer is serving his fifth term in the House. The fifth district includes Prince Georges, Anne Arundel, Charles, St. Mary's, Calvert and Howard Counties.

Four Republicans also have thrown their hats into the ring for Sasscer's seat. They are L. J. H. Herwig, Annapolis attorney; Frank E. Vanderhoof, Suitland advertising man; Edwin A. Glenn, Suitland operator of a fleet of taxis, and C. Maurice Weidemeyer, Washington and Annapolis attorney.

James P. Brock, administrative assistant to the Secretary of State at Annapolis, said his office phones had been kept busy yesterday as congressional hopefuls called in last-minute entries. A dozen or more candidates, not included in the early-in-the-evening surveys, were expected to file at the very last minute.

In Maryland Races

In Prince Georges County. Republicans seeking the convention seats are W. Leroy Armstrong, Laurel; Mrs. Annette Fisher, Cheverly; Mrs. Marvin S. Gallimore, Bladensburg; Paul Johnson, Mount Rainier; Sidney Moore, Brandywine; J. Bryant Morrison, Capitol Heights, and James P. Sutton, Cedar Heights, all indorsed by the county GOP, and H. Wilson Spicknall, Hyattsville; Ned Waters, Berwyn Heights; Lawrence Waters, Bowie, and Ervin Hobensee, College Park.

For the Prince Georges Democratic convention seats seven women filed as candidates—Mrs. Nora R. Bollinger, Brentwood; Mrs. Blanche E. Longenecker, Berwyn; Mrs. Nora R. Bollinger, Brentwood; Mrs. Cordelia Brown, Takoma Park; Mrs. Mary C. White, Takoma Park; Mrs. Betty L. Tayman, Cheverly; Mrs. Lillian R. Kutsch, Ardmore, and Mrs. Myrtle B. Andre, Oxon Hill.

Each party, in both Montgomery and Prince Georges Countides, is to name seven convention delegates.

Bill Signed Raising Pay Of Arlington Board

Included among the measures signed by Governor Tuck yesterday was one raising the salary of members of the Arlington County Board from $1200 to $1800 a year. The bill was sponsored by Delegates J. Maynard Magruder and George Damm of Arlington.

The Governor also signed a Magruder-Damm measure authorizing a plebiscite as to whether the Arlington School Board should float bonds to erect an athletic stadium.

Another bill to which Tuck affixed his signature authorized the City Council to make contributions to the Alexandria Bicentennial Commission.

Barbershop Quartets

The Washington Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., will present a benefit concert at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in Lisner Auditorium, 21st and H sts. nw. Featured will be the Singing Capital Chorus of 50 men and 11 male quartets.

Va. Hospital Aid Bill Signed

Richmond, Va., April 1 (AP).—Governor Tuck today signed the House bill setting up machinery by which State and local funds may be used with Federal money under the Hill-Burton Act for construction of hospitals.

The bill was among 75 signed today, putting the Governor about halfway through the stack of 227 bills sent up after Tuesday's constructive session of the Assembly. The Governor goes to Williamsburg tomorrow to receive a degree from the College of William and Mary, but hopes to complete his signing chores this week.

Another measure of importance signed today provides for the regulation of private organizations soliciting contributions for health and medical purposes. The State Corporation Commission will have jurisdiction.

Two bills signed call for studies by the advisory legislative council—one of a proposed system of juvenile and domestic relations courts, the other for recodification of Virginia insurance laws.

Also signed was the long Senate bill relaxing restrictions on the absentee ballot, which was the subject of a vigorous fight by the Republican minority, joined by some Democrats. It eliminates the requirement that absentee ballots be notarized, and permits election officials to hand the ballots to applicants in person rather than have to deliver them by registered mail.

Dewey Assails Foreign Policy, Discounts War Says Competence at D. C. Will Avert Disaster

sen has built up his strength in the northwestern section of the State, where seven delegate seats are at stake. MacArthur strength is most evident in Dewey's former bailliwick—the eastern two-thirds of the State.

Dewey began his two-stop entry into Milwaukee at Kenosha—just 45 minutes out of Chicago. About 250 people had gathered on the platform. Dewey promptly stepped out of his parlor car onto a baggage truck and opened fire at Truman foreign policy. "The American government cannot continue making love to Stalin as it has doing for the last three years, if we are to have peace," he told the station throng.

"We now face a crisis as grave as any we have ever faced. I am firmly convinced . . . that unless our foreign policy is changed, unless it is firmer and stronger, this administration may bungle us into war."

At Racine, where he left the train for 3½ hours for talks with Dewey delegate-candidates and a speech, 2500 persons overflowed the small memorial hall. Here he amplified his theme.

Praises Both Opponents

"I assert that you can't do business with communism—they'll gobble you up every time," he told Racine listeners. He got his biggest hand there when he called for a ban on shipment of American goods to natinos opposing the "institution of human rights."

Dewey opened his Milwaukee speech tonight with praise for the two other GOP contestants. He called MacArthur "a fine American soldier who has served his country well . . ." He said he had high regard also for Stassen, "a fine former Governor of your neighboring State."

But there was veiled criticism of both competitors in the body of his speech. He said Government policies today are dominated by military men who traditionally think only in terms of war and "the answer to the threat of this hour . . . lies in a wholly different approach." That sounded like a swat at MacArthur.

In his prepared text at Racine and again at Milwaukee he said he liked to keep Communists "out in the open where we can beat them." He said he disagreed with "pronouncements of those who are inexperienced with dealing with Communists." This was obviously aimed at Stassen who favors outlawing the Communist Party.

Tonight Dewey reiterated his support of universal military training and in addition declared for "limited selective service or whatever means are necessary to protect America." He called for a second-to-none air force as well so the United States can lead "from strength not from weakness." And he said real unity of freedom-loving nations through a federation of western Europe would be "the greatest triumph of statesmanship."

Both at Racine and at Milwaukee he singled out Henry Wallace for attack. Wallace, he said, proposed "giving in to Russia on each of her increasing demands." He said such a policy of "appeasement has always led either to slavery or to war."

Truman, Tuck In Ceremonies

W. L. MacKenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada. They, too, are to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

President Truman, Governor Tuck and the others are to march in a procession to a platform in front of the Wren Building. Here the degrees will be awarded and both men are expected to make a "response." What they are going to say is a mystery. Neither appears to have prepared anything in advance.

Mr. Truman will be the eighth President to receive an honorary degree from William and Mary College. The first was Thomas Jefferson, who was awarded his in 1782. Then came John Tyler, 1854; Woodrow Wilson, 1919; Warren G. Harding, 1921; Calvin Coolidge, 1926; Herbert C. Hoover, 1931, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, 1934.

President Truman was cruising down the Potomac tonight on the yacht Williamsburg. With him were Mrs. Truman; their daughter, Margaret; White House Secretaries Matthew J. Connelly and Charles G. Ross, and the Chief Executive's three armed forces aides.

Reaching Chesapeake Bay, the yacht will turn up the York River. Mr. Truman and members of his party will disembark at Yorktown, scene of Cornwallis' surrender and the end of the Revolutionary War. They will then travel the 16 miles to Williamsburg by motor.

Governor Tuck is scheduled to come here from Richmond in the morning.

Coal Strike Layoffs

Cumberland, Md., April 1 (AP).—Five-day furloughs ended today for 300 workers at the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad locomotive shops, but notices were up that 3134 more will be laid off Monday because of the coal miners' walkout.

A spokesman for the division said the new layoffs will affect the bolt and forge shops here, car department, rolling mill, and the Keyser roundhouse.

Q.

Which is more important in producing a fine wine—grapes or skill?

A.

No question but what grapes are important . . . and that's why the Petri family selects only the finest.

But even the most superb grapes could not be turned into superior wine without the greatest of skill. The Petri family have been adding to their skill for three generations. You'll find this skill expressed to the fullest in every bottle of Petri Wine!

County Urged to Lift Health Officers' Pay

Six health and civic organizations yesterday asked Montgomery County Commissioners to raise the salaries of County Health Officer V. L. Ellicott and his assistant to prevent their resignations.

Dr. Ellicott, health officer since 1932, is paid $6250, the funds coming from county and State revenue. His assistant, Dr. Claire A. Christman, who has been with the county five years, is paid $4140 by the county.

Dr. Ellicott reportedly was on the West Coast yesterday looking over a health post there at a higher salary. Dr. Christman said she is considering "several offers," one reportedly paying $7100.

Salaries of $10,000 per year for Dr. Ellicott and $5500 for Dr. Christman were requested by the health and civic group delegations who appeared at a county commissioners' meeting at Rockville. The request was taken under advisement.

James P. Slicher, secretary of the State Health Department, who was present, said the State Department plans to up its share of Dr. Ellicott's salary from $3150 to $5000. He also indicated the State Health Department would consider paying a share of Dr. Christman's salary in 1949-50.

Organizations making the request were the Mental Hygiene Society, County Medical Society, Tuberculosis Association, Public Health Lay Council, Planned Parenthood League and League of Women Voters.

Senate Gets $650 Pay Bill

ordered placed on the Senate calendar, also provides:

For an increase of 32.5 per cent, or $650, for legislative and judicial employes;

A boost of 40 cents an hour for postal employes who are paid an hourly or daily rate;

An increase of 30 cents an hour for employes (other than postal) who are paid an hourly or daily rate as fixed by the Classification Act, and,

Pay raises up to $5000 each for Cabinet members and other Federal officials.

The bills would go into effect within two weeks after they are enacted into law.

To repeat, the committee bill would overhaul the Classification Act to give jobs and salaries a proper relationship. But in the revamping of the 1923 law, the 45 different grades would be merged into 10 comparable grades and two new grades would be added to provide salaries beyond $10,000.

The chart below shows the 10 proposed grades. The present 45 grades are merged as follows:

New Grade 1 is composed of the present CPC 1; new Grade 2 is made up of present CAF 1; SP 1 and 2; CPC 2 and 3, and CMS 1. New Grade 3 is composed of: SP 3 and 4; CAF 2 and 3; CPC 4 and 5, and CMS 2. New Grade 4: P 1; SP 5 and 6; CAF 4 and 5; CPC 6 and 7, and CMS 3. New Grade 5. P 2; SP 7 and 8, CAF 6 and 7; CPC 8 and 9, and CMS 4.

New Grade 6: P 3; CAF 8 and 9, and CPC 10. New Grade 7: P 4 and CAF 10 and 11. New Grade 8: P 5 and CAF 12. New Grade 9: P 6 and CAF 13. New Grade 10: P 7 and CAF 14. And new Grade 11: Jobs now classified P 8 and CAF 15.

To determine how you'd fare under the Senate bill, first read closely the above and find out your new grade; then find your present salary in the new grades in the left-hand column and read across and find your proposed new salary.

CONSERVATION DEMONSTRATION — This is the Mecklenburg County farm of Mrs. Annie M. Poythress, 57-year-old widow, where a one-day conservation demonstration transforomed its 105 acres of washed and faded land into a farm of modern contour—plowed, fertilized, seeded and fenced. $300,000,000 Education Aid Bill Passes Senate, 58 to 22 tutionally permissible to parochial and private schools was introduced by Senator Brien McMahon (D., Conn.). The Senate yesterday rejected that by 66 to 14.

$720,000 For D. C.

Schools in the District of Columbia would receive a Federal grant of $720,000 under the bill. The funds could be used to supplement current operating costs. The figure is based on an estimated school population of 144,000.

Maryland schools would receive $2,135,000 under the bill for an estimated school population of 427,000.

Virginia schools would be entitled to $8,070,000 under the measure to bring an estimated 708,000 children up to the Federal minimum.

Senator Harry F. Byrd (D., Va.), who led the fight against the measure, told the Senate, however, that Gov. William M. Tuck is vigorously opposed to the bill and the State Legislature will not accept the Federal aid.

Indian 'Victor' Over Buffalo Bill Duel Dead at '107'

Newark, N. J., April 1 (U.P.).—Chief Light Moon, a Nebraska Indian who claimed he was 107 years old and once "winged" Buffalo Bill Cody in a gun duel, died today in city hospital.

Admitted to the hospital three days ago with a stomach ailment, the Indian had been a difficult patient, telling nurses he never had taken any medicine except yellow root tea. He told them he had fought at Custer's last stand, had once seen Abraham Lincoln in a "moth-eaten stovepipe hat" in Washington and had bested Cody in a gun fight.

"He was always slow on the draw," Chief Light Moon said.

Jail Bids Asked At Winchester

Winchester, Va., April 1.—The Frederick County Board of Supervisors and City Council of Winchester have jointly asked for bids for the construction of a new city-county jail to be built here on the site of the present prison. Separate bids will be received for the jail cell work.

The present jail, more than a century old, has been declared unsafe by the State Department of Corrections and ordered vacated by December 31, 1948, unless certain specifications are met.

Both the city and county governing bodies have set aside special funds for construction of the jail, expected to cost about $100,000.

Trade Center Trend Worries County Group

The continued scattering of retail shopping centers througrout Arlington County will have a "long-range depressive" effect on business there, the Arlington Chamber of Commerce warned yesterday.

The warning was contained in the chamber's committee report on 1948 activities. The committee is headed by George F. Duborg.

The committee urged concentration of retail business in "existing general business areas," with local zoning laws administered so as to effect such a concentration.

Other Recommendations

The report said the committee recommendation was not intended to apply to such local businesses as a neighborhood might require but to general retail outlets.

Other recommendations included:

1. Continued chamber study of the possibility of city status for Arlington.
2. Further development of adequate cross-county bus transportation.
3. Proper allocation of State funds to Arlington for urgently needed State highway improvement in relation to taxes paid by Arlington residents.
4. Development of an adequate and fully paid Arlington Fire Department operating under a comprehensive department ordinance. The present system is part paid and part volunteer.
5. A long-range program of public improvements, including adequate storm sewers, improved arterial highways and expanded municipal facilities.

One on the Aisle—

He's Not Quite His Own Grandpa

By Richard L. Coe

PEOPLE ABOUT THE TOWN: You'd need a chart to plot the family relationships of John Buckmaster of the National's "An Inspector Calls." . . . John's mother is Gladys Cooper, whose iridescence has brightened the British and American stage and whom you now see playing elegant matrons in movies like "The Bishop's Wife." . . . At the moment she's on the London stage in Ustinov's "The Indifferent Shepherd." . . . John is Gladys' son by her first marriage—to H. J. Buckmaster, owner of that elegant London club known to many a Yank, "Buck's." . . . His sister is Joan Buckmaster, who's married to Robert Morley, with whom John appeared in New York in "Oscar Wilde." . . . A half-sister is Sally, the daughter of Miss Cooper's marriage to Sir Neville Pearson; Gladys and Sally acted together last year on the summer circuit in Barrie's "Alice Sit-by-the-Fire." . . . Through Miss Cooper's marriage to the late Philip Merivale, John is the step-brother of Jack Merivale who, in "An Inspector Calls," is acting John's prospective brother-in-law. . . . Got it? . . . We shamefully told John when we met him we'd rather talk about his mother, whose activities take up two full pages of "Who's Who in the Theater." . . . John looks more like his mother offstage than on—high forehead, aquiline nose, blue eyes. . . . They're hoping to play mother and son next season in "Ghosts" in a production that would avoid the gloom usually associated with Ibsen. . . . John's an American citizen, was an enlisted man in the United States Army during the war and had a considerable fling in vaudeville and night clubs with an impressionistic act. . . . He went back to the legit last season for "Lady Windermere's Fan." . . . John, by the way, made his American debut from the same dressing room he's got now at the National. . . . That was in "Call It a Day," in which his mother played his stage mother and his stepfather, Merivale, played his father. . . If all this makes you dizzy, take a gander at "Who's Who In the Theater" (Tenth Edition) . . . All the stage family genealogy tables are shown in that under the names of families. . . . But page 1528 is headed: "The Gladys Cooper Group."

UNCLE DAVE Ginsburg is chortling with pride because the Hyattsville Easter Egg Roll Monday has made the Metro and Universal newsreels . . . This is the annual fete sponsored by the Prince Georges Kiwanians and the Sidney Lust theaters . . . Locally the newsreels will be shown at the Kaywood, Mount Rainier, Saturday, Sunday and Monday; at the Hyattsville Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, and at the Cheverly Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

"A FRIEND" phones after a trip to Philadelphia to say that Beatrice Lillie is her great self in the new musical, "'Inside U. S. A.," which gets its theme from the Gunther tome . . . The Arthur Schwartz musical is at the Quaker City's Shubert for another three weeks after this one and then goes into New York where, presumably, it will stay and stay . . . The Philly notices were all raves.

THOSE SOUTHEAST players who copped the One-Act Play Tournament with their production of "The Kite" will be playing the piece Monday and Tuesday nights at 8 o'clock in Friendship House, 619 D st. se. . . . They'll also be televized over WTPG Friday night, April 9, at 9.

FRED EVANS is a man who will have to be watching his temper. . . . He's got the job of directing the Junior League's "Follies of '48," which plays next Wednesday and Thursday nights at Lisner Auditorium. . . . Fred's been everything from a chorus boy to a stage manager in the backstage world, where one's vocabulary is inclined to be a bit more free than when telling Junior Leaguers to bump-two-three-four. . . . Still, Fred, we've met a Junior Leaguer or two with a meaty lexicon.

BELTSVILLE folks will see a maze of cars tonight. . . . It's the opening of the Drive-In out thataway, last of the area's three auto theaters to declare it's spring. . . . "My Favorite Brunette" and "Gentleman Joe Palooka" are the pictures.

ADOLPHE MENJOU may well turn up selling suits today in the men's department of Woody's . . . He'll be in the book section this afternoon from 2:30, autographing copies of his autobiography, "It Took Nine Taylors," but he threatens to skip upstairs . . . This morning the Menjous (she is the film's Verree Teasdale) will be sightseeing at the FBI . . . Menjou's as sharp as those guys he's played in over 100 films . . . "You can't tell me anything about selling books or suits," cracks Menjou, "I can smell $3.50 a mile off. This trip I've covered 22 stores across the country, sold 15,000 copies of the book. Like it? I love it. Sorry I won't be here for the press preview Wednesday night at the Capitol of 'State of the Union.' . . . Now there's a great picture and I've been around this business long enough to know it right off . . . When we were making it, Spencer Tracy and I didn't talk politics once . . . He's a great actor, make no mistake about that . . . But no politics . . . Why, when we were shooting the picture, the Communists lost no time in getting the word outt that I couldn't learn my lines, that I was no good at all . . . Nonsense, of course, but that's the way those guys work . . . Those Commies stop at nothing . . . Somebody called me a 'Man of Dubious Distinction,' which is probably true enough, but it was the guy that said it who burned me . . . I do have the distinction of being attacked on page 1 of the Daily Worker." . . . Menjou, conservatively dressed, talks along at that ratytatat pace and thinks 'The Front Page' is one of he Industry's great pictures . . . "But wait till you see 'State of the Union' he adds, "now there's a magnificent picture."

Autoists Get Tickets on '47 License Tags

If you get caught driving with 1947 tags on your car you'd better hope the cop is in a good mood.

For he can charge you with any one of three charges and it can cost you as much as $25 collateral or as little as $10.

If the charge is operating on dead tags the collateral is $25. If he gives you a break and charges you with failure to obtain District tags it costs $15. And if he gives you an even better break and the charge is operating without District tags the collateral is only $10.

Police officials said the charge is left to the discretion of the officer whose judgment is expected to be guided by circumstances.

When the dealine for 1947 tags expired at 12:01 a. m. yesterday, police were notified to hand tickets to all drivers of cars not bearing the new 1948 tags.

Police precincts reported a total of 10 arrests on tag charges yesterday. However, motorcycle police attached to the traffic division presumably ticketed a number of parked cars bearing old tags. How many of these tickets were handed out was not immediately available.

Last minute shoppers bought 1757 sets of tags yesterday.

Va. Papers to Have Advertising Parley

Natural Bridge, Va., April 1 (AP). Representatives of Virginia newspapers will attend the Old Dominion Advertising Conference to be held here Saturday and Sunday under sponsorship of the Virginia Press Association's advertising committee.

A program of addresses and round-table conference has been arranged by the committee of which Dean Proctor of Roanoke is chairman.

Hospitalization Is Urged for Alcoholics

Acute alcoholics in Montgomery County should be hospitalized at county expense "for a few days" before being jailed, Dr. J. W. Bird, president of the Montgomery County Medical Society, told the county commissioners yesterday.

Appearing at a regular board of commissioners session, the physician warned it is a "dangerous" practice to jail all drunks immediately.

In the past two years, he said, he had performed post mortems on two men who had been locked up for drinking and who died in jail from exhaustion. Prompt treatment, he said, might have saved their lives.

Dr. Dexter Bullard, Rockville physician, suggested two specially constructed and now infrequently used rooms at Suburban Hospital be used for the purpose. He said the rooms had been built for psychiatric patients.

The commissioners took the suggestions under advisement.

Sailor Sentenced

Robert M. DeBolt, 18, a sailor stationed at the Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, yesterday in Montgomery Circuit Court received an 18-month sentence in the Maryland House of Correction on charges of "unnatural sex practices" involving a 14-year-old boy last December 6.

VA to Meet Loss Of 1300 Doctors

By Sam Stavisky
Post Reporter

Dr. Paul Magnuson, Veterans Administration medical director yesterday disclosed a plan to solve the VA hospital system's most urgent problem: how to replace 1300 doctors due to quit the summer.

The medical men who are leaving are on loan from Army and Navy. The military services paid for their medical education during the war, and they'll be finishing up two years' service to the Government via VA.

The outgoing military doctors will be replaced by three-year resident physicians, under a plan approved by the American Medical Association, according to the VA medical chief.

How Plan Will Work

A resident is a doctor who having finished [illegible] internship and is qualified [illegible]ctice general medicine, takes up five years of intensive study to become a specialist. He must spend three years as a resident with a certified hospital and two years practicing under a certified specialist.

To help VA out of a predicament, and at the same time broaden opportunities for residents, AMA will permit would-be specialists to serve their final two years with a VA hospital, practicing under the supervision of certified consultants.

Salaries up to $7000

VA already has a residency program covering the first three years of the specialty apprenticeship period. Residents participating in the advanced program are eligible for salaries ranging from $4100 to $7000 a year.

Success of the plan will forestall the necessity of closing down hundreds of beds, Dr. Magnuson pointed out. VA's 126 hospitals already have been forced to keep 3000 beds idle, mainly because of personnel shortage.

Dr. Magnuson also disclosed that out of 87,000 doctors participating in the VA medical program—half the Nation's physicians—only 28 has been uncovered whose criminal or unethical actions in dealing with veterans have required action through the district attorney's office or the American Medical Association.

No Charges

3 Still Held In Hunt for Bank Loot

Alexandria police continued grilling three suspects yesterday in the search for $18,000 still unaccounted for in a theft last June from Alexandria First National Bank.

David A. Briggs, former bank janitor, according to police, has admitted the theft, but he claims the money was stolen from a hiding place in his home the next day.

For the third day police concentrated their investigation on three women implicated either by Briggs or on other information.

Detective Lieut. Russell A. Hawes last night said the women continued to maintain their innocence, without substantial change in their stories.

One of the women last night had bee nheld without charge 72 hours; the other two, 48 hours. Hawes said he will either charge the women or release them shortly.

We Reprint Harry MacArthur's review as it appeared in The Evening Star.

The late, great French actor. Harry Baur, often could turn out the heaviest dramatics this side of Emil Jannings, but in "Volpone" he was having an actor's broad comedy field day. So was Louis Jouvet, another Frenchman of talent, playing Mosca to Mr. Baur's Volpone. The result of their sparring now is on display at the Hippodrome in an occasionally bawdy translation of Ben Johnson's famed play.

Mr. Johnson being an early believer in comedy which springs from character, "Volpone" was a mighty funny play. The adaptation, by a pair of modern men of literary eminence, Jules Romain and Stefan Zweig, has turned it into a mighty funny screen play. It is not for tender eyes and ears, maybe, but it still is funny.

There probably is not much point in going too deeply into a discussion of "Volpone," except for those who were over in the ag department studying animal husbandry when the class in Elizabethan drama was meeting. It still is about the Levantine miser, Volpone, who takes to his pseudo death bed so that his three questionable Venetian friends will ply him with gifts while vying for the inheritance of his wealth. He has a will in which no heir is yet named. He also has a crafty servant, Mosca, who fills each of the three with separate hope.

With Mr. Baur alternating between moaning deathbed and lusty wining and dining, his "Volpone" is broad farce. It becomes rough farce when one of the would-be heirs brings his wife over to nurse the sick man. He makes a spectacular recovery. It does him no good, however, for neither Volpone nor those seeking his wealth wind up with it. It goes in the end, to the tricky Mosca, who likes wealth only to toss it around and spread good cheer.

In support of Mr. Bauer and Mr. Jouvet, there is an excellent French cast, including a lively dish named Jacqueline Delubac.

All of these gay goings-on are performed in French, incidentally, and the English subtitles are better than usual.

8 to Take Census Of Falls Church

Court Appointees' Count to Determine If Town Has 2d Class City Population

Judge Paul E. Brown of Fairfax Circuit Court yesterday appointed eight persons to conduct a special census of the town of Falls Church.

The Town Council requested the census last month to determine whether the town has the required 5000 population to become a city of the second class.

For the purpose of the census, the town has been divided into four sections. Each section will be covered by a two-man team, consisting of one person from the town and the other from the county.

Those appointed are: From Falls Church, Mrs. Dorothy C. Adams, Mrs. Elin T. Dennis and Theodore Arrants; from the county, Mrs. Katherine King, Mrs. Jewell Dunn, John A. Flewelling and Claude Hegeley.

Town Clerk Claude M. Wells said work probably will start the first of next week and be finished in about 10 days.

Disbarred Attorney Seeks Reinstatement

Annapolis, Md., April 1 (AP).—Bernard Meyerson, disbarred Baltimore lawyer, today asked the Court of Appeals "for another chance."

Meyerson appealed from an order of the supreme bench of Baltimore last fall which dismissed his petition for reinstatement as a member of the bar.

A former Assistant United States Attorney General, Meyerson was disbarred in 1943 after he was sentenced to six months on a charge of conspiracy to commit abortion.

Meyerson, while serving as an infantry staff sergeant in Italy, was granted a "complete and unconditional pardon" by Gov. (now Senator) Herbert R. O'Conor, his attorney argued.

Now 38, Meyerson was a special Assistant Attorney General in the Department of Justice, Washington, from December, 1939, to March, 1942, he said.

He was released on probation after serving two months of the sentence in the House of Correction. In 1943 the Baltimore supreme bench voted 6-4 to disbar him.

Va. Farmers Give Ditching Machine Soil Tillage Test

Charlottesville, Va., April 1.—A new ditching machine, allocated to the Thomas Jefferson Soil Conservation District by the State Soil Conservation Committee, is undergoing initial tests in Albemarle County soil.

Available to farmers in five counties of the Thomas Jefferson District—Albemarle, Nelson, Fluvanna, Louisa and Goochland—the machine is designed for use in digging and improving draining ditches. It can also be used for altering the course of small, streams. The bed of a small, wandering stream can be filled and a new bed cut in a straight line with the machine.

So far is known, the machine has never before been used for soil conservation work. Weighing about 16 tons and costing approximately $15,000 in addition to the truck upon which it is mounted, it is rented to farmers for $11 an hour.

Cows Bring Record Price

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 1.—A record price for this area, averaging $261 a head for 34 head of cows, was paid yesterday at the public auction sale by Butler McDonald, near Shepherdstown.

The 34 grossed $8874. Most of the stock was of the large Holstein type. Highest price for a single cow was $401.

Crisis In Berlin

The Russian refusal to permit any more American, British or French supply trains to pass through the Soviet zone of occupation without inspection and the examination of all traffic on the only highway linking Berlin with the west constitute the first move in a plan to isolate Berlin from western Germany. The next move, probably, will be to declare a people's republic, and thereby present the western powers with another accomplished fact accompanied by a pointed invitation to evacuate their forces.

General Clay, the commander of the American Army of Occupation, has admitted that there is no way by which rail communications between western Germany and Berlin can be reopened except by force, which, of course, would require an armed invasion of the Soviet zone. He has, therefore, announced that for the time being the American zone in Berlin will be supplied by air over the Berlin-Frankfurt corridor. But the probability is that the Russians will seek to close the corridor as well, or at any rate to impose intolerable restrictions on the number of planes which they will permit to use it, although that would be a clear violation of the four-power agreement on the occupation of Berlin.

Thus a state of affairs has been established in which one false move or one untoward incident might conceivably provoke a general explosion. To provoke one, however, does not appear to be the Russian intention. The intention appears rather to be to maneuver the Americans into a situation in which they must inevitably suffer a serious loss of prestige. It is a riposte, and may be an effective one, for the declaration concerning Trieste.

Undivided Defense

A distressing attitude seems to be taking shape among some legislators that the country must choose between the draft, universal military training and augmented air power. One Congressman whose views lend support to this position is Representative Leo Allen, chairman of the House Rules Committee, who has consistently refused to permit the universal military training bill to come to the floor. Mr. Allen also does not believe in an immediate call of men under selective service, but he now favors setting up draft machinery to permit use on short notice "if necessary." What more does Mr. Allen need to show that the draft is necessary now? The armed forces are 300,000 men under even their authorized strength. Meanwhile, the Communists have hardly swallowed Czechoslovakia before loosing propaganda barrages against Finland and Scandinavia and taking provocative measures in Berlin.

The draft will do us no good as a war preventive if it comes only after free Europe has been engulfed. The purpose of strengthening our military power now is to buttress the western nations and give them assurance that American support is more than verbal. The first essential is to replenish our regular forces at least to their statutory level and preferably to the new level called for by Secretary Forrestal. The failure of voluntary enlistments demonstrates that this is impossible without the draft. And the draft alone will merely restore the armed forces to the minimum safe size. It will not provide for the newer and faster airplanes and guided missiles necessary in an expansion of air power. Nor will it make possible the large trained and semitrained reserve necessary if the regular forces are to be used effectively. This is possible only through UMT.

In other words, the measures now proposed to augment our defense are not alternatives, but closely interrelated units. Air power will not suffice without land and naval forces; and no amount of airplanes or weapons will be meaningful without the personnel to man them and the assurance that replacements are available. To be sure, absolute security cannot be guaranteed by any combination of measures, diplomatic or military; but even less can relative security be provided by one measure taken out of context and left hanging for want of the other measures on which it depends.

In taking prompt action on the draft, Congress will have a chance to assert itself on some necessary revisions of draft policy, especially with respect to deferment of doctors, dentists and scientists. The virtual stripping of the ranks of such professsional men was one of the weak points of the draft in World War II, and the recent talk of drafting doctors up to 45 revives the fear that this is to be repeated. Congress should insist that doctors be drafted only when there is clear need for their services, and not to piddle away their time in jobs only faintly connected with their experience.

Thanks To The House

The House of Representatives has earned the thanks of the American people for its resounding vote for the foreign aid bill. The defects in the House bill can be ironed out in conference; the first step has already been taken by striking out the rash and thoughtless inclusion of Spain. The wild and whirling words spoken on the House floor can be forgotten; they are part of the price we pay for representative government. The fact remains that the House has lived up to its trust. It has recognized, by a vote of more than 4 to 1, that this is indeed a moment for bold decisions, "a time for greatness."

Who would have dreamed a few months ago that this House—this sometimes irresponsible and misguided House—would approve the ERP in its entirety, on time, and without putting humiliating conditions on the countries of western Europe? Yet this is what the House did on Tuesday. It acted within the April 1 deadline that once seemed impossible of attainment. It resisted every vindictive and narrow-minded effort to mangle the bill by cutting its cost or cramping its usefulness.

Those who remember the votes on lend-lease or the British loan must have rubbed their eyes as they read the names of the Republicans who cast aside their old scruples and voted for this bill. Clearly there has been a great conversion here. There has been a process of education that began long before the latest eye-opening events in Prague and Berlin. Representatives Jonkman of Michigan and Dirksen of Illinois were only two of the many who made brave and honorable confessions of their own conversion. Mr. Dirksen, with characteristic courage, recalled his own part in the congressional "failure" to take international responsibilities before the war. "I am willing to share whatever responsibility I must bear for that failure," he said. "I opposed some things 10 or 11 years ago that I would certainly vote for today." He now sees the issue as the preservation of freedom, and he sees it truly.

Cynics will say that ERP was conceived in panic and hustled through the House in the near-hysteria of the past few weeks. They forget the careful planning, the exhaustive study, the hard work done by members of Congress in their travels through Europe last autumn, and the thorough debate that went into this matter long before President Truman called for military measures the other day. They forget that it was not evolved in blind anticommunism and that for the most part it was not debated in a negative or hateful spirit. Seldom has there been a finer example of the responsible, nonpartisan approach to a gigantic responsibility.

The impatient among us will say that ERP is already irrelevant; that the "cold war" has already made it secondary to bombs and aircraft as an instrument of policy. We can leave the answer to the European peoples who have been hoping and praying that this vast program could be passed in time to save them. Already the ERP has changed the moral climate of Europe, even before it has begun to operate. Already it has given hope and self-respect to nations that were sinking for the lack of those qualities. It has opened new pathways of help and cooperation to a Europe that was groping toward recovery through the wreckage of war. In passing the bill so decisively, the House has struck a blow for peace and freedom.

Negroes In The Draft

It would be easy to exaggerate the significance of the civil disobedience protest against segregation in the armed forces advocated by President A. Philip Randolph of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters. During questioning before the Senate Armed Services Committee, Mr. Randolph said that "if present policies were not changed, he would advise Negroes to refuse to bear arms in time of war. It may be surmised that Mr. Randolph intends his words more as moral pressure to be considered in draft and universal military training legislation than as a dictum to be taken seriously in the event of emergency. Nevertheless, Senators Morse and Baldwin did well, we think, to point out that such an approach would invite charges of treason in any general call to arms.

There is convincing evidence to show that segregation in the armed forces is a wasteful procedure that does not make the most efficient use of manpower. The policy of placing Negroes for the most part in separate units often has relegated them to comparatively menial jobs. There also is evidence that the fear of the disruptive effects of racial prejudice has been given too much weight. Nonsegregation has been followed in certain individual units with conspicuous success. Moreover, surveys among white combat troops showed that the feeling against serving with Negroes was low among men who had actually fought alongside them and rose in direct proportion to the remoteness of association.

These are arguments, along with the tremendous cost of duplicate facilities, for doing away with segregation in the draft and UMT. We question, however, the wisdom of attempting to achieve this by legislation. Rather, we think, it should be left to the services to implement on a steady but gradual basis, taking account of local environments which cannot be discounted entirely. Incidentally, there have been some important strides in this direction already—such as the avoidance of segregation in certain National Guard contingents and the more enlightened approach now taken by the Navy.

As for Mr. Randolph's essentially cheap appeal, we think the great majority of Negroes who have proved their loyalty so superbly in the past will see through it. The many justifiable grievances against discrimination can hardly be dispelled by setting up a double standard of loyalty. As with all other minorities, Negroes are first of all Americans. Truman K. Gibson, Negro leader and former civilian aide to the Secretary of War, put it precisely right when he said it is wrong to "bargain with patriotism."

District Taxes

Facing the prospect of a budgetary deficit next year, the District of Columbia must either reduce expenditures or increase taxes. Since departmental requests for funds have already been drastically cut, necessitating abandonment of many needed long-range capital projects, further pruning of expenditures is out of the question. The District government must, therefore, find new sources of revenue to bridge the gap between outgo and income. The prospective deficit, estimated at six million dollars, will be more than doubled if Congress approves a general pay increase for Federal and District employes, as it almost certainly will. With that prospect in mind, Representative Horan concludes that a 3 per cent general sales tax, without exemptions, is the only possible solution of the District's pressing fiscal problem.

We doubt the wisdom of levying a retail sales tax that makes no provision whatever for exemptions for the benefit of low-income families. But the case for passage of a reasonably restricted sales tax measure seems to us to be unassailable in view of the pressing need for more revenue, plus the fact that the only feasible alternatives are increases in the District income tax and in real estate taxes. The refusal of Congress to modify the present income tax law so as to make it applicable to Government employes residing in the District but claiming domicile in the States not only entails loss of revenue to which the District is entitled; it also results in a highly discriminatory form of taxation that would become more oppressive and unfair if income taxes were increased. Under these conditions it seems to us much more equitable to rely on a sales tax to provide needed revenue than to boost income tax rates.

The District's chief source of revenue—real property—is already heavily taxed. Rates were increased last year and so were assessments. Moreover, rent controls are still in force. Any substantial increase in real property tax rates would not only entail hardship for many home owners but also lead to increases in controlled rentals that would adversely affect low-income tenants. It is for such reasons that members of business organizations formerly opposed to any form of retail sales taxation have recently changed their minds and are supporting recommendations for a general 2 per cent retail sales tax. It does not appear that a restricted sales tax will supply all the funds the District needs, but we think that any reasonable revenue program will have to include a sales tax.

Educators' Boycott

Eight leading American universities that had accepted invitations to be represented at the Prague celebration of the 600th anniversary of the founding of Charles University have decided not to participate. On first thought that may seem to be unfortunate. Ordinarily the unofficial emissaries of our great institutions of learning can do a great deal to promote better international relations by making contacts with the educational leaders of other countries and gaining insight into the social and economic problems of other peoples. And these advantages might still be obtained from the Prague gathering if the recent political disturbances in Czechoslovakia had been an internal affair and if the overthrow of the former democratic regime had involved no interference with freedom of speech or deprivation of civil rights.

If American educators, for instance, could come and go freely in the countries behind the iron curtain, conferring with the scholars and the molders of public opinion, they might bring back information that would be invaluable to our foreign policy-makers. However, in countries under the Communist yoke there is no possibility of this kind of intercourse. Undoubtedly all the representatives of the Czech teaching fraternity have by this time been carefully screened, so that American professors visiting Prague would encounter only Czech professors whose views are acceptable to the new Communist regime, or muzzled and frightened professors who dare not say what they think.

Under such conditions it would be futile to journey to Prague in the hope of enlightenment. And it would be worse than futile for our universities to participate in the celebration under present conditions. For it is virtually certain that expert propagandists in the service of the Communists would cite the presence of the American educators as proof that they do not harbor unfriendly feelings toward the new political regime.

Having outgrown the columns and the saints,
the old and golden cities of the mind,
I will go and be of the blue heron's kind on islands where no epitaph laments.

Where tradewinds are begetters of palm fruit on islands deep-footed as the sea is deep,
I will lay claim to fish and crab, and sleep
the gull's sleep by the rock, the creviced root, and there await the coming of new gods who open-eyed and named, whole-born, will spring from long use of the high winds, from the ring of rain on mangrove, on the palm's curved rod.

Letters To The Editor

Signs Of Spring

Spring is here—and the first daffodil has opened its petals to a world befuddled by talk of universal military training, selective service, war, hate, distrust and everything but the feeling of new hope that is embodied in the first signs of nature's awakening.

Do you remember when spring really meant something? Do you recall when spring meant the shedding of long-handled underwear, or the first seasonal haircut, or the brand new patent leather shoes for Easter? Can you recall when newspapers had pages of pictures and articles telling the story of the first daffodil or crocus, or the feel of cool green grass beneath toes freed from shoes? Why, even austere editors used to let their hair down and really go to town on the wonders of spring.

We've had our signs of the season this year—but they've been different. Look at your newspaper, and you can draw your own weather forecast for the months ahead. The communism bugbear is ever present. There is the Trieste story, Middle Eastern oil, Palestine, strikes, politics.

It could all be so simple, if we stopped to look at the world around us—the happiness and good living so easily within our grasp. Could we but get these noble diplomats and molders of nations to remember it really is spring—a time for thinking of living and rebuilding anew—and forget their selfish aims for the destruction of mankind, perhaps things would fall into line of their own accord.

Italian Elections

Far be it from me to dispute the right of the Italians to vote as their consciences tell them in the forthcoming elections. But simple justice demands that the sweeping statements made by Ruth Clark Bliss in her letter published on March 26 be refuted.

The Pope had made no threats of excommunication as a result of voting for the Communist Party in Italy. He has warned against the evils of communism. Furthermore, it is obvious that a Catholic who embraces communism leaves the communion of the church, since he cannot be both Catholic and Communist.

The Vatican did not hail Mussolini as a "savior" from anything. Pius XI and Pius XII did not hesitate to condemn Fascist evils. Their main concern, however, has always been the safety of the souls of millions of Catholics. Despite arguments to the contrary, the Pope does not take sides in politics. Communism is not just politics; it is an active ideological force, stronger by far than nazism or fascism.

It is true that the Catholic church is the established church in Spain. But the church has made no attempt to vindicate Franco—he is merely a lesser evil than Stalin. "Clerical fascism" is a little too harsh a title for the Spanish regime. Franco may be a Fascist, but he's no cleric.

Let us be fair. The praise as well as the blame for the good and the evil of our civilization must be divided among many races and religions.

KATHLEEN M. FENTON.

Our Government is doing everything it can to make the Italian people vote the way we want them to in the coming election. We bribe them with Trieste. We threaten them with the loss of ERP aid. We hold our warships in readiness to land Marines if they show signs of going Communist. And then we accuse the Russians of interfering with free elections.

Medical Insurance

An article in your issue of March 26 stated that several private hospitals in Washington may be closed, unless the District begins paying bills for charity patients. I cannot resist asking the obvious question.

If we cannot now afford to pay out of taxes the hospitalization costs for the 5 per cent of the people who are indigent, how can we possibly expect to pay not only for the hospitalization but also for the medical care of 100 per cent of the people as recommended under the Dingell-Murray-Wagner bill?

"Object Lesson"

Regarding the Alsop column of March 26, "Object Lesson" I think you owe it to Americans generally to champion quickly the undoubted loyalty of Jewish Americans, despite the brash, ill-considered and damaging statement attributed to Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, whose frenzy over Palestine politics seems to have him in a dither.

"Excuses For Theft"

Your March 28 editorial condemning the courageous action of Justice Holtzoff in suspending the sentence of a bank teller convicted of embezzlement, on the ground that his low salary invited the theft, was both ill-conceived and ill-timed.

Theft, as your editorial writer says, is indeed "a crime against society that cannot be lightly condoned." I note that the embezzler in this case was indeed found guilty. Certainly that blemish on his record cuts short whatever career he may have planned in banking. But Justice Holtzoff, with great and commendable courage all too rarely found in our courts, looked behind the simple facts in the case to unearth a banking practice which few citizens realize still existed. Certainly it is difficult to write an editorial in defense of the bank's chief argument—that all other banks pay similar wages to men in position of trust. That is nothing but the old cry of "enough wrongs make a right."

"Anti-Poll-Tax Bill"

I am a little surprised at your sweeping editorial pronouncements of March 29 in regard to the alleged unconstitutionality of my bill to abolish the poll tax as a restriction on the right to vote in Federal elections. I believe that where The Washington Post expresses a minority view in such a matter you owe it in fairness to your readers to indicate that it is a minority view.

I am glad that you recognize that the abolition of the poll tax as a restriction on the right to vote is "an overdue reform." It is unfortunate, therefore, that you editorially champion the position of those who, as I said in my testimony on the bill before the Senate Rules Committee last week, have never faced a free election in their political lives and hate this measure the way the Devil hates holy water. It is doubly unfortunate that you should champion their position by advancing constitutional arguments which have been answered a dozen times and then fail even to suggest that the persuasiveness of those arguments has been questioned.

The truth of the matter is that all possible constitutional objections to this bill which could be devised by the gentlemen from the poll tax States, including those advanced by your editorial writer, have been thoroughly discussed four times on the floor of the House and the House has four times passed the bill with overwhelming majorities. These argument have three times been considered in detail by the Senate Committee on the Judiciary and the committee three times reported that the legislation is constitutional and should be enacted.

As long ago as 1942, in its first report on this legislation, the Senate Committee on the Judiciary demolished the contentions which are now advanced against the bill. Permit me to quote from that masterful report, submitted by the late Senator George W. Norris, on the specific point as to the qualifications of voters which you raise:

"Those who believe the proposed law is unconstitutional rely upon section 2, article 1, of the Constitution which reads as follows: 'The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second year by the people of the several States, and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature.'

"The qualification of a voter is generally believed to have something to do with the capacity of a voter. We think it will be admitted by all that no State, or State Legislature, would have the constitutional authority to disqualify a voter otherwise qualified to vote, by setting up a pretended 'qualification' that in fact has nothing whatever to do with the real qualification of the voter. No one can claim that the provision of the Federal Constitution above quoted would give a Legislature the right to say that no one should be entitled to vote unless, for instance, he had red hair, or had attained the age of 100 years, or any other artificial pretended qualification which, in fact had nothing to do with the capacity or real qualification of the voter.

"We believe there is no doubt but that the prerequisite of the payment of a poll tax in order to entitle a citizen to vote has nothing whatever to do with the qualifications of the voter, and that this method of disfranchising citizens is merely an artificial attempt to use the language of the Constitution, giving the State power to set up qualifications, by using other artificial means and methods which in fact have no relation whatever to qualifications."

The Norris report then considers the other constitutional objections which have been raised against this bill. I commend the eight and a half pages of this report to the attention of your editorial writer as one of the most able statements ever made on the constitutionality of this legislation.

My bill to abolish the poll tax in Federal elections is clearly constitutional and should be promptly considered and enacted by the Senate to restore the right to vote in Federal elections to millions of American citizens—Negro and white alike—who are now denied that right in seven poll tax States.

MacArthur's Support

MADISON, WIS.—When you ask why Gen. Douglas MacArthur's presidential candidacy has taken hold here in Wisconsin, you get a wide variety of answers. One obvious reason is that he is claimed as a native son. That sentimental appeal is heralded on billboards throughout the State.

But his popular appeal is more than that. It seems to come out of the desire for a strong man, for a leader who is above politics. It is part of what, for lack of a better name, might be called the generalissimo jitters that seems to have shaken the country.

One symptom is a kind of unhappy fatalism—a fear that war with Russia is coming and that therefore we had better have a general in the White House. This is a danger signal, it seems to me—a warning of the sad state to which our political life has sunk.

MacArthur's supporters are trading heavily on this fatalism. They talk of the super duper power of their hero, both as military man and administrator. In faraway Tokyo, MacArthur can scarcely know what they are claiming in his name. It is only fair to assume that he would be startled and shocked by some of the lurid talk.

THE ODDEST collection of individuals turns up in the MacArthur camp, including isolationists, reactionaries, shrewd politicians, idealists and those on the political fringes who skirt close to fascism. The list of contributors published here the other day included Gen. Robert E. Wood of Chicago, former head of America First, who gave $1350. Frank Gannett, Rochester, N. Y., was down for $3000. A. W. Dilling, divorced husband of Elizabeth Dilling of Red Network notoriety, was down for $100. A contributor named Robert Harriss, down for $1000, is presumed here to be the New York cotton broker who was at one time an active backer of Father Coughlin. Harriss is motoring in the West and could not be reached. At his office in New York I was told he was for MacArthur, but they could not verify whether he had made the contribution.

One of the general's most ardent followers, and a candidate for delegate-at-large on the MacArthur slate in Wisconsin, is former Gov. Philip F. La Follette. La Follette talks about the power inherent in MacArthur's personality, his genius, his brilliance.

Since La Follette served on MacArthur's staff through the ordeal of the war, his passion could be put down to simple hero worship. But those with long memories recall that he has always been attracted by power and the spectacular trappings of power. It was just 10 years ago that La Follette staged a giant rally here in Madison to launch, with gaudy flourishes, a new national party that seemed to many to be patterned after the mass Fascist parties of Europe.

NOT ONLY, Phil, as he is known throughout the State, but his son, Robert M. La Follette 3d, is active for MacArthur. The latter spoke recently at a forum at the University of Wisconsin, where a Veterans-Against-MacArthur Club is said to have 400 members. Bob the third, himself a Pacific veteran, served under MacArthur in Japan for several months.

Another MacArthur apostle is Fred R. Zimmerman, Wisconsin secretary of state and a potent vote-getter. Zimmerman, who has undergone many political transformations in his career, ran in '40 and '44 as a delegate for Thomas E. Dewey and led the ticket.

Zimmerman talks about the need to keep a Christian America and he champions MacArthur against communism. This last is a familiar line. Carl Flom, a MacArthur delegate candidate, hailed the general as the "supermilitary genius" to rally America's 70 million Christians against communism.

A great deal of this MacArthur talk seems utterly divorced from the realities of our time. The myth-making process that comes at the end of every war enters in here.

MacArthur is one of our great generals. No one questions that. But to compare the occupation of Japan with the occupation of Germany and to say that MacArthur has mastered the Communists is to ignore the facts. Under the agreed terms of occupation, the Russians were never admitted to Japan. In Korea, part of MacArthur's command, they cause as much trouble as they do in Germany.

MacArthur may win a majority of the Republican delegates in the Wisconsin primary. That will give his presidential boom a new impetus. But he will still have a long way to go for the nomination.

Tax On Nonvoters

One of the legitimate reasons assigned by apologists of the poll tax, in the seven Southern States where it is still retained, is that it is a source of revenue—used for the support of education. Judging by the percentage of potential voters that pay the poll tax to exercise their voting privilege, the tax is not a very successful source of revenue. In the presidential election of 1940 only about 30 per cent of the voters came to the polls in the Southern States.

If the opposition to the anti-poll-tax bill in the Senate is based on the revenue argument, as would seem from a recent statement of Senator Russell of Georgia, why not amend the bill to provide for a tax upon eligible voters who abstain from voting? Australia imposes a fine on citizens who do not vote in federal elections. As a result, its voting record is over 90 per cent—higher than in any other democratic country.

Why not experiment with this device here to make democracy work better?

'Look Homeward'

A Communication

The Washington Post's editorial of March 21, "Look Homeward," prompts the following comment. Indeed the ability and, more urgently, the willingness of public opinion to look homeward with clear vision was never more vital to the Nation's destinies than in these dies irae.

The United States is now engaged and committed in "selling" its form of government and its philosophy of life to the rest of a world still partially paralyzed from the effects of more than four years of planetary war.

In this world-wide high-pressure salesmanship, judging by the language employed, moral and ethical values are considered precisely as any other merchandise, advertised and promoted as such. It would, therefore, appear to be of the utmost importance, in trying to grasp the realities of the present world crisis to "look homeward" for a just conception of the values offered—in other words to importune ". . . some power the giftie gie us To see oursels as ithers see us."

EVEN THOUGH we believe that what we have to sell is universally desirable and worth the price, how does the world market appraise our merchandise? Our advertising in print and over the air has been prodigious. Does it carry conviction abroad?

No matter how valuable or desirable our wares may appear to us after several generations of use and abuse, may there not be some understandable sales resistance, let us say, in China, in Japan, in Italy, Greece, the redoubtable nations of Scandinavia, in Finland, in Latin-America, and even in the constituent Dominions of a dwindling British Empire?

We will leave out of consideration for the moment that vast area of the world's surface which, with its 400 or more millions of humanity, comes in one way or another under the dominance or influence of a great power whose theory of government and philosophy of life have little or nothing in common with our own, except in the one respect of protestations. Both the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics profess to be the exponents of true democracy and each goes into the world market carrying the battle cry—or the selling point—of liberation. We cannot rightly judge the impression elsewhere of Russian example but we can, if we value the truth and desire to reach a sense of realities as divorced from propaganda—we can "look homeward" and profit thereby.

NEVER FORGET that we live and move behind no iron curtain, not even a curtain of theatrical gauze, and that by daily acres of print mailed or cabled overseas and by the myriad commercial voices which permeate the atmosphere our national, local and personal affairs enjoy the immunity of the proverbial goldfish.

This is as we would have it, indeed a publicity which we proclaim as eminently desirable. "Freedom of the press, unrestricted utterance, the enormous fabric of public relations, these we broadcast as an essential element in the democracy we are selling. But we must realize that the whole of the reading and listening world is holding ringside seats at our continuous performance.

So, when the Daughters of the Revolution bar one of the world's greatest contraltos from singing in Constitution Hall in our National Capital because of the color of her skin, the attentive wonders how that, only one of innumerable corresponding instances of discrimination, measures up to the Declaration of Independence or to the North American Constitution on which his own is molded and for which the Daughters' exclusive hall was named.

SIMILARLY, when a Democratic candidate for the Presidency of the United States was defeated mainly because of his religion, the educated Italian is puzzled to reconcile such a paradox with the generations of sales talk about religious tolerance in our democratic merchandise. Another generation has come to voting age in the market nations since Alfred Emanuel Smith lost his election in 1928, but today's newspapers, periodicals and broadcasts spread abroad the defection of eight Southern States from their Democratic standard-bearer because, forsooth, he is so consistent a Democrat as to proclaim equality of political opportunity south of the Mason-Dixon line.

Again, as The Washington Post editorial so clearly emphasizes, how can impoverished or devastated communities—Japan and Finland for example—which believe in contributive work as a basis of citizenship, reconcile the current strikes of coal miners, and workers in other industries essential for domestic well-being, with international advertising which stresses coal as part of the implementation of the Marshall Plan?

Hearing, at the same time with the news of wholesale tax reductions, of the enormous budgets to be allocated to military use, a true citizen of any nationality must wonder desperately how these United States can, to quote from your editorial, proceed with "business as usual and strikes as usual" and still advertise "the immense and costly obligations we have assumed."

IN SHORT, is it not possible to see, in the long look homeward from foreign lands what The Washington Post stressed as "a depressing lack of awareness of the need for discipline and self-sacrifice if we are to meet our obligations." In other words, profiting by the power given to us to see ourselves as others perceive our ruling motives, how can we expect impoverished or devastated—or, indeed occupied or "liberated" national communities—to accept our advertising when the facts supplied them week by week are often so completely at variance from the sales talk?

LOOKING homeward, therefore, from these geographically widely distributed market communities, hoping for a better way of life, can we not understand a respectable degree of sales resistance on the part of the customers? Are they not in some measure justified in questioning the value of merchandise in which the selling agency apparently either does not wholly believe or does not itself use? Why buy expensive imported goods solely on advertising without substantiating demonstration? Even the Fuller Brush man on your doorstep only expects a sale after convincing his prospect demonstrably that his goods actually will work as stated.

The simple and eternal truth is that true democracy, like the few other priceless values in personal or communal life, can never be bought or sold. Our approach in commercial terms has been unfortunate."

But true democracy can so be made by example to radiate over a bewildered world that it will be desired and adopted, cherished and defended. TVA has not only electrified the valley of the Tennessee. It has inspired the world—one clean example of democracy at work.

County School Bonds, Boost In Taxes Urged

The Silver Spring Board of Trade yesterday asked the Montgomery County Commissioners to issue a three-million-dollar bond issue to expand the county school system after July 1.

The trade body also asked that the property tax rate be increased to amortize the county's indebtedness.

Issuance of the bonds after July 1 was urged to avoid adding further to the county's indebtedness during this fiscal year.

An additional 4900 school enrollment is expected during the next two years, Richard Carpenter, assistant superintendent of schools, said. The bonds would be issued to build additional schools and to improve existing facilities.

The decision climaxed three hours of debate. The board reversed a previous stand by its board of directors that the bonds be issued before July 1 after a plea by County Supervisor Irving McNayr.

McNayr said Moody's Investors' Service had advised against issuance of the bonds before July 1. McNayr pointed out that a bond issue of $2,800,000 was authorized last October. That, plus the new issue, would bring the total in this fiscal year to $5,800,000. McNayr advised against it.

Carpenter suggested, however, that county residents be given the privilege of holding a referendum on the desirability of issuing the bonds. There was no action on the referendum suggestion.

Congressional Junkets Hit By Kefauver

Representative Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.) yesterday chided his congressional colleagues for making too many useless junkets at public expense, and for holding "vaudeville show" investigations.

He recommended that Congress remedy its own abuses by abolishing all special committees, and setting up a top-level policy group to pass on trips and investigations.

The Tennessee Democrat also urged adoption of a rule "clearly guaranteeing to witnesses before congressional investigations the right to a reasonable period of cross examination of their accusers."

Headline Hunting Hit

In denouncing "headline-hunting congressional hearings," he remarked that the House Un-American Activities Committee headed by Represantaive J. Parnell Thomas (R., N. J.) is a group that does little to maintain the prestige of Congress."

Kefauver aired his views in an article published in the current issue of American Magazine.

"I would be the last man in the world to want to curtail the activities of Congress in pursuing useful investigations," he said.

"But it is time to cut out this business of winking an eye at useless travels to sunny and pleasant climes which already have been investigated to death."

Kefauver said the House and Senate voted 31 special investigations last year, and authorized an outlay of nearly 2 million dollars in expense money for them.

200 On Junkets

By last fall, he said, nearly 200 Congressmen were traveling abroad "visiting points ranging from Berlin to Tokyo, Tripoli to Baghdad, Paris to Istanbul."

Kefauver said Panama and Hawaii are favorite stamping grounds for congressional "investigators."

Kefauver emphasized that some congressional trips are very useful. He cited as an example the European travels last summer of the special House Committee on Foreign Aid, headed by Representative Christian A. Herter (R., Mass.).

But he said that "of 14 House groups which went a-traveling during the first session of Congress, only 7 of them, as late as mid-January, had got around to filing reports."

Tax Bill Veto And Vote on It Are Due Today

By The Associated Press

Whether or not American income taxpayers will get a reduction this year may be known by tonight. And the odds favor a cut despite increased spending for defense.

President Truman's veto of the $4,800,000,000 tax reduction bill will go to Congress at noon today, a White House conference of Administration and congressional leaders decided yesterday.

Senate and House leaders said a vote will begin immediately to uphold or reject the veto. A two-thirds majority is needed to override it.

(The House vote on final passage of the tax cut bill was 289 to 66—52 more than a two-thirds majority. The Senate vote was 78 to 11.)

The President's Calling List

The Michigan Convention

AS THE shadow of danger lengthens over the country and the world, the presidential prospects of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg proportionally improve. When people are in a fix, they naturally look to a man of stature and experience to get them out. But it is also important to note that the practical likelihood of Vandenberg's getting the Republican nomination at Philadelphia is increasing equally with the Vandenberg sentiment.

The State convention of Michigan Republicans, which is due to take place as these words are printed, should be an important development in the Vandenberg candidacy. The Senator himself has no part in this, of course. He has twice publicly urged Republicans of his home State to choose some other candidate. He has more recently told the State's national committeeman, Arthur Summerfield, that he was entirely free to organize Michigan for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, as Summerfield was briefly inclined to try to do.

Yet Senator Vandenberg's decidedly active refusal to connive at his own candidacy has, in the end, failed to discourage his supporters. Summerfield and the other Michigan leaders are expected to adopt a peculiar expedient at their Sate meeting. Unless something goes very wrong, they will send a delegation to Philadelphia uncommitted to any candidate. At the same time, they will adopt a resolution at the State convention declaring their hearty support for Senator Vandenberg for any office in the land. And in the early balloting at the national convention at Philadelphia, their uncommmitted delegates will probably cast their votes for Vandenberg without placing him formally in nomination.

THIS CURIOUS and rather complex device is obviously intended to keep the Vandenberg candidacy thoroughly alive without risking another of Senator Vandenberg's entirely sincere appeals to let his candidacy die. It is difficult to see what the Senator can do about it. And it is very easy to see that in the present circumstances the device may prove singularly effective.

The truth is that practical political considerations, as well as the danger of the world situation, are giving extra impetus to the drive for Vandenberg for President. Specifically, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has two tests ahead, in Wisconsin and Nebraska, where he has a great deal to lose and not very much to gain. If Dewey does lose, the real gainer will be Vandenberg.

The Wisconsin primary on April 6 will be watched with desperate attention by all national political leaders. The State organization, plus former Gov. Philip La Follette, plus William Randolph Hearst and Col. Robert R. McCormick, plus the whole strange fringe of voters who follow Hearst and McCormick, have lined up for General of the Army Douglas MacArthur.

This is strange and pretty unappetizing company. But the fact remains that the dopesters believe MacArthur will leave Dewey a very poor second in Wisconsin. If Dewey receives a setback in Wisconsin, and if the dopesters are also correct that the outlook is bad for him in Nebraska, his candidacy will be pretty badly damaged.

The New York Governor will still be likely to go to Philadelphia with much the largest single block of delegates. But he will be in danger of lacking that margin of pulling power which the aura of success inevitably confers. To take a very simple example, if Dewey wins in Wisconsin and Nebraska, it will be tempting for National Committeeman Summerfield to yield again to his inclination to swing the Michigan delegates dramatically to the New Yorker. But if Dewey loses in these two States, it will not be tempting, because Michigan support will not assure Dewey's nomination.

IF DEWEY seems unable to make the grade, however, only two candidates will remain, except the darkest dark horses, who represent the forces of modernity in the Republican Party. These candidates will be Vandenberg and Harold Stassen. Stassen is too much disliked by the organizations to have more than an outside chance himself.

He has already signified that if he cannot get the nomination, he wants it to go to Vandenberg. The same almost certainly holds true of Dewey.

There remains the possibility that a MacArthur victory in Wisconsin, plus a resounding defeat of Stassen by Senator Robert A. Taft in the Ohio primary, will give great strength to the more conservative and backward-looking Republicans. Of these, the chief are Speaker Joseph Martin and Senator Taft, for whom McArthur is unquestionably serving, in effect, as a sort of flamboyant stalking horse. But the truth is that if the nomination of a Taft or a Martin seems at all likely, the more modern-minded Republicans, now divided and disorganized, will probably coalesce in last-ditch opposition. A stop-Taft movement will need a candidate of its own, of course.

Again, Vandenberg is the natural choice. Altogether it is well for the Republicans, and for the country that the rumors about the Senator's health are now known to be utterly without foundation. He can serve, and if genuinely drafted he will serve.

1948 Rent Control Law Now Effective

By Murrey Marder
Post Reporter

Inquiries about the new 1948 Rent Control Act which yesterday became effective throughout the country, except for the District of Columbia, yesterday started to pour into area rent offices.

Primarily, the law authorizes the signing of leases with increases ranging up to 15 per cent if the leases extend through December 31, 1949. Leases made under last year's law, which had to run through December 31, 1948, are protected under the new law until March 31, 1949.

While most apartment house operators said they were not yet prepared to make announcements about extending present leases, Morris Miller, operator of several Montgomery County developments, said he was ready to extend leases he authorized last year for 10 per cent rent increases.

Miller controls the 244-unit Spring Garden development and the 165-unit Spring Knolls development, both on Eastern ave. between Georgia ave. and 16th st. extended, and several smaller developments.

All but 40 tenants at Spring Garden and 55 at Spring Knolls signed through December 31, 1948 with 10 per cent increases, Miller said, and he will extend these leases through December 31, 1949, if tenants desire.

The District of Columbia is under separate legislation, effective to the end of this month. A revision and extension of rent controls here is now under consideration.

Chairmen of the two suburban rent advisory boards, which can recommend either a decontrol of rents in their area or a general rise in rent levels, said they would call meetings in the near future to consider issues raised by the new rent law.

Fred N. Windridge is chairman of the advisory board for the Arlington-Alexandria-Fairfax-Quantico area, and Harry A. L. Barker heads the board which includes Prince Georges and Montgomery Counties.

In November the latter board recommended a continuance of controls and pronounced the rent level adequate. The suburban Virginia board, in October, also recommended continued controls, but made no comment on rent levels.

The Arlington-Alexandria-Fairfax-Quantico area last year recorded one of the country's highest percentages of leases signed under the 1947 rent law, 9458 out of 40,500 housing units. I. Chance Buchanan, area rent director there, pointed out yesterday that 3400 of these leases were in three large developments, Colonial Village, Arlington Village, and Buckingham.

GI Home Loan Program Seen Near Collapse

By The Associated Press

The American Legion yesterday said the GI home loan program is on the verge of collapse.

Walter E. Alessandroni of Philadeelphia, chairman of the Legion's national housing committee, said the number of GI loans had tumbled almost 40 per cent in the last five months.

A Veterans' Administration spokesman said the agency had received sporadic reports that the GI home loan market was drying up.

"Out of the dozens of banks and loan agencies in Washington, D. C., that used to make such loans, only two still do so," he said.

"We are receiving similar reports from many other cities."

(A spot check yesterday afternoon of 10 Washington building and loan associations showed that eight still accept applications for GI home loans and only two said they did not. The local associations "are more selective" these days on applications than heretofore, according to F. Willson Camp, secretary of the District of Columbia Building and Loan League, who made the check at The Washington Post's request.)

Lenders have been unable, since last June to resell GI loans to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Alessandroni said in a statement:

"The lack of a secondary market to assume the obligation for accumulative GI loans means that at the very time when construction is booming, veterans are being boycotted from the housing market.

"The American Legion urges the restoration of an adequate government secondary market which will enable veterans to make use of the housing rights guaranteed them by law."

VA said GI home loan applications approved for guarantee averaged about 50,000 a month last summer. In September they reached the peak of 52,713. Totals since then: October, 48,604; November, 46,416; December, 38,476; January, 32,778; February, 32,621.

Apartment House Rent Hike Plea Protested by Tenants

Rent Examiner Dennis K. Lane yesterday heard residents of an apartment at 1437 Rhode Island ave. nw., protest a rent increase asked by the Rhode Island Avenue Corp., owners.

At the beginning of the hearing, Charles P. Medford, of the B. F. Saul Co., agent, stated that the owners would ask a hike of no more than 7 per cent. Original request was for a boost of about 15 per cent on units which range from $41.50 to $69.50.

Tenants protested any hike on grounds that services were inadequate and the building in poor condition. Downey Rice, attorney for the tenants, moved that the owner's petition be dismissed on grounds that no increases were askned on two of the units. Lane denied the motion and took the case under advisement.

D. C. Gas Net Doubled in Two Months

By S. Oliver Goodman

Net income of Washington Gas Light Co. more than doubled in the first two months this year, according to the report filed yesterday with Public Utilities Commission.

Factors were colder weather, full natural gas operation this year, more customers and an extra day in February.

Net income soared to $427,845 in February, an increase of $277,660 over the same 1947 month. Operating revenues of $1,998,239 were $431,598 higher while operating expenses of $1,504,914 were up $135,792. Gas sales totaled 21,273,523 therms for the month, a February record and 34 per cent higher than in like 1947 month.

For the first two months, net aggregated $682,327 for an upsurge of $345,802 over the same 1947 period. Operating revenues of $3,894,510 were $864,485 higher while operating expenses of $3,085,213 were up $496,376. Meters in service in the District of Columbia increased to 170,882 as of February 29, a gain of 2,149 for the 12 months.

MAPPING THE FUTURE: For the first time, the annual report of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway contains a map showing both its own and the New York Central's Tracks. Stockholders are informed that C. & O. holds 6.2 per cent of outstanding New York Central stock. The Interstate Commerce Commission is still debating whether Robert R. Young, C. & O. chairman, and Robert J. Bowman, its president, can sit on the New York Central board of directors.

LIQUIDATION: Common stockholders of the American Co., Washington, were notified yesterday that a $60-a-share liquidating amount is being paid. This first payment will be made at the trust department of Liberty National Bank. Certificates presented will be indorsed and returned to holders to await possible further payments. There are 3613 shares of common stock outstanding. The preferred stock was redeemed on February 1. Dissolution of the American Co., a real estate finance firm, was voted by shareholders on November 7, 1947.

CRITICISM: The SEC yesterday criticized certain investment firms for issuing "misleading" charts which give a "ballooning" distortion of their performance. These companies, it was said, had magnified results of their management by adding dividends to the investors' costs of investment. Also, "in nearly all cases" the period covered by the charts is "arbitrarily selected to cover favorable stock market levels," the SEC contended.

ODD LOTS: New type of men's nylon shirts ($8.95 each) doesn't require ironing after washing, maker claims . . . Dun & Bradstreet says new incorporations in February totaled 7873, or 28.4 per cent fewer than January's and compared with 9111 new charterings in February, 1946 . . . Civil engineering construction awards in the United States boomed to a new postwar record of $218,784,000 in week ended April . . . Auto output this week is estimated by Automotive News at 99,679 units, against 101,927 last week . . . Institute of Life Insurance reports there were 549 legal reserve life insurance companies in this country on January 1, compared with 509 a year ago and 463 at the start of 1946.

CREDIT OFF: Consumer credit declined in volume during February for the second consecutive month, the Federal Reserve Board reports. A 117-million-dollar drop in February was attributed to seasonal factors—contraction of charge account debt and of credit for installment buying of home furnishings. The February decline dropped total credit outstanding for retail buying to $12,929,000,000.

EARNINGS: United Cigar-Whelan Stores Corp. reported net profits of $1,277,280 for 1947, compared with $2,204,268 in 1946. Net sales totaled $78,279,231, against $79,288,902 in 1946. Other income reports follow:

Profit Taking Turns Stock Trend Uneven

New York, April 1 (AP).—Large-scale profit cashing on the sharpest month's recovery in two years stemmed the rising tide in today's stock market although many leaders overrode this handicap with fair success.

Numerous professionals shelved accounts on the idea the lengthy upswing called for at least a technical correction. Labor disputes and disturbing international affairs inspired further caution. Thoughts of reinstated Federal controls for industry proved a restraint.

Buying again was attributed mainly to inflationary implications of big Government spending for rearmament and European relief.

Hopes for tax cuts and settlement of the coal mining walkout were helpful. The Wall Street strike still failed to interfere seriously with exchange operations.

Dealings were liveliest and prices lowest in the forenoon. There were subsequent comebacks but mild irregularity ruled at the close.

Transfers of 1,490,000 shares for the full proceedings compared with 1,780,000 the day before and were among the year's tops.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .1 of a point at 65.3, another peak since January 12.

At highs for the year were Union Pacific, which finished up 2 at 170 and Texas Pacific Coal & Oil, up 1¾ at 49. Allied Chemical advanced 2¾ at 186.

New York Cotton

New York, April 1 (AP).—Cotton futures closed strong today at gains of $1.10 to $2.40 a bale. Active spot house demand for the old crop deliveries, in connection with sales of cotton to China, and sharply higher estimates of that country's purchases developed a broad covering movement in futures. Some traders also fel that increased military appropriations in prospect would stimulate demand for cotton textiles.

THORNTON W. OWEN,
LEON TOBRINER,
Liquidating Committee for The American Company.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, April 1 (AP).—Grains moved up rapidly in the closing minutes today and ended with good advances. Turnover was small until the last 30 minutes, when volume expanded sharply as prices pushed ahead. Corn scored largest gains.

Several factors helped the market. Wheat was bought when it became known the Government wanted offers of flour for export. A strong cash grain demand helped corn. More wet weather in Midwestern States caused buying in oats.

Wheat on the Board of Trade closed 3 to 3½ higher, May 2.44¾@2.44½; corn was 2⅛-5½ higher, May 2.21@2.21½; oats were 1⅛-3¼ higher, May 1.12⅝@1.12¾, and soybeans were 5 to 7 cents higher, May 3.73@3.74.

The Production and Marketing Administration, Government flour-buying agency, asked for flour offers within an hour after the market closed. Acceptances will be sent to mills before the opening tomorrow. The flour is wanted for April shipment to Gulf of Mexico ports.

Kaiser-Frazer Nets 19 Million

Kaiser-Frazer Corp. stockholders were told yesterday the company is "well under way."

In the annual report Henry J. Kaiser, chairman, and Joseph W. Frazer, president, said the 1946 loss from costs of getting into the automobile business "was practically recovered in our first full year of production."

From net sales of $260,132,988 last year, it said, the company realized consolidated net profit of $19,015,678, equal to $4 a common share. This compared with loss of $19,284,681 in 1946.

The report said net worth incresed from $34,048,872 to $58,299,550 during 1947, and that working capital was up from $11,817,346 to $26,545,420 during the period.

Discussing supply problems, Kaiser and Frazer said: "in our first year, as a newcomer in the automotive field, we met wth great difficulty in finding suppliers who could or would sell to us. In the past year, we have demonstrated to them that we are in business to stay, and today they are seeking our business."

Robbed of $2000 On Way to Bank, Store Clerk Says

Sir Hubert Wilkins Reports Wallet Stolen in Hotel

A grocery clerk, a British explorer and a would-be whisky purchaser yesterday told police they were victimized by bandits and thieves to the tune of more than $2500 collectively.

Wilkins

Under investigattion by police last night was a report by Charles De Board, 22, 1608 Quarles st. ne., clerk in the Safeway store at 717 11th st. nw., that he was forced to yield $2000 in cash receipts to a robber at 2 p.m. when on his way to the bank.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, British scientist and explorer, reported his wallet with $220 in bills and $425 in checks was missing from his room at the Hotel Annapolis, 1111 H st. nw.

Charles E. Yost, 52, 709 Brookwood rd., Baltimore, staying at the Commodore Hotel; North Capitol and E sts., said a man who had promised to get whisky, vanished with his $342 bank roll late Wednesday.

Holdup Described

The Safeway clerk said he was walking on G st. at 9th st. nw., a canvas bag containing the $2000 tucked under his arm, when a youth bumped him from behind and ordered: "Keeping walking and you won't get hurt."

De Board, who said he was on his way to deposit the store's money at McLachlen Banking Corp., 10th and G sts. nw., reported the bandit, with "his hand in his pocket as though he had a gun," ordered him into an alley between 9th and 10th sts. and there relieved him of the bag.

The clerk described the robber as about 25 years old, 5 feet 6 tall, brown hair, wearing a yellow sports shirt and green topcoat.

Wallet Gone from Room

Sir Hubert told Police Pvt. R. A. Jordan he had placed his wallet on a table in his room before retiring Wednesday night. He said he went down to the hotel desk yesterday morning, discovered he did not have his wallet, returned to his room to find it had vanished.

The wallet contained drivers license and personal papers as well as money, said Sir Hubert, who gave his premanent address as 37 West 53d st., New York City.

Yost said he gave $2 to a man in the 1000 block of 7th st. nw. for whiskey. The man later returned, asked for more money. As Yost flipped his bankroll, the Baltimore visitor said, the man punched him in the face, snatched the money and fled.

Glenn Dale Move Fought By Patients

Ten tubercular women patients at Freedmen's Hospital who refused to be moved to Glenn Dale Sanatorium may be disowned by the District today.

Health Officer George C. Ruhland, exasperated by the patients' insistence that the District Commissioners answer their plea to remain in the Federal hospital, asked Corporation Counsel Vernon E. West to rule on legality of:

1. "Withholding payments on the patients . . ."
2. "Summary and forcible transfer of the patients."

West refused to give an offhand opinion by telephone, but promised to furnish one by morning.

Can Refuse to Pay

Other sources said, however, that there is no doubt that the District can refuse to pay the $10.20 daily for each patients which Freedmen's charges. There were 47 tubercular patients at Freedmen's yesterday. supported by District funds. All are to be moved eventually to the District sanatorium near Laurel, Md.

No decision is expected for several days on the District's right to use force in removing the patients to Glenn Dale. It is expected that the Commissioners will try to avoid that issue if possible.

Despite District refusal to pay for the bedridden patients, their continued treatment by Freedmen's, at least temporarily, appeared assured last night.

Treatment to Go On

Herman A. Johnson, assistant superintendent, declared treatment would continue "although it may involve unauthorized use of Federal funds."

"As long as they stay we'll have to feed and treat them," he said. "We can't turn them out into the street. We are still responsible for their medical care."

The patients are not paupers, he said. "They just can't afford extended hospital treatment."

Freedmen's medical staff was reported to be opposed to moving the patients. They feared the shock would retard recovery, and declared medical men recommended that tubercular patients be treated continuously by the same physician.

Commissioner Guy Mason, after conferences with West and Ruhland, said he expected to get part of the legal opinion today and that no further action would be taken until the Commissioners approve.

D. C. Catholic War Veterans Convene Today

M. J. May, past commander of the James T. Brady Post, Catholic War Veterans, will serve as general hcairman of CWV District Department's seventh annual convention here today and Saturday.

The convention opens at 6 p. m. today at the Hamilton Hotel, David J. Bowman, department commander, said yesterday. A memorial mass will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at St. Mathew's Cathedral. Department Chaplain Rev. Francis J. Lauriola, of St. John's Parish, Forest Glen, Md., will celebrate the mass.

After a business session at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Hamilton, the convention will close with a military ball at 10 p. m. at the Burlington Hotel. More than 150 members are expected to attend.

Correction

In Alexandria, the Capt. Edward A. Duff Post, Catholic War Veterans, will hold their annual Communion breakfast at 10 a. m. Sunday at the George Mason Hotel. Associate Justice Matthew F. McGuire, of the United States District Court, and Max H. Sorenson, national commander of the Catholic War Veterans, will speak.

Due to a typographical error, The Washington Post yesterday in a headline above the story referred to the event as a communism breakfast. The Washington Post regrets the error.

Delmarva Broiler Area Production Increases

College Park, Md., April 1 (AP).—The number of chicks placed and hatched in the Delmarva broiler area showed increases last week, the crop reporting service said today.

There were 2,086,100 set, an increase of 5 per cent over the previous week, and 1,940,000 hatched an increase of 7 per cent.

The number of eggs set last week totaled 2,902,044, 3 per cent more than last week, and the largest total for any week since the first of the year.

Drunk Driver Fined

Calvin Genies, 23, Darnestown, Md., yesterday was fined $100 in Rockville police court on a drunken driving charge. He also was ordered to pay a $25 fine on a hit-and-run charge involving another automobile on March 13.

Building Crafts Quit in Charleston

Charleston, W. Va., April 1 (U.P.). Building construction in the Charleston area came to a virtual halt today as members of 19 unions left their jobs at the expiration of their contract.

The men demanded increases ranging between 25 and 50 cents an hour. The Charleston Contractors Association countered with an offer of 12½ cents an hour.

State Labor Commissioner Charles J. F. Sattler offered the services of his office in the dispute.

Last year, a similar strike lasted several weeks.

The walkouts came in the midst of one of the biggest building booms in the city's history. Two large-scale construction jobs in downtown Charleston as well as many home-building projects were affected.

Appeals Court to Hear Hagerstown Cellar Case

Annapolis, Md., April 1 (AP).—An argument over a flooded cellar in Hagerstown reached the Court of Appeals today.

Jacob A. and Mildred K. Biberman asked the court to reverse a lower court decree which ordered them to keep water from their place from draining into a neighbor's cellar.

Richard N. and Janet K. Funkhouser, who live next to the Bibermans on the Terrace, argued that their "cellar was flooded at least six times in less than a year."

The Bibermans appealed from a Washington County Circuit Court decree enjoining them "from permitting the water and dirt from their property to drain over and upon" the Funkhousers' property.

Va. Poll to Continue On Newspaper Probe

Richmond, Va., April (AP).—The Virginia Press Association will continue its poll of members of the House of Delegates for their personal views on a House resolution calling for an investigation of Richmond Newspapers, Inc., President Raymond Davis said today.

This followed announcement by the State Corporation Commission yesterday that it was without authority to undertake an investigation of Richmond's two newspapers as directed in a resolution passed by the House.

Moving Day

Hope Seen For Stanton School Plan

Education Budget Not Likely to Be Cut, Horan Says After Hearing

Representative Walt Horan (R., Wash.) yesterday voiced strong interest in the Stanton School building project which the Commissioners cut from the school construction program for next year.

Horan is chairman of the House District Appropriations Subcommittee which yesterday heard Superintendent Hobart M. Corning and other school officials testify in executive session about their spending needs for the 12 months starting July 1.

"There's not very much chance of cutting the school budget," said Horan after the hearing.

Oxon Run Site Studied

In fact, he said, considerable attention was given to the advisability of the Stanton School project, coupled with the $20,000 budget item for purchase of a new elementary school site in the vicinity of Oxon Run se.

The School Board also asked for the Oxon Run site as one of 19 they thought should be bought next year. It was the only one the Commissioners approved.

The school board also asked for $250,000 to start construction of a 16-room Stanton School replacement building near Good Hope and Naylor rds. se. The whole project was estimated to cost $631,000. Stanton now has two buildings—a four-room structure built in 1903 and the other a wartime temporary.

Horan said the rapid growth of housing in the Southeast area had brought a sharp need for additional school facilities where the need a year ago was "nowise in evidence."

Two Schools Crowded

He cited crowding at the Patterson and Congress Heights Schools. School officials reported that there are now 185 students in double shift classes at Patterson School, S. Capitol and Darrington sts., and 213 in double shift classes at the Congress Heights School, Nichols ave. near 5th st. se. Both are white elementary schools.

Horan said he wanted to commend school officials for the progress made in reducing part-time double shift classes in the public schools during the past year. He said the total children in such classes had been cut from some 7000 to less than 2500. He said the earlier figure was mostly Negro students, while the present one is about half white and half Negro.

Horan's group today is slated to review library, recreation, fire and police budget requests.

$60,000 Voted By House for D. C. Purposes

The House yesterday voted $80,000 for the District and approved a $1,706,000 contract authorization for buildings at Howard University.

The money is in the first deficiency appropriation bill sent to the Senate by House passage.

Of the District money, $20,000 is for the District National Guard, and $60,000 is for operating expenses of the refuse division.

The contract authorization for Howard University is for continuing construction of a new engineering building and women's dormitory units. The bill fixes $1,788,000 as the cost limit for the engineering building and $1,378,000 as the limit for the dormitory units. It leaves the way open, however, for the Federal Works administrator to adjust the limits in line with percentage changes in construction costs generally dating from January 1, 1948.

Band Fete Off: No Bands

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 1 (AP).—A tri-State band festival that had been planned for April 23-24 has been canceled for lack of competition, E. W. Dockeney, chairman of the Band Parents Association, reported today.

He said a survey showed there weren't enough bands for a State elemination. The plan will be tried again next year.

Idle Miners Celebrate

Charleston, W. Va., April 1 (AP). Idle members of the United Mine Workers flocked to annual Lewis day celebrations at four points in West Virginia today for customary speechmaking and other entertainment.

Celebrations were held at Mount Hope, Whitesille, Welch and Webster Springs.

Vote Scheduled

Daylight Time Action Due Today

Senate action is slated today on the bill to give Washington daylight saving time every summer.

Senator Kenneth S. Wherry (R., Nebr.) told the Senate late yesterday the Washington daylight saving bill had been scheduled for a vote after the Federal aid to education bill.

Senator J. Howard McGrath (D., R. I.), author of the bill, told the Senate that Senator John H. Overton (D., La.) has promised to be present today. Overton has consistently fought daylight-saving legislation.

The Senate Republican Policy Committee cleared the way for action on the daylight-saving bill in a meeting when it announced that the measure would be taken up after the vote on the expected veto of the tax reduction bill.

1 Dead, 4 Hurt In Three-Car Va. Accident

One man was killed and four persons were injured last night in a three-car crash on Highway No. 1, 3 miles south of Alexandria, Va.

The victim was Dewey H. Campbell, 31, of Route 4, Box 206, Alexandria.

The injured:

Herbert Campbel, 21, of 912 Franklin st., Alexandria, no relation to the dead man. He suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and severe cuts.

Eugene Cash, 35, of 924 Franklin st., cuts.

Jess Willard Hanson, 30, of the Naval Air Station, severe cuts and broken teeth.

Mrs. Evelyn Hanson, 29, his wife, of 550 Newcomb st. se.

Auto Rams Another

Dewey Campbell, Herbert Campbell and Cash were occupants of a southbound auto which rammed the rear end of another car and then careened toward the center of the road, crashing into Hanson's car headon.

The car which was rammed was driven by Raymond M. Svendsen, 30, a chief pharmacist's mate at Naval Receiving Station. Svendsen, his wife and another passenger were not injured.

All the victims were taken to Alexandria Hospital, but Hanson and his wife later will be removed to the Naval Air Station Hospital.

Streetcar Crash

In Washington, a man facing grand jury action on lottery charges yesterday was charged with a traffic violation after his car struck a streetcar as he made a U-turn in the 600 block of Pennsylvania ave. nw.

He is Sam Morgan, 42, of 705 Wayne ave., Sliver Spring, Md.

Morgan and three passengers, Frances Morton, 26, of 1436 B st. se; Mary Van Zant, 31, of 1901 1st st. nw., and Virgie Donohue, 1436 B st. se., were treated at Emergency Hospital.

Two Pedestrians Hurt

Two pedestrians were injured, one seriously, early yesterday when they were struck by an automobile at Connecticut ave. and Ordway st. nw. They are:

Mrs. Lee Helwig, 58, of 3109 Woodley rd. nw., in serious condition at Emergency Hospital with severe shock and a fractured leg.

Thomas McMurray, 58, of 4008 Chesapeake st. nw., who suffered a fractured hip and shoulder blade.

Driver of the car, listed as Eldred D. Warfield, 25, of Woodbine, Md., was charged with two counts of failing to yield the right of way. He was released on $600 bond for Municipal Court appearance today.

Court Hearing May Jeopardize War Crime Rulings

A District Court hearing which may jeopardize every conviction by United States Military Courts in Germany since the original Nuernberg trials has been scheduled for Tuesday.

The action is a habeas corpus petition filed yesterday in behalf of German industrialist Friederick Flick, now under a seven-year sentence in Germany for war crimes.

The petition, filed by his attorneys, Thomas L. Foley, Earl J. Carroll and Joseph S. Robinson, asks a review of the conviction on the grounds that the military court had no jurisdiction and was composed illegally.

A ruling favoring Flick would, one of the attorneys said, invalidate every military court conviction since the trials of Hermann Goering and Rudolf Hess. They were convicted by an international tribunal.

PUC Hearing Told Independent Firms Can Supply Nation

The Interior Department's forecast of a gasoline drought this summer was called unjustified yesterday while Interior was appealing for greater production and urging a voluntary gasoline rationing program.

The predicion of Max W. Ball, director of Interior's oil and gas division, that there will be a "widespread and acute" gasoline shortage this summer was denounced at a hearing conducted by the District Public Utilities Commission.

Opposing Ball's forecast were Paul E. Hadlick, special counsel for the Senate Small Business Committee's oil subcommittee, and Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Petroleum Association, which includes approximately 6000 independent oil producers.

The PUC heard them as it continued to gether data to determine whether the predicted gasoline shortage would affect the Capital Transit Co's plan to substitute buses for streetcars on the Benning line. The switch, scheduled for last Sunday, has been temporarily postponed.

Hadlick said that oil and gasoline shortages are "at least partially man-made" by those who profit from high prices and Government officials "who want more power."

"If Ball was talking for the major oil companies—as many people suspicion he does—he may be right in his predictions," Hadlick told the PUC. "If people want to hold it back, then there could be a shortage."

Barring "war or preparation for war," it's "perfectly silly" to say a shortage is inevitable, Hadlick declared.

He said independent refiners are now operating at only 70 per cent of capacity and could increase production by at least 500,000 barrels a day if necessary.

When Ball appeared before the PUC March 22 he testified the Capital Transit plans would make a "serious dent" in District gasoline supplies. However, Hadlick said the extra 838,724 gallons of gasoline needed annually in the conversion to buses would be "a drop in the bucket."

Brown's attack came in a letter to the PUC. He said there is "ample evidence that total gasoline supplies will be substantially greater than last year and sufficient to meet any reasonable increase in consumption."

Meanwhile, Secretary of the Interior Krug appealed to governors of eight oil-producing States to step up production to meet requirements of the defense program, of automobile and tractor owners this summer and the heating and industrial fuel oil demand next winter.

Petroleum industry leaders meeting with Government officials, were asked by Interior to draw up a voluntary program for allocation, distribution and inventory controls which can be put into effect May 1.

Industry agreements with Government sanction are permissable under the anti-inflation bill passed by Congress last December.

Planes Used to Spray Orchards With DDT

Charles Town, W. Va., April 1.—A demonstration of DDT spraying from the air in an effort to control the European mite was staged Monday afternoon on the orchards of Senator Harry F. Byrd near here. Two types of planes were used—a standard plane and a helicopter. Both were flown in from Washington. It is believed to have been the first commercial spraying with DDT in this fruit belt, although planes have been used for dusting and other purposes.

Two solutions were used—one a pure oil solution carrying the DDT, and the other a 40-60 solution of water and oil.

Prince Georges Tax Increased to $1.97

Record Budget of $3,702,244.40 Will Mean Merely 2-Cent Raise in Rate

A 2-cent increase in the Prince Georges County tax rate was formally approved yesterday when the Board of County Commissioners signed a record budget of $3,702,244.40 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The new tax rate will be $1.97 per $100 evaluation, in comparison to $1.95 rate of the current year.

The 2-cent increase, however, represented a sharp drop from early tax estimates, when county officials pessimistically predicted the tax rate would have to be boosted by as much as 45 cents.

The unexpectedly light increase was attributed by the commissioners to unanticipated revenues from the State and other sources, combined with the fact that a reassessment of real estate in the county increased its total value 15 million dollars.

While the budget calls for operating expenses of $3,702,244.40, only $3,070,278.11 of that amount will be paid from tax revenue. The remaining $632,966.29 will be financed from anticipated nontax revenues and a surplus from the current budget.

The new budget lists 11 items not to be financed during the forthcoming fiscal year by tax revenue: the Police Department, road maintenance, insurance, expenses for jurors and bailiffs, the Marlboro courthouse and the County Service Building at Hyattsville, State hospitals and correctional institutions, sinking funds for bonds, election expenses, additional clerical assistants, veterans service and the miscellaneous budget.

Largest individual budget item, as usual, is the county's share for schools. The appropriation will be $1,675,274 in comparison to $1,493,790 this year.

Other appropriation increases went to the Police Department, which will be jumped from $215,000 to $30,000; health, from $35,000 to $40,500, and new road construction, from $145,448.36 to $155,895.

Of more than 60 individual budget items listed, 31 received no increase.

Operating expenses for the county engineer's office was cut $60,550 to $51,000. Largest proportionate increase was for election expenses, which jumped from $1500 to $50,000, because of this fall's heavy election schedule.

New item in the budget included the road mantenance figure; $6100 to be paid on newly acquired tabulating machines for the county courthouse, and bond redemption and interest for Prince Georges County Hospital, which recently acquired from the Federal Government.

James River, Other Virginia Streams, Rising

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains in Virginia in the last 36 hours had sent several streams out of their banks last night, and the James River, already above flood stage at several points, was expected to reach the crest during the night.

United States metorologists at Richmond predicted the James would reach crests of 25 feet at Bremo Bluff, 26.5 feet at Columbia by midnight, and approximately 13 feet at Richmond by late Friday.

Flood stage at Bremo Bluff is 19 feet and at Columbia 18 feet.

Flood Readings

The Weather Bureau said readings of flood gauges yesterday showed: 3.2 feet at Richmond at 2 p. m., Bremo Bluff 24 feet at 3 p. m., Columbia 24.9 feet at 2 p. m., Scottsville 17.9 feet at noon, Lynchburg 9 feet at noon, Balcony Falls 6.2 feet at 8 a. m., Buchanan 6.3 feet and Lick Run 6.2 feet.

Precipitation was heaviest, the bureau said, in the Charlottesville-Rock Fish area, where the rainfall ranged from 3.05 inches and 3.56 inches. While the rain had ceased in practically all areas of the State by late yesterday, the bureau said showers were expected during the night.

The State highway department reported that rain-swollen streams had blocked some highways. These included Route 522 at the North Anna River in Louisa County, and the same route at the South Anna River crossing south of Louise Courthouse; Route 24 at Big Otter in Bedford County; Route 43 north of Leesville, and Route 33 between Louisa and Cuckoo.

James Rises Fast

At Scottsville the James River's level rose quickly Wednesday night and at 10:30 a. m. Thursday had reached 17½ feet, 3½ feet below the danger line for flooding the town's business streets.

At Danville the Dan River was at flood stage of 8 feet and expected to go higher. The Pinnacles power house in Patrick County reported 3 inches of rain fell in 54 hours. Both storage reservoirs were reported a foot higher than the spillways, enabling Danville to turn hydro power into the Appalachian electric system.

The quick rise of the Dan River forced a carnival on the river road at Danville to pull stakes and move to higher ground.

Clyde R. Simpson

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 1.—Services will be held here Friday for Clyde Raymond Simpson, 67, lifelong resident here, who died in a local hospital yesterday after an operation.

He was a son of the late Caleb S. and Mary Catherine Snyder Simpson. He was employed as an artisan for some years and later as a weaver in a woolen mill.

Surviving are his wife, 11 children, a sister and five grandchildren.

Emery D. Myers

Troy, N. Y., April 1 (AP).—Emery D. Myers, national chaplain of the Marine Corps League, died yesterday after a brief illness. He served in the Marine Corps in Cuba from 1903 to 1907.

Montgomery Funeral Set For Saturday

Funeral services for James Montgomery, 80, former president of a decorating and contracting firm here, will be held at 11 a. m. Saturday at St. John's Episcopal Church, Potomac and O sts. nw.

Mr. Montgomery, who died Wednesday of a cerebral hemorrhage at his home, 4622 Asbury pl. nw., after an illness of six days, will be buried in Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

He was associated with the John Hendricks Co., decorators, from 1900, when he came to Washington, until during the First World War, when he bought the George H. Markwood Co., decorators and contractors. His firm, known as James Montgomery Co., successor to George H. Markwood Co., was closed upon his retirement in 1928.

Mr. Montgomery, native of Guelph, Ontario, came to the United States in 1884, and until moving to Washington was employed by the Pullman Co. in Chicago. In 1906 he married the former Gabrielle Van Den Berghe, of Belgium.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jessie Montgomery McKeever, 103 Kennedy st. nw., a son, Richard Douglas Montgomery of the Asbury pl. address, and a brother, Richard Montgomery of Guelph.

Mrs. Artie Baulsir

Funeral services for Mrs. Artie Amery Baulsir, 78, of 240 8th st. se., who died Wednesday, will be held today at 2 p. m. at her home. Burial will be in Glenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Baulsir, wife of the late Edward A. Baulsir, is a Bureau of Engraving and Printing employe, survived by two sons, Percy A. of 119 D st. se. and Robert L. of Rogers Heights, Md.; a daughter, Mrs. Laura B. Jones of the 8th st. address; and three sisters, Mrs. Annie O. Dunn and Mrs. Mary A. Brashears, both of the 8th st. address, and Mrs. Ella Van Norman of Annandale, Md.

Frank O. Holt

Madison, Wis., April 1 (AP).—Frank O. Holt, a Wisconsin educator for 41 years and a member of the University of Wisconsin faculty for the past 21, died today. He was 64.

Frances Boss Funeral Rites Set Tomorrow

Funeral services for Miss S. Frances Boss, 80, District bookkeeper for more than 30 years, who died Wednesday, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Saffell funeral home, 475 H st. nw.

Miss Boss, who died of pneumonia after an illness of three months, will be buried in Glenwood Cemetery.

She was a native of Washington, and was graduated from high school here. She served as bookkeeper for the Bon Marche department store for about 15 years, followed by five years in the same capacity with the Louvre department store, and then as head bookkeeper with Behrend's department store for about 10 years before her retirement in 1928.

Miss Boss, who lived at 1356 Girard st. nw., was a member of Ninth Street Christian Church.

She is survived by a brother, Joseph C. Boss, 1306 N. Cleveland st., Arlington, Va., and 15 nieces and nephews in the Greater Washington area.

Grigg Descendant

Mrs. Kadie 64, Dies in New Mexico

Mrs. Louise Grigg Kadie, 64, wife of Carl H. Kadie, railway supply dealer, died unexpectedly at Albuquerque, N. M., Wednesday night.

A descendant of William Grigg of Richmond, one of Virginia's pioneers, Mrs. Kadie formerly resided at 7400 Bradley blvd., Bethesda. She lived in the Washington area about 20 years before moving to New Mexico.

She leaves her husband, a former Southern Railway official; a daughter, Miss Arvid Hope Samuelson of Virginia Beach; two stepsons, Frank R. Kadie of Charlotte, N. C., and Paul H. Kadie of Sacramento, Calif.; a brother, William J. Briggs of Norfolk, and a sister, Mrs. Hubert Rand of Richmond.

Funeral services and burial will be held this afternoon in Albuquerque.

Area News in Brief

New Group Health Surgery Plan Begun

A new group health insurance plan covering doctors' fee in surgery and maternity cases went into effect in Greater Washington yesterday.

The new insurance, available only to Group Hospitalization, Inc., subscribers, will be administered by the organization. Medcal services wll be supplied by more than 825 doctors affiliated with the new Medical Service of the Distrct of Columbia. The Services, a nonprofit incorporated group, was formed by the District Medical Society for this plan.

A group health official said "benefits for surgery, including fractures and dislocated joints, and obstetrics, are included.

The plan, financed by regular monthly payments, also will provide benefits for X-rays, clinical laboratory examinations and anesthetics.

Rates for the medical service are 80 cents a month for an individual subscrber, $1.70 for a husband and wife and $2 for a family in addition to the usual Group Health hospital service rates.

3 Restaurants Fined

Three Washington restaurants were fined a total of $170 in Municipal Court yesterday for violations of the wage and hour law and health regulations.

They were:

Perruso's Restaurant, 805 N. Capitol st., fined $95 on two counts of failing to give minimum wages to waitresses and two of failing to keep proper records on hours.

Lindo Cafe, 2811 14th st. nw., st. nw., $25 for having unsterilized eating utensils.

Baby 'Holding His Own'

Six-day-old Allen Warren Palmer, recovering from a rare operation at Walter Reed Hospital, was reported yesterday still in "critical" condition, but "holding" his own.

The infant, son of Lieut. and Mrs. Carl J. Palmer, was born at Nevada, Mo., and was flown here after it was discovered that he had been born with a diaphragmatic hernia.

Hospital officials said the surgeons were able to correct the condition and that the baby will be normal if he survives the shock of the two-hour operation.

Chain Reaction

Blasting by District highway engineers extending New York ave. north from Bladensburg rd. ne., about 3:30 p. m. yesterday set in motion a chain of events which included:

Knocking several plates from a shelf in the home of Mrs. William Dent, 26, 200 yards away at 2137 30th st. ne., frightening her 2-year-old daughter, Betty Lou Dent, into tears, inspiring the former to call police in protest, and finally bringing telephone calls and visits from three Washington newspapers in search of an "explosion."

There was no damage—except to a couple of stumps."

Realty Sale Approved

Sale of the Securities Building, 927 15th st. nw., to George Papanicolas, Washington attorney, for $428,500 was approved in District Court yesterday.

Confirmation of the purchase from the Securities Building Corp. is scheduled in District Court May 5.

Fire Laid to Light Fixture

Major John B. Lamond, post engineer and fire marshal at Walter Reed Hospital, yesterday blamed a defective light fixture for the fire which damaged the post exchange building Wednesday.

Six firemen and a soldier were injured or overcome by smoke during the blaze.

Insurance adjusters were examining the wreckage yesterday to determine the loss.

'Rock Creek Night Club'

"Rock Creek Night Club" will be presented at 9 o'clock tonight and tomorrow in the Rock Creek Parish Hall, Rock Creek Church rd. and Webster st. nw.

An annual event before the war, the performance is being revived this year. It features acts by professional talent, music and dancing for those attending.

Police Warn Visitors

Washington's thousands of visitors yesterday were warned by police not to leave clothing and valuables in their parked cars.

Police called the situation "encouraging to thieves" because of inability of many visitors to return to Washington to aid in prosecution after arrests are made and property recovered.

They also said many visitors do not report such losses.

Niemen Fellows To Judge Work of Negro Newsmen

Entries for Wendell L. Wilkie awards in Negro journalism will be judged by Nieman Fellows of Harvard University the next three years.

The awards were omitted for the current year, an announcement stated, because of "dissatisfaction with the previous method of judging awards."

Entries for the 1948 awards, to be made in 1949, should be submitted to the Council of Nieman Fellows, Louis Lyons, chairman, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., the announcement stated. Awards cover editorial writing, reporting and public service.

ARCHBISHOP PRESENTS MEDAL—Mrs. Justine B. Ward of 2500 30th st. nw., receives the St. Gregory Medal from Archbishop O'Boyle in St. Patrick's Rectory, 10th and G sts. nw.

Prelate Honors Mrs. Ward for Work in Music

Mrs. Justine Bayard Ward, author of textbooks on music used in parochial schools in this country and Europe and authority on the Gregorian chant, yesterday received the award of the Society of St. Gregory.

The bronze plaque for outstanding work in Catholic music was presented to Mrs. Ward by Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle at St. Patrick's rectory.

The award has been made only once before to Nicola A. Montani, founder of the society.

Mrs. Ward, a small white-haired woman, lives at 2500 30th st. nw., the home of her brother, the late Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico. She has been a resident of Washington since 1941, shortly after being forced to leave Solesmes, France, where for 20 years she studied the Gregorian chant at the Benedictine Monastery and composed her books.

These books were something new because they were based on modern methods of psychology which stress learning by doing.

Before her conversion to the Catholic faith in 1904, Mrs. Ward, a native of New York, was, in her own words, " a mild Episcopalian." As a girl she studied music under private teachers and became interested in the Gregorian chant at an early age.

She founded the Pius X School of Liturgical music in New York and now is associated with the department of music of the Sisters College at Catholic University.

Naval Employe Honored

Charles S. Range, 4906 4th st. nw., yesterday completed 44 years of service with the Navy, 20 as an enlisted man and 24 as a civil employe—and retired.

His last tour of duty 24 years ago as an enlisted man was with Naval Radio Station NAA whose towers were once landmarks in Arlington. His latest duty was as an electronics engineer at the Naval Gun Factory.

On his last day at work coworkers presented him a matched set of luggage to use on the leisurely trip he plans across the country with his wife.

Personal Letters To Europe Urged As Peace Medium

As a means of telling Europeans about American life, Common Cause, Inc., of New York, has urged Americans to write western European families.

The organization, a nonprofit, tax-exempt group, has a list of families who have expressed interest in American activities. Person-to-person contact, Common Cause officials feel, will help avoid future wars.

In addition, Common Cause has announced food parcels, ranging in price from $2.98 up, for delivery to Europe. The price includes cost of contents, packing, postage and insurance, with delivery guaranteed. Details and names may be obtained from Maj. William B. Kaas, coordinator of activities, Common Cause, Inc., 48 East 48th st., New York.

THE Casino Royal opened a new show Tuesday with a refreshing group of routines . . . Esther Svenn is headlining the show with a clever layout of dances accompanied by a dummy called "Senator" Birch (any resemblance etc., etc.). Esther's costume is half man's dress, half woman's with the dummy going on his own from the waist up. She puts one leg in the "Senator's" costume, the other in her own dress and does a number of dances, the dummy making appropriate remarks and passes at her. It's all very clever, especially with such a talented dancer. The Sapphire Trio did very well on a sensuous jungle dance, despite a little mix-up on the musical background. . . . They're two guys and a girl and all three of them manage to look realistically savage. Patricia Lane, the femcee, looks most enchanting in a daring gown. Besides emceeing the show, Pat does a song here and there with Jack Schafer and the orchestra.

The Jones Brothers are still drawing heavy crowds at the Blue Mirror, where they've been for a number of weeks . . . The reason is obvious, the boys are just good.

A lot of people are going to miss Pierson Thal and the boys when they leave the Mayflower lounge April 10. . . . They're being replaced by Dick Barlow, the pianist, and his orchestra.

TOMORROW night the Neptune Room will present Erwin Straus, not to be confused with Johann Strauss (1804-1849) or Johann Strauss II (1825-1899). He will be playing the piano daily during the cocktail hour and from dinner 'til closing. Straus, a son of Oscar Straus, composer of "The Chocolate Soldier," saw his first operetta, "Think of Me," produced when he was 16 years old. He has been composing operettas and playing the piano ever since.

The Balalaika is going to feature a "Folk Dance Revue" Monday evening and will introduce Victoria Rain to the night club public. . . . According to Misha Bess, the owner, members of the cast will dance with people from the audience so everyone can share the fun. . . .

Sande Williams, the orchestra leader in the Shoreham Palladian Room, says that when he gets tired of his life as a bachelor he has a lovely model all picked out to pop the question to . . . His only complaint is that she's so lovely some of the guys chasing her make him look like "small potatoes."

A new and glamorous restaurant is now open in the Fairfax Hotel. James and Mary Gore did a lot of leg work scouting up decorations for the venture, and it seems the search wasn't futile . . . It's called the Restaurant La Rue and sports chefs from both the Troika and the Muses, both of which were known for their cuisine before they closed.

The Ted Alexanders, he's with Bob Simpson at the Old New Orleans, are beginning to scan the skies for the stork . . . It's scheduled to arrive here very soon . . . They're parents to three boys now.

Police Probing Woman's Death

Staunton, Va., April 1 (AP).—Police here today are investigating the unusual circumstances connected with the death of a 44-year-old Staunton woman.

Mrs. Arlene Hudson Hevener died after receiving "extensive brain injury, multiple body contusions and second degree burns of the abdomen and thighs," Dr. R. P. Bell, jr., alternate city coroner, said last night. She died in King's Daughters' Hospital last night after being brought there for treatment Monday night.

Dr. Bell has ordered an autopsy on the body. He also recommended the investigation now under way under the direction of Chief of Police E. L. Bragg.

No further details concerning the death have been revealed by officials or members of the Heavener family.

Rock and Rye Measure

A slice of orange and a cherry may add to the attractiveness of rock and rye bottles, but it robs the purchaser of approximately 2 ounces of liquid refreshment per half pint, J. Thomas Kennedy, superintendent of Weights, Measures and Markets, discovered yesterday.

He said he intends to ask Corporation Counsel Vernon E. West whether the fruit should be considered part of the liquid mix or each bottle should contain a full measure of rock and rye, exclusive of embellishments.

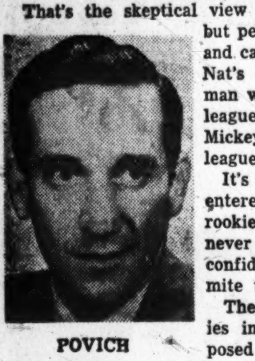
ORLANDO, FLA., April 1.—The Nats in a nutshell: Pitching—who knows? Infield—I wonder. Outfield—Uh-huh. Hitting—To be feared, by Washington fans, not by league's pitchers.



POVICH

That's the skeptical view of the 1948 Washington ball club, but perhaps the correct one. The pitching and catching excepted, you can look at the Nat's starting line-up and find only one man who ever had a good year in the big leagues. That would be First Baseman Mickey Vernon, who when last seen in the league was a .256 hitter.

It's the rookiest club Clark Griffith ever entered in a race. And it's topped by a rookie manager. Even Connie Mack, who never says anything bad about any ball club, confided that to him the Nats look "a mite too young."

The ball club that is gambling on rookies in a couple of positions is not supposed to be a solid ball club. The Nats are gambling on young talent in five positions—second base, shortstop, and the entire outfield—to finish in the first division and get over the biggest parlay in recent baseball history.

THE NATS AS they look today:

First Base—Mickey Vernon, adequate in the field and in fact one of the better first basemen defensively. Can hit a long ball, but is more interested in his batting average. Topped the American League hitters two years ago and slumped 88 points last season. Has speed, but is overambitious on the bases.

Second base—Al Kozar. The job is his for two reasons. He is a pretty good-looking second baseman, and he has no competition. He is surehanded, and acts like he can hit. But the fancy .339 batting average he brings up from the Southern Association will fade more than somewhat from a steady diet of big league pitching.

Shortstop—Johnny Sullivan. He makes the hard plays, and boots the easy ones too often. He has been around for a few years and never awed any pitchers. Has speed on the bases, but is handicapped by the time-tested inability of anybody to steal first. Is now fighting to keep his job against the presence of the veteran Mark Christman.

Third Base—Eddie Yost. A storybook kid who came direct from the sandlots to the big leagues and astounded everybody with his ability to play third base. The more they bunted on him last season, the farther he threw 'em out. Was the best hitter on the club for a two-month stretch last season until he wilted. The Nats are lucky to have him around.

LEFT FIELD—Gil Coan. If he hits .270 he'll be a valuable man. Still crude in the outfield but his speed permits him to correct much of his misjudgment. Can't throw worth a nickel, but he could be a whale of a hitter. Isn't bothered much by left-handed pitching, either. A sure shot to lead the league in stolen bases if he hits enough singles.

Center Field—Leon Culberson, cast-off from the Red Sox, who are trying to win a pennant. Surprisingly fast for one of his chunky build. The best fly-catcher in the Washington outfield. Never quite made good with the Red Sox, because he never quite was a good hitter.

Right Field—Sherry Robertson. Always looks as if he should hit when up at the plate with his classic stroke, and sometimes does. They're gambling that he will this year. He has to hit to stay in the line-up. Awkward on fly balls, after his transition from the infield. Has the best throwing-arm in the outfield, and can scramble on the bases. He's one of the big "If's."

CATCHING—Al Evans and Jake Early. The two best-throwing catchers in the league, and otherwise clever behind the bat. Evans hits only in the spring, and Early hits little at all times. The catching department is not counted on for power. Evans has the call because he's fast on the bases and Early is dismally slow and a double play threat.

The Pitching—Early Wynn, Walter Masterson and Sid Hudson. That sums up the only solid phase of the pitching. Wynn has been getting his bumps this spring, and Masterson has a sore arm. Milo Candidni has been looking like the best of the rest, which is something of a tip-off. Not much depth.

Across the Nation

Ex-Soldier Lloyd Mangrum Makes Money 'on the Double'

Chicago, April 1 (AP).—Lloyd Mangrum, as befits an old Army man, is making golf money "on the double."

In a sport that is beginning to inflict heavy wear and tear on its top journeymen, Mangrum has rolled up $11,455 in three months to keep atop the money ranks of the professional golfers' association.

In 1942, back before Mangrum was twice wounded with General Patton's Third Army, it took the then hale-and-hearty Ben Hogan six months to collect virtually the same pace-making amount, $11,723.

Other leading cash-collectors listed today by the PGA for the tournament grind since January 1 are: Bobby Locke, $7,843; Johnny Palmer, $6,857; Jimmy Demaret, $6773; Hogan, $6227; Cary Middlecoff, $5492; and Skip Alexander, $5227.

Mangrum, owning three tourney triumphs—the Bing Crosby, Rio Grande and Greensboro Opens—also leads in accumulating Ryder Cup points with 183.

Hogan, whose ailing back has limited him to 27 competitive rounds compared with Mangrum's 43, has the best stroke average, 69.55, in the Vardon trophy race.

One Among Many

New York, April 1 (AP).—This is no April Fool—there was one college basketball team which went unbeaten during the recently concluded season.

Homer Cooke, director of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, disclosed today that the West Virginia State College team of institute W. Va. had compiled a perfect mark of 23 wins in 23 starts.

Attn.: Bob Rodenberg

Bloomfield, N. J., April 1 (AP).—Call Bloomfield 2-4346 if you want to buy a football team.

The Bloomfield Cardinals of the American Professional Football League is on the block. Its franchise and equipment are offered to the highest bidder. The sale must be completed by April 15.

Change at N. C. State

Raleigh, N. C., April 1 (AP).—A source close to the North Carolina State College athletic picture said today that Athletic Director John L. Von Glahn's retirement might be forthcoming "within a few days-no longer than a week."

Basketball Coach Everett Case has been reported temporary successor to Von Glahn until a permanent successor was named.

Olympic Mat Tests Today

Baltimore, April 1 (AP).—About 50 wrestlers from three States and the District of Columbia will be trying for final Olympic tests in regional tryouts at Johns Hopkins University tomorrow and Saturday. The bouts are open to grapplers from Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and the District.

Three individuals have been tabbed as good prospects to be among those representing the United States in the Olympics. Expected to win the regionals and go on to victory at the finals starting April 29 at Iowa State College are Mickey MacDonald and Joe Henson of the Navy, and Doug Lee of the Baltimore YMCA.

MacDonald in 1914 was voted the country's outstanding matman after winning the National AAU title.

Henson, like MacDonald, has returned to Annapolis duty so he could train under Coach Ray Swartz. Henson will wrestle at 136½ pounds. Other Navy contenders will be Bob Kitt, 125½; Ted Hartley, 160½, and Bee Weems, 174.

Lee will head 10 YMCA contenders. He has been the national AAU 155-pound champion five times. He will wrestle at the Olympic weight of 160½.

European Fighters Don't Impress Louis

Brussels, April 1 (AP).—Joe Louis said today he wasn't impressed by boxing standards in Europe and "that there certainly are no good heavyweights in this part of the world."

He added that Bruce Woodcock, British Empire heavyweight king, looked "hopeful at one time but he is not a fighter anymore." Woodcock suffered a broken jaw in a bout with Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa., last spring and also received an eye injury outside the ring last summer.

Nats Return Vern Curtis, Three Others To Minors

By Shirley Povich
Post Reporter

Orlando, Fla., April 1.—The major league tryouts of four rookies in the Nats camp today proved to be a wry April Fool's joke for the quartet. Pitchers Vernon Curtis and Scott Cary, Outfielder Dean Stafford and Infielder Cal Ermer were handed passports back to the minors.

The Washington club retained strings on all of them. Chattanooga gets Curtis, Cary and Scott, and Ermer returns to the Nats' Charlotte farm in the tri-State League, where he managed the team last season.

Curtis was dismissed after getting his third trial with the Nats. Originally he was bought from Atlanta before the war for $25,000, but never gave much indication of being a winner in the big leagues despite what was called "a lot of stuff."

Cary Goes to Chattanooga

Young Cary who was jumped to the Nats last year direct from their Orlando farm in the Class D Florida State League, saw action only in relief roles in 1947. He was sent back to Chattanooga with implicit instructions to learn a curve ball to go with his left-handed speed.

Big Stafford who came up from the Class B Big State League in Texas with a fancy batting average and a reputation for power-hitting, was eclipsed in the camp here by his fellow Big State leaguer, Larry Drake, who is being retained.

Manager Joe Kuhel could find no place for Ermer in the Nats' infield plans and was not impressed by his hitting.

Squad Down to 31

The dismissals reduce the Nats to 31 players, 6 over the limit to which they must cut by May 19. At least three more rookie pitchers will go, plus an outfielder and an infielder. The pitching situation, with Sid Hudson and Milo Candini, the only veterans who have not been getting their bumps, is not too healthy. The club's hitting has been an agreeable surprise to Manager Kuhel.

Clark Griffith is wondering today if he did not make a grievous mistake when he turned down the Yankees' offer of four players for Pitcher Early Wynn last December. One of the players the Yankees offered was Hank Bauer, Kansas City outfielder, who wrecked the Nats in the 14-14 slugfest staged by the team.

The evidence now is that Griffith would cheerfully give up one of his top pitchers if a deal for Bauer could be swung, and he may try to make it. Bauer would take rank as the best thing in the Washington outfield and his presence would move the club up several notches in the reckoning.

Camp Game Canceled

He hits a long ball, runs like the wind, and is a sensational outfielder with a rifle arm.

There was an intra-camp game scheduled for today, but it was called off by Manager Joe Kuhel following the three-hour tussle against Kansas City yesterday . . . Kuhel merely sent the squad through a brief morning workout . . . the Nats may try to convert Jay Difani, who came to the club as a third baseman, into an outfielder. They like his power, but he hasn't picked up a ground ball cleanly since camp opened . . . Buck Newsom today received another offer to join the Hollywood Club of the Coast League and turned it down flatly. He is still dickering with the Giants, who don't quite agree with Newsom's high opinion of his monetary worth . . . tomorrow the Nats take on their Chattanooga farmhands at Tinker Field.

Bosox Triumph, 4-3

Sarasota, Fla., April 1 (AP).—The Boston Red Sox today defeated their Louisville Colonel Farmhands, 4-3, but the Major Leaguers had to come from behind with three runs in the ninth to down the American Association club.

The rally went like this—Billy Goodman singled and stopped at third after Matt Batts doubled. Wally Moses walked and so did Neil Sheridan for one run. Johnny Pesky flied out to right and another run came home. Sam Mele walked and after Ted Williams popped out Stan Spence strolled to force in the final run.

When Middleweight Champion Rocky Graziano meets Sonny Horne here Monday night he'll have the encouragement of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Hoover and Graziano were dinner guests (at separate tables) at a Conn. ave. restaurant last night.

"Rocky, the best of luck to you. You've pai dyour debt to society, now you ought to go out and show what you can do," Hoover said.

Graziano, Zale Meet For Title June 9

Middleweight Champion Rocky Graziano, who arrived last night to complete training for his Monday bout against Sonny Horne at Uline Arena here, announced he had agreed to defend his championship against Tony Zale June 9, in Newark, N. J.

Graziano won the championship from Zale in Chicago last summer, scoring a six-round knockout over the Gary (Ind.) veteran. In their first meeting held in New York in 1947, Zale stopped Graziano.

The two fighters will sign articles for the bout next Wednesday in the offices of Promoter Andy Niederreiter. The promoter said he anticipated a gross gate of $500,000 for the third meeting between the two 160-pounders.

Graziano, it is believed, will receive a flat sum of $120,000 for the bout.

Reds Finally Relax

Tampa, Fla., April 1 (U.P.).—After playing a game each day for the past 19 days, the Cincinnati Reds relaxed today with a light morning workout and a "skull session" conducted by anager Johnny Neun.

C. U. Pair Eliminated In NCAA Ring Meet

Madison, Mis., April 1.—John Arnold, Catholic University 136-pounder, and Tom Cronin, C. U. 127-pounder, were eliminated in the first round of the NCAA boxing tournament here this afternoon by Don Gerrits, Miami, on a close decision.

Arnold lost a decision Don Gerrits, Miami, who built up a commanding lead to take the initial stanza. It was a different story in the second round as Arnold changed his tactics to score repeatedly with hard rights to the body. It was Arnold's round.

Both boys came out in the last round and battled furiously, with Garrits using his left jab effectively, but Arnold was not boxing like he did in the second. He did score several hard rights, but Gerrits earned the split decision. The referee and one of the judges awarded the bout to Gerrits, while one gave the nod to Arnold.

Cronin, although the aggressor throughout the bout, failed to hit John Benglian, Penn State southpaw often enough. Benglian, a counterpuncher, connected twice in the first round with solid rights to Cronin's jaw. But Cronin kept driving in and by sheer aggressiveness, earned a draw in the second round. A hard right to the jaw in the final round buckled Cronin's knees and there was no doubt as to who was the winner.

In another opening bout, Joe Miragliotta of Virginia, defetaed Dick Newberg of Minnesota, lightweight.

First-round and quarter-final matches this afternoon and tonight will pare the field of 62 boxers to 32 for tomorrow's semifinals. Champions in eight weight classes will be crowned Saturday night—and to each will go berths in the Olympic tryouts at Boston June 28-29. Thirteen bouts are on this afternoon's card. Seventeen more are billed tonight.

The United States Olympic boxing committee has designated this eleventh annual NCAA tournament as one of 11 regional tests to determine the contenders for Boston trials and the NCAA in return has shifted its classes from collegiate to international weights.

Young, De Marco Fight at Garden

New York, April 1 (AP).—A near capacity crowd of 18,000 is expected to witness tomorrow night's return bout between Lightweights Terry Young of New York's East Side and Perry De Marco of Brooklyn at Madison Square Garden. The bout is listed for 10 rounds.

These two sluggers met at the Garden last January 30 and De Marco won a split decision. The contest was limited to eight rounds because De Marco had not yet reached his twentieth birthday. He was 20 on February 10.

Hamilton, Bermuda, April 1 (AP). Princeton won its second rugby game of the week today, defeating Harvard 14 to 8, in fast moving but unorthodox rugby.

Fritz Maisel Runs At Bowie Today

Bowie, Md., April 1 (AP).—Fritz Maisel, a Maryland Kentucky Derby hopeful, makes his 1948 racing debut before the home folks tomorrow in Bowie's $4000 Chelton Purse.

The local pride is due to run into stiff competition from a couple of fillies, Kanage and Cathie Jean. It is likely that Kanage will wind up the betting favorite for the six-furlong race of 3-year-olds despite Fritz Maisel's impressive showing here last year.

D. C.'s Hazi Defends Table Tennis Title

Columbus, Ohio, April 1.—Tibor Hazi, of Washington, D. C., will be one of 251 entrants competing in the National Table Tennis championships which will be held here tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

Hazi will defend the title he won last year in the senior men's singles.

Leemans Turns Down Job at GW

Alphonse (Tuffy) Leemans, former George Washington University backfield great, yesterday turned down an offer to become backfield coach at his almo mater.

Leemans decided against taking the job after a two-hour conference with G. W.'s new Head Football Coach John H. (Bo) Rowland.

Tuffy said, "Rowland wants a man who can do a full-time job. That I can't do. I have a growing cleaning business that I also have to keep an eye on.

"I felt that I couldn't do justice to the job" he continued. "I hope, however, that I can help the G. W. football team in any other way."

Rowland said, "I'm sorry Tuffy couldn't take the job. I had never met him before two weeks ago, but have heard so much about his playing at G. W. and with the New York Giants that I know he could have helped us."

Ducks Unlimited Banquet Tonight

The board of directors of Ducks Unlimited will meet at 7:30 tonight at the Hotel Statler.

The 57-man cabinet will discuss over a banquet table plans for restoring nesting habitats of wild ducks and geese in the United States and Canada.

Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio will be master of ceremonies and District Commissioner John Russell Young will deliver the address of welcome.

The banquet is open to nonmembers. Reservations may be made by calling George L. Dyer at Executive 1741.

500 Attend Huge Rally At School

More than 500 American University students staged a heated demonstration—complete with a raging bonfire—one the campus last night, storming President Paul F. Douglass with a demand that football be returned to the athletic program.

The bonfire got out of hand and Acting Chief Walter L. Hurley, of Company 2 of the fire department, was called. He responded with two pieces of equipment and extinguished the blaze, which was near a clump of hedges.

Noisy Parade

The bonfire followed a noisy parade by the students, who carried colorful placards and were accompanied by a band.

The students stormed a seminar in Hurst Hall where Douglass was the principal speaker. The students surrounded the startled president and began chanting, "We want football."

They waved the placards in front of him. On the placards were painted in bold letters, "We Want Football, Dr. Paul," "Johns Hopkins Has It—Why Can't We," "We Don't Need Subsidies, We Got 'Em."

Douglass agreed to discuss the matter with the demonstrators in the school auditorium where he answered questions.

Go to Auditorium

Earlier in the evening, Douglass chanced to walk by the school's chimes, just as Sinclair Gray, a sophomore, was sounding the signal for the beginning of the demonstration.

Gray was spelling out in Morse code on the chimes, "G. Q. G. Q.," for General Quarters. Douglass gave Gray a lecturing. When students asked the president what he had told the sophomore, Douglass, very scholarly said, "He has been placed on probation because of low marks."

Better Self Wins Paumonok as Jamaica Opens

New York, April 1 (AP).—Splashing boldly through the slop and mist, King Ranch's Better Self stamped himself as a strong Kentucky Derby hope today by sprinting to an easy 4-length victory in the the thirty-ninth running of the Paumonok Handicap at Jamaica.

The only 3-year-old in a field of 13 horses, the sleek black son of Bimelich-Bee Mac was cheered by a damp crowd of 33,564 as he broke well on the outside and immediately swept into the lead to stay.

The race was the feature attraction for the first program of the 1948 metropolitan season, which got under way on the earliest date in history. As last year, a drenching rain soaked the track for hours before the race and it continued to drizzle throughout the afternoon.

It was Better Self's initial start of the season, the colt having arrived here only recently from winter quarters at Columbia, S. C. Reports that he had trained well were sustained when he covered the 6 furlongs in a good 1:11 4-5, to pay $9 to $2.

Mrs. Ethel Dupont Weir's Royal Governor, who hadn't started since last May at Havre de Grace, was second. Let's Dance, from the Sunshine Stable of Dan Chappell, nipped Mose Rauzin's Buzfuz by a head for the show spot.

Better Self paid $5.70 to place and $3.60 to show. Royal Gevernor paid $7.40 and $4.50, and Let's Dance, $3.

Giants Could Be Tough—IF Pitchers Click

(This is the sixth in a series reviewing major league baseball teams).

By Jack Stevenson

Phoenix, Ariz., April 1 (AP).—Mel Ott has about made up his mind on a power-laden starting lineup for the New York Giants.

Moreover, given some support by the hurling corps, Manager Mel still sees his charges in the thick of the flag race with a good chance to win it all.

Joe Beggs, Dave Koslo, Ray Poat and Ken Trinkle haven't starved during spring drills. Ott thinks they're ready for competition, though, and is set to give them mound tryouts in the remaining training circuit contests.

Hartung Counted On

Also counted on for some victories are Clint Hartung, outfielder converted into a pitcher last season, Monte Kennedy and perhaps Bill Ayers and Jack Hallett.

Probably the best of the Giant rookie hurlers to date is Sheldon Jones, 180-pound righthander who worked with Jersey City during 1947.

The ace of the staff of last year, Rookie Harry Jansen continues to excell. In the first 12 innings on the mound in spring encounters he's given up only one run, unearned.

Ott readily lists his starting infield and four players bettling for outfield spots, with the set-up not much different than it was on March 1 when the team started ilts drills.

At first will be home-run slugging Johnny Mize and no further introduction is needed to the man who had 51 round-trippers last season. Second base and leadoff batter will probably be Billy Rigney. Buddy Kerr nevertheless gets the nod at shortstop. Last season he racked up an enviable .977 fielding average and hit a respectable .287.

Lohrke Fixture at Third

Jack Lohrke has nailed down the third base spot in his sophomore year in the big leagues.

In the outfield the starting threesome will be chosen from among Bobby Thomson, Carroll (Whitey) Lockman, Willard Marshall and Sid Gordon. The first three hold a slight edge.

Behind the plate and another of the Giant home run experts, the veteran Walker Cooper stands among the best in the business.

The New Yorkers have hit 20 doubles, three triples and 20 home runs in the exhibitions as they won 11 and lost 7. They still have the power.

Southpaw First Dodger To Go Route

Vero Beach, Fla., April 1 (AP).—Lefty Joe Hatten became the first Brooklyn pitcher to go nine innings today as he turned in a spectacular one-hit victory over the Montreal Royals. The score was 8 to 2.

Mike Sandlock tripled to deep centerfield in the third inning for the only Montreal hit. The blow brought in the Royals' two runs. It was Brooklyn's sixteenth straight exhibition victory.

Braves Win in 10th

Bradenton, Fla., April 1 (AP).—Pushing across a run in the last of the tenth inning, the Boston Braves today edged the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, in a preseason exhibition.

Earl Torgeson dragged a bunt past the pitcher's mound to open the Tribal tenth, went to a third on a shot through the middle by Bob Elliott and scored the winning run on a long flyout.

Sore-armed Johnny Beazely pitched the first three innings, allowing two hits and giving up two walks. The second hit, a high pop by Stan Musial, was lost in the sun by Bob Sturgeon and fell for a double, scoring two batters who had walked.

Marble Tells Girls Tennis Won't Make Biceps Bulge

By Jack Walsh
Post Reporter

GIRLS at George Washington U. were assured yesterday by no less an authority than Alice Marble that tennis won't give them bulging biceps—if played properly.

Miss Marble, who proceeded to demonstrate the right way to play the sport she dominated from 1939 to 1940, offered ample proof in that she's still a trim 118 pounds.

In the tennis clinic she held under the auspices of the women's department of physical education at GW, she stressed throughout that "easy does it" in the net game.

After a brisk 90-minute demonstration of the fundamentals of the service and backhand and forehand strokes, she explained that she's making a coast-to-coast lecture tour in an effort to spread the tennis gospel.

"Honestly, it pains me that so many girls aren't getting enough out of tennis because there aren't enough capable teachers," said Miss Marble.

Surprisingly, after only a few minutes of patient coaching, she did correct obvious faults of the GW students who participated in the clinic.

After winning the national championship for the fourth time in 1940, Miss Marble was voted the outstanding woman athlete in the United States for the second straight year when she received 65 of a possible 72 votes in the Associated Press poll.

After her professional tour, she showed remarkable versatility by becoming a radio and supper club singer, tennis clothes designer, sports announcer and holder of an executive post with the Office of Civilian Defense.

Now she's restricting her activities to her current lecture tour. With more than 65 dates to fill, it seems a busy enough schedule at that.

Hockey Officials Acquitted On Charge of Beating Fan

Five AHL Players Await Court Trial

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 1 (AP).—President Maurice Podoloff of the American Hockey League said today he would take no action against five members of the Buffalo team who were arrested after an early morning restaurant fight.

He had decided on that course, said Podoloff, because charges that the five players had attacked and seriously injured a man were "absolutely without any foundation."

Podoloff said that his investigation disclosed that a fight did occur in a small New Haven restaurant yesterday in which Wallace Holland, 23, a counterman, suffered a serious eye injury.

But the fight, he asserted, did not involve any of the five players arrested—Joseph Bell, Thomas M. Cooper, Leslie Douglas, Leslie Hickey and Michael McMahon.

Judge Says Pair 'Not Telling Truth'

BOSTON, April 1 (AP).—Two National Hockey League officials—Frank (King) Clancy and George Hayes—today were acquitted in municipal court of assault charges brought by a spectator.

Edward P. Shallow filed a complaint against them on charges he was beaten in the officials' dressing room after a playoff game between the Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Shallow said his eyeglasses were torn from his face and he was forced to the floor and then thrown out of the room. Clancy testified he did not know how Shallow got into the room but that no one touched him.

Judge Carr said Clancy's nervousness on the witness stand convinced him the referee was not telling the "whole truth," but that he did not think the assault charge had been proved beyond a reasonable doubt.

Lacrosse, Golf Match Also Listed

Dartmouth University's spring sports teams, making their annual Southern tour, invade the Washington area today.

The Dartmouth baseball team meets the University of Maryland at College Park at 3:30 p. m. The lacrosse team faces the Terps at 2:30 at College Park. And the Dartmouth golfers meet Georgetown at 10 a. m. at Indian Spring Country Club.

Four other collegiate baseball games are on the agenda. American University, rained out of its scheduled opener yesterday against Wesleyan, plays the Connecticut school in a double-header today at 1:30 p. m. on the North Ellipse.

Georgetown's baseballers, who dropped their opener to Richmond, 11-4, Tuesday, hope for better luck against Trinity College today at 3 p. m. on the Hoyas field. Trinity canceled its game with Maryland yesterday because the College Park field was too wet.

George Washington, with a 14-10 victory over Harvard in its only start, opposes Fort Belvoir, Va., on the West Ellipse at 3:30.

Keller Starts, Yanks Win

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 1 (AP). Charley Keller started in leftfield for the first time since last June today as the New York Yankees downed the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-1. The exhibition game resulted in slight injuries for two Yankee first basemen.

Keller played five innings, apparently recovered from the spinal operation that benched him last summer. In three trips to the plate, he walked twice and lined out to the second baseman.

Jack Phillips started at first for the Yanks but was spiked on the right hand by Richie Ashburn. The veteran George McQuinn, who relieved him, turned the job over to Joe Collins in the fifth after bruising his right foot with a foul tip from his own bat.

Feller Bears Down

Tucson, Ariz., April 1 (AP).—Bob Feller pitched six shut-out innings and the Cleveland Indians uncorked five runs in the seventh for a 6-1 exhibition win over the Chicago White Sox today.

The White Sox collected five hits off Feller, but scored their only run off Bill Kennedy in the seventh. Ed Robinson clouted a Cleveland home in the fourth and Hank Edwards slammed a circuit clout in the big Tribe seventh.

Henry Clay Girls Win Title in Bowling

Girl bowlers from Henry Clay School of Arlington, Va., captured the national championship of the American Junior Bowling Congress for the second straight year, it was announced yesterday by tourney officials.

The Clay girls' score of 1435, posted at the Arlington Bowling Center, was otps for the Nation. Alley Kats of Essex, Md., was second with 1428 and Lazy Loafers of Front Royal, Va., was third with 1424.

Terps, Wm. & Mary Postpone Track Meet

College Park, Md., April 1 (AP).—The University of Maryland announced a track meet to have been held here with William and Mary Saturday has been postponed until May 19 to allow both teams to enter the North Carolina relays.

Maryland will send a squad of about 20 to Chapel Hill for Saturday's relays.

Jockey Willie Obert, 51. Dies in Florida Hospital

Miami, Fla., April 1 (AP).—Willie Obert, 51, of Brooklyn, N. Y., recognized as one of the oldest active jockeys, died in a hospital here today.

Hospital records listed Obert's age as 51 although at Tropical Park it was said he was some years older. Obert rode last in New Jersey during the 1947 season.

U. S. Olympic Court Team Packs 1-2 Punc

New York, April 1 (AP).—It will come as no feeling of relief to the basketball playing nations of the world to learn that the United States will be able to hurl the greatest one-two punch since Davis and Blanchard into the Olympic cage tournament this summer.

The United States Olympic basketball squad, selected today following the tryouts in Madison Square Garden, includes the five regulars from each of the two best amateur teams in the country—the Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., and the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

The Oilers, national AAU champs the past six years, won the Olympic tryouts last night, defeating Kentucky's NCAA titleholders, 53-49, in one of the best games ever seen in these parts.

In addition to strengthening their own prestige, the Oklahomans earned for their coach, Omar (Bud) Browning, the honor of coaching the Olympic team.

Here is the 14-man United States Olympic squad, chosen by the Olympic basketball committee headed by Lou Wilke of Denver:

Player and Team	Height	Former School
Kurland, Phillips 66	7	Okla. A.&M.
Renick, Phillips 66	6-2½	Okla. A.&M.
Carpenter, Phi'ps 66	6-7	Arkansas
Pitts, Phillips 66	6-4	Arkansas
Beck, Phillips 66	5-10½	Oregon State
Groza, Kentucky	6-7	Mart. Ferry, O.
Jones, Kentucky	6-4	Harlan, Ky.
Barker, Kentucky	6-1½	Yorktown, Ind.
Rollins, Kentucky	6	Wickliffe, Ky.
Beard, Kentucky	5-10½	Louisville, Ky.
Boryla, Denver Nug.	6-4	Notre Dame
Barksdale, Oak. Bitt.	6-4	UCLA
Robinson, Baylor	6	Ft. Worth
Lumpp, New York U.	6-1	New York City

Adolph Rupp, Kentucky coach, will serve as Browning's assistant. Actually, the two coaches probably will operate their respective units in London, with Browning directing the overall strategy and making the substitutions from among the other four members of the squad.

Galbrae Pays $239 Mutual at Bowie

'Longshot' Daily Double Worth $183

By Walter Haight
Post Reporter

Bowie, Md., April 1.—The mutel pay-board sagged today and not because it was loaded with hay. It was top heavy with prices when a little-known 4-year-old named Galbrae pulled an April Fool day joke on a crowd of 9,000.

Here are the across-the-board figures:

Galbrae, owned by Mrs. A. Ciano, never before had reached the winners' circle. Neither had Apprentice Jockey Richard McKenna, a 19-year-old youth from Pawtuckett, R. I., who did the riding.

Son of Blenheim 2d

Both the horse, a son of the mud-loving Blenheim 2d, and McKenna, a youngster who learned to ride at Narragansett Park, tourned in jobs today that belied the lack of confidence placed in them by the bettors.

Galbrae's victory was by a scant neck margin but it was a going-away affair with McKenna doing a swell bit of driving.

Two well-played horses followed the 119-to-1 shot over the line. Mrs. J. D. S. Coleman's Certified was second and a length and a half in advance of A. Bonuomo's Lido Way in the field of 12 going six furlongs.

This pair, along with Mrs. C. Bowers Try-Out did the chief front running. Try-Out finally stopped, apparently leaving the other two to fight it out.

The Galbrae, never too far back, rallied on the outside and closed boldly to win in the most approved "going-away" fashion.

Rain had left the track sloppier than a farm yard on hog-dressing day. Galbrae was clocked in 1:16 for the six furlongs.

Double Pays $183.60

For instance, the daily double paid a healthy $183.60. O. E. Snow's Quick News won the first at $18.60 and Claude Quattlebaum's Balu Empress took the second at $17.20. A $30.20 tidbit came in the fifth race when Jockey Johnny Tammaro batted Mrs. George Fishback's Lictor home.

The sixth race, the Naked City Purse, brought a dog-eat-dog finish with the Woodlyn Stable's Broad Daylight hanging a head defeat on M. Prickett's Spanish Uhl. Third money in the field of seven went to William F. Higgins' Frankish King.

Jockey Red Howell rode Broad Daylight home at a $13 mutuel and the 5-year-old was clocked in 1:51 1-5 for the mile and a sixteenth.

QUICK NEWS, $18.60, $7.40, $5.40; VALDINA CLOWN, $3.00, $2.60; GWENNIE'S PAL, $5.80.

QUICK NEWS shook off BAYLETTE to open a good lead and drew out gradually to win with something in reserve. VALDINA CLOWN was steadied early and closed with good energy. GWENNIE'S PAL was caught between horses at the far turn, came wide thereafter and closed gamely. WISE SUN could not make up ground. BAYLETTE was used up forcing the early pace of QUICK NEWS and tired. REMEMBER US had early speed and faded. HYPNOTIZER saved ground while well placed early but flattened out under pressure.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $2500. For 4-year-olds and up; claiming. Start good. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 2:31. Off at 2:31½. Winner, C. Quattlebaum's ch. m. (6) by Tintagel—War Banner by Man o' War. Trained by C. Quattlebaum. Value to winner, $1500. Time, 1:16⅕.

BALU EMPRESS, $17.20, $7.60, $6.00; OYSTER K., $6.40, $4.60; GEORGE SNOW, $7.80.

BALU EMPRESS raced along with OYSTER K., responded when shaken up and drew out gradually. OYSTER K. had keen speed from the start, set and forced the pace but tired at end. GEORGE SNOW lacked early speed, rallied and closed with good energy. DRAW ONE turned in a fair effort. BEAU'S NURSE went evenly. HOMEWARD BOUND, FERRY COMMAND, ALAROSA, IRON PENNY and LOUTEY had no chance with the bad start.

DAILY DOUBLE—QUICK NEWS AND BALU EMPRESS—$183.60

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $3000. For 3-year-olds and up. Start good. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 3:01. Off at 3:01½. Winner, Mrs. A. Ciano's b. g. (4) by Blenheim II—Star Galla by Sir Gallahad III. Trained by A. Scruton. Value to winner, $1800. Time, 1:16.

GALBRAE, $239.40, $66.00, $20.80; CERTIFIED, $5.40, $3.20; LIDO WAY, $3.20.

GAILBRAE, well placed from start, gained gradually on outside and closed gamely. CERTIFIED, in thick of forward contention from start, rallied to dispose of LIDO WAY but could not resist winner. LIDO WAY went to the front early, set good pace and tired gradually at end. BE A BEE broke well, dropped back, came to the outside and was a beaten-off fourth. COMELY BABE had speed in spots. TRY-OUT was an early factor and stopped. HIS WHIZZ tired early.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $3000. For 3-year-olds and up. Start good. Won easily; place driving. Went to post at 3:31. Off at 3:31½. Winner, R. E. Vogelman, jr.'s b. f. (3) by Okapi—Red Glare by Lipscomb. Trained by R. E. Vogelman, jr. Value to winner, $1800. Time, 1:15⅗.

BAD LIGHT, $9.60, $5.60, $4.40; WINKS FORTY, $10.00, $6.60; HALLAZAN, $3.80.

BAD LIGHT assumed command soon after the start, held on well throughout and was never seriously threatened. WINKS FORTY raced in strong contention and closed fast. HALLAZAN was forwardly placed in the early stages but had nothing in reserve for the final quarter. NOONMARK lacked early speed and closed full of run. PUT AND TAKE turned in a fair effort. POMPEY'S HERO ran an even race.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $3500. For 4-year-olds and up; claiming. Start good. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 4:00. Off at 4:01½. Winner, Mrs. G. Fishback's blk. g. (6) by Pilate—Knight's Gal by Bright Knight. Trained by D. Chamblin. Value to winner, $2100. Time, 1:15⅘.

LICTOR, $30.20, $12.20, $9.20; SOMA LAD, $7.00, $5.20; FREE TRANSIT, $7.60.

LICTOR was not hurried early, responded when shaken up to take command in stretch and was under punishment to the end. SOMA LAD was well placed from the start and withstood long drive to show good effort. FREE TRANSIT was hard used to shake off BELLE MOOSE and SOLE PARATE and tired at end. LOCAL BAND closed strongly. TRUE DREAM hung after moving up gamely. SOLE PARATE tired. BELLE MOOSE had early speed.

When you say "COME BACK AGAIN" It costs your carrier time and money

YOUR Washington Post carrier has to pay for the papers he's delivered whether he collects from you or not. So when you ask him to "come back later" because you're not prepared for his visit, it's money out of his pocket to meet his bill and time out of his day to call on you again.

If you work for a salary you expect to be paid the first time you see the paymaster on payday. If you run a business you expect your customers to send in their checks for your services promptly. You have expenses of your own and it takes money to meet them. Just so, your carrier depends on payment from you to take care of his expenses.

When you fail him on collection night it may mean a sacrifice of money he needs for immediate personal, home or school purposes. If you ask him to return later he's wasted the time that it took to visit you—and a carrier's life is a busy one. He has a seven-day-a-week early morning job in addition to going to school, doing his homework and joining in outside activities.

Be fair with your carrier. Pay him on time. And if you're moving, notify him in advance. Papers delivered after you've moved do you no good, and your carrier has to pay for them. If you don't see the boy, call NA. 4200 and tell Circulation.

Your carrier will thank you for your cooperation by giving you the best of service.

Fire Destroys High School in Russell County, Va.

Dante, Va., April 1 (AP).—The second disastrous school fire in Russell County this year destroyed Dante's frame high school building last night, firemen reported.

Members of the fire department from nearby St. Paul fought the blaze for nearly five hours. They said they weer unable to determine the cause of the fire, which apparently started in the school library.

School officials said approximately 500 students were enrolled in the two-story, 12-room building, which was owned by the Clinchfield Coal Corp. There was no immediate estimate of the loss.

Escaped Fairfax Prisoner Returns To Work Camp

A prisoner who escaped Wednesday from State Work Camp No. 30 in Fairfax County gave himself up yesterday morning after spending the night lost and soaked in the woods.

Camp Supt. M. C. Russell said Floyd Turner, 33, telephoned the camp to come get him from a residence near Fairfax Circle after a search with bloodhounds had proved fruitless.

According to Russell, Turner said he got lost after escaping from a work gang, spent the night in the rain and decided he would be better off back at camp.

Russell said Turner will not be tried for escape since he returned voluntarily. But he will lose 30 days of good behavior time, Russell said. Turner was to be released May 1 before his escape. He was serving six months for auto theft from Luray, Va.

Virginia 'Mother' For 1948 Chosen

Richmond, Va., April 1 (AP).—Mrs. Alexander O. Calcott, 75, of Norfolk, has been chosen Virginia State Mother for 1948, Mrs. Thomas W. Smith of Richmond, State chairman of the Golden Rule Foundation, announced today.

Mrs. Calcott, the mother of six children, has been active in school, club and community affairs for many years. As State Mother she will compete for the title of American Mother of 1948.

In 1945, she was awarded a distinguished service citation by the State School Trustees Association and was named first citizen by the Norfolk Cosmopolitan Club.

Forest Towers Get Radio Sets

Charleston, W. Va., April 1 (AP). The Conservation Commission has placed two-way highway frequency radio sets in 26 of its 56 forest fire towers, and eventually plans to install sets in all lookout posts in West Virginia.

Radio Technician James A. Arthur of the Forestry Division said the radio system has been concentrated in the eastern panhandle and in the southern counties.

The radios have a range of about 25 miles, enough to enable towers in a particular area to keep contact with one that also has contact with one of the four major control stations in the State.

Group Approves Md. Postmasters

Senator O'Conor (D., Md.) broke a logjam on the confirmation of postmasters yesterday, and obtained approval of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee for eight appointees in Maryland, as follows:

Joseph B. Rawson of Salisbury; C. Gorman Griffith, Gaithersburg, Montgomery County; Calvin Burns, Grasonville, Queen Annes County; Maybell R. Baker, Union Bridge, Carroll County; William E. Spoerlein, Oakland, Garrett County; Edward P. Harris, Snow Hill, Worcester County.

Brazil Halts Exports Of Food, Except Coffee

Rio de Janeiro, April 1 (AP).—President Eurico Gaspar Dutra today halted the export from Brazil of all foodstuff except coffee.

He acted under a law passed by Congress in February, placing export and import trade under government control. The Finance Ministry, which controls foreign trade, said the export ban on foods will continue until internal distributions are made and prices lowered because of the more plentiful supply.

White Named Vestryman

Leesburg, Va., April 1.—Col. E. B. White, Leesburg attorney, was elected vestryman at the annual congregational meeting of St. James Episcopal Church. Col. White fills a vacancy in the group that has existed since the death of Howard E. Cole.

Vestrymen reelected are Thomas M. Fendall, Frank Saunders, J. R. Lintner, David N. Rust, jr., Col. Robert H. Fletcher, B. Powell, jr., Dr. H. C. Littlejohn, W. T. Thomas, Dr. W. O. Bailey, Jones Lawson, and George J. Durfey, sr.

Telephone Co., Union Talks to Be Resumed

Richmond, Va., April 1 (AP).—Contract negotiations between the Clifton Forge-Waynesboro Telephone Co. and representatives of the Communications Workers of America, Division 33, will be resumed here tomorrow, a union spokesman said today.

The conference will be held at 10 a. m. in the office of Federal Conciliator Thomas B. Morton, and the discussions probably will continue on Saturday.

200 BUILT
3 bedrooms in one of the apts. and 1 in the other. Many have been sold to thrifty, conservative people who are living in 1 apt. and renting the other to help pay the cost of purchase and operation. They also make an excellent purchase for the small investor. Let us explain to you how this is done. We have a small group for sale at this time. Immediately north of the old Soldiers' Home, in a new development, where all houses are designed in the modern manner. Price, $17,000, with $4500 cash payment. Call A. H. Parker, RA. 2569 or TA. 3668.

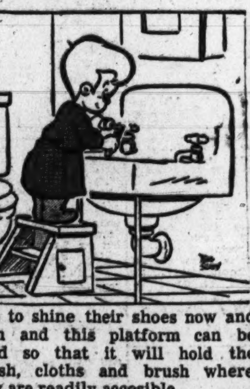
'Juvenilizing' the Bathroom

By Dr. Ernest G. Osborne



One of the reasons that parents continue helping young children in the bathroom when they're really ready to take care of things themselves is that our bathrooms at home aren't built for young children.

If father (or mother) is handy with tools, a sturdy two-step platform can be built with a broad top step. It should be heavy enouth so that it doesn't tip easily and equipped with gliders so that the child can move it around himself. One such platform will serve several purposes. It will provide support for the feet when the youngster is using the regular toilet and also will lift him to the level at which he can use the wash-basin easily. Even the 3 and 4-year-olds like to shine their shoes now and then and this platform can be fixed so that it will hold the polish, cloths and brush where they are readily accesible.

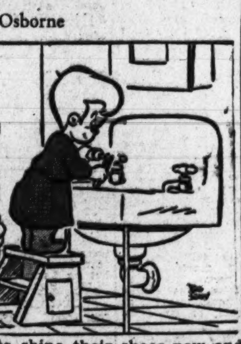
'Juvenilizing' the Bathroom

By Dr. Ernest G. Osborne



One of the reasons that parents continue helping young children in the bathroom when they're really ready to take care of things themselves is that our bathrooms at home aren't built for young children.

If father (or mother) is handy with tools, a sturdy two-step platform can be built with a broad top step. It should be heavy enouth so that it doesn't tip easily and equipped with gliders so that the child can move it around himself. One such platform will serve several purposes. It will provide support for the feet when the youngster is using the regular toilet and also will lift him to the level at which he can use the wash-basin easily. Even the 3 and 4-year-olds like to shine their shoes now and then and this platform can be fixed so that it will hold the polish, cloths and brush where they are readily accesible.

Capital Transit Fare Study Begun

Maryland PSC Hears Final Arguments On Company's Request for Bus Increases

Baltimore, April 1 (AP).—The Maryland Public Service Commission took under study today the Capital Transit Co.'s request for a fare increase in its Maryland operations.

Final arguments by counsel and interetsed parties were presented today at the conclusion of hearings stretching over several months.

Philip H. Dorsey, jr., PSC people's counrel, asked the commission to deny the Washington utility's request for these reasons:

1. The company has not adequately shown that it is losing money on its Free State lines on the fringe of the District of Columbia.

Not Separate Unit

2. Even if these operations are unprofitable, they must not be considered a separate unit but a part of the system, which is earning profits.

3. No improvements in services has been promised if the rates are increased.

4. A boost would result in loss of patronage and would not necessarily increase the company's Maryland revenues.

Daryl Myse, utility attorney, contested these statements point for point, arguing that the company's profit and loss statements were accurate, that it was right in treating the Maryland operations as a unit by itself, and that the proposed hike would materially increase revenue, though not wipe out an annual deficit on Free State lines.

Other Opponents Heard

Other opponents of the increase who addressed the commission were Walter F. Mulligan and A. W. Brummell of Prince Georges County. They dealt substantially with the points raised by Dorsey.

The utility's proposed new rate schedules—which would establish a uniform 5-cent cash fare for each 1½-mile zone—will become effective next Thursday unless the commission rules to the contrary.

Commission spokesmen said the PSC could delay by another 30 dayes theeffective date of the new schedule if its decision was not ready by Thursday.

The agency is expected to decide simutaneously with the rate case the transit company's request for authority to abandon the 3.2-mile Beltsville-Branchville trolley line, or substitute bus service.

Hearing on Cumberland Fare Raise Expected

Baltimore, April 1 (AP).—The Maryland Public Service Commission probably will hold a hearing on the Potomac Edison Co.'s request for a fare increase on its Cumberland (Md.) bus lines. The Cumberland mayor and council have passed a resolution opposing the proposed fare hike.

The utility proposed to retain the present cash fare of 10 cents, and 5-cent rides for school children, but it wants to eliminate three-for-a-quarter and 15-for-$1 tickets, issuing six-for-50 cents tickets instead.

It seeks to put the new rates into effect by May 2, the date on which they would go in force automatically unless the PSC intervenes.

Utility Lawyer Asks Retraction by Mayor

Cumberland, Md., April 1 (AP).—William C. Walsh, former attorney general, today charged Mayor Thomas S. Post with using his official position to "blackguard other citizens."

Walsh, attorney for the Potomac Edison Co., called upon the mayor to "prove the statements he made about me yesterday or retract them."

The mayor charged the "Walsh machine" with being instrumental in having State legislation passed which prevents the city from levying a franchise tax on utilities.

"The mayor's statement is wholly incorrect, and the mayor knew or should have known when he made it that it was incorrect," declared Walsh in a formal statement.

The attorney said the law was first passed in 1916, when he was on the Mexican border with the National Guard. He said it was then seven years before the Potomac Edison came to Cumberland, 15 years before the company operated buses here, and 11 years before he became its attorney.

Rep. Rizley to Retire At End of Present Term

Enid, Okla., April 1 (AP).—Representative Rizley (R., Okla.) said today he would retire from public life at the end of his present term January 3, 1949.

Rizley, chairman of the House Surplus Property Committee, is serving his fourth term in the House.

Doctors Operate To Save Life of Holdup Victim

Baltimore, April 1 (AP).—Surgeons performed an emergency operation today in an attempt to save the life of Mrs. Elizabeth Telljohann, shot twice in the back last night by a purse snatcher.

Her condition was described as critical. The operation followed a series of blood transfusions.

Police said her assailant had taken $35 from her purse after accosting her in front of her son's home as she was returning from a movie.

Mrs. Telljohann resisted the man and he fired twice. Henry Telljohann, the son, was aroused by screams and found his mother lying in the street.

She had been on the way to the adjoining home of a daughter, where she was to meet her husband.

Indian Head Plant Building on Schedule

Capt. P. D. Gallery, executive officer of the United States Naval Powder Factory at Indian Head, Md., yesterday announced that construction of an experimental powder factory is going along on schedule, and that the factory will be completed by fall.

The new addition to the Indian Head plant will be devoted to research and manufacture of "experimental powder." F. C. Thames, head of the Department of Research and Development, will be in charge of this work.

Court to Hear Arlington School Board Appeal

The Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals has agreed to hear an appeal from an Arlington Circuit Court decision upohlding legality of the present elected Arlington School Board, Paul Brown, assistant to Arlington Commonwealth's Attorney, said yesterday.

Appeal against the January 5 ruling of the Arlington Circuit Court was made before the Richmond court by attorneys for the five 1947 school board members who are contesting the new group's tenure.

In its January decision, the Arlington court upheld constitutionality of the special law authorizing Arlington to elect its school boards.

Formerly the county school board was appointed by a School Electoral Trustee Board. All appointed former board members were defeated in the county's first school board election last fall.

In their brief to the Supreme Court of Appeals, attorneys for the former board members maintained that the special act is "a local law" applying only to Arlington, and therefore unconstitutional.

Baltimore-Annapolis Bus Route Planned

Baltimore, April 1 (AP).—The Red Star Motor Coaches, Inc., notified the Public Service Commission today it expects to file application for authority to operate buses between Baltimore and Annapolis.

The notice was contained in a letter written by William J. McWilliams, attorney for Red Star. It said the company is completing a survey that it started several weeks ago and will apply for the route on its basis.

Making the Ocean a Test Tube ... to bring you better products

INCO goes down to the sea . . . to get the ocean's own verdict on metals and alloys.

Here, at Kure Beach, the Atlantic has been made a giant test tube for studying the corrosive attack of salt water and salt air.

Bird's-eye view of Marine Test Basin at Kure Beach, N.C.

Many different tests are made on thousands of metal specimens. Each is carried out under natural conditions expected in service.

The picture above shows metal panels immersed in the ocean's own brine. This type of test shows how well the metal resists corrosion, and also whether it retards the growth of barnacles and other marine life.

In other tests, metals are exposed on racks to salt air and salt spray, or whirled through the water at high velocity.

These and other tests often take months . . . sometimes years. But the object remains the same: To discover which metal or alloy is best suited to a specific task.

Just one of the many ways International Nickel helps manufacturers bring you better products, with a hand from Your Unseen Friend, Nickel. "Unseen," because it's usually combined with other metals. "Your Friend," because it serves you every day.

Write for your free copy of "The Romance of Nickel." This illustrated, 60-page booklet tells the story of Nickel, from ancient discovery to modern-day use. Address Dept. 49X.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Man Was Divorced by 'Girl of His Dreams' On His Return From Army Duty; Now She's Married to Someone Else But Wants Him Back

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Alice and I were married six years ago, and four months later I was called into the Army, after which she broke up housekeeping and went back to her parents, to await my return.

We were happy together before I left and for months our daily letters were full of devotion and understanding. Toward the end of that year our son was born, which seemed to intensify our love, and I was sure I had found the girl of my dreams.

I managed to get home a few times on leave and these days with Alice and the baby were the happiest of my life. Then toward the end of the second year I began to notice a change in her letters which signified something wrong.

I learned she was drinking too much and naturally I thought the strain of separation was beginning to tell on her nerves; and in late 1944 I managed to get a medical discharge and went home.

Man Never Knew Where He Failed

HERE I was greeted with the news that her brother was reported missing in action; and because I was no longer in the service, her mother began to call me a slacker and other things, and Alice would side with her mother in these quarrels.

This in turn caused many misunderstandings between us, which baffled me, and the net result was that we separated and Alice divorced me. Later the brother's death was verified, Alice married again, and now has another son by her second husband, who is a professional Army man.

Of recent months Alice and I have been seeing each other and she tells me she never was in love with her present husband, loves me more than ever and wants me back the worst way. I am still in love with her, but am I a fool? Should I take her back? Is it fair to her present husband? Please advise me, as I am all mixed up and don't know what to do.

J. T.

Girl Enjoys Love But Doesn't Love

DEAR J. T.: As I get the picture, Alice doesn't know the meaning of love, except in the sense of capitalizing on others' devotion to her.

She enjoys being loved for the feeling of special protection it gives her; and now that she is past the teens and aspires to a life of her own—that is to say, freedom from mother rules—she trades on romantic love (or masculine adulation) to serve in lieu of self reliance in making her feel important and socially, materially and psychologically secure.

To judge by your recital, in any situation where she is temporarily confronted with the proposition of acting responsibly in her own right, she flunks the test.

After you joined the Army, she fell back on her parents; and finding that arrangement hard to take as a steady diet—perhaps because baby-care and her mother's views kept her on a tight rein the most part—she turned to drink as "magic" escape from frustration. And of course her frustration had to do with wanting a lovely life, gift-bestowed, as it were, on her, and being denied it in the circumstances.

Lady Is Running Away From Herself

THEN you came out of the Army on a medical discharge, not much of a hero, just a decent fellow, and with not much to offer at the time, except your true-blue devotion,—ready to be a good partner, but also in need of a full partner, too, and on that score she couldn't oblige. It isn't in her character.

You couldn't whisk her away to a honeymoon home and the ease and pleasures of full prosperity; and so she ditched you, hiding behind her mother's skirts and using the mother's hostility as justification, probably with the second husband already in view, as the supposedly better provider.

But now the gilt has worn off that arrangement, too; and it seems the new husband's professional assignment leaves Alice alone much of the time, or at any rate, with some free time that she cannot, in character, occupy sensibly, simply because of her own instability. And that's where you come in again,—not that she loves you, but because you are available and hungrily devoted and

By Norma Foust

WHEN ARMY WIVES turn from tea cups and parties to nursery schools it's great fun for everyone—especially the youngsters.

For proof, just take a look at what Fort Myer's officers' wives did with a little bit of money and a lot of ingenuity.

The service ladies organized a club slightly more than a month ago with its first major project the establishment of a full-scale cooperative nursery school for children of all service people. Two hundred dollars from their very young budget was set aside for the school and a special committee, headed by Mrs. Paul T. Carroll, was assigned to set things up.

Then the Army came through. Fort Myer officers donated one of the two-story buildings that had gone up to house temporary wartime personnel at the fort. The club's funds for the school financed remodelling the frame building and construction of a fenced-in playground behind it.

The Junior Army-Navy Guild Organization gave $100 in cash plus a good supply of used toys. Members of the Fort Myer Officers' Wives Club collected furniture. They painted and did their own carpenter work on the second hand and older items. And a large gift shipment of new playthings came from New York designer-manufacturer Louis Marz, a friend of the Omar Bradleys.

OPENING DAY for the nursery was March 15 with enrollment priorities going to children of enlisted men and then to junior officers' offspring. There are nearly 30 regular customers now and accommodations are being made to take in more.

To keep the nursery running from 1 to 5 p. m. with military efficiency (it'll soon be open mornings as well) an experienced nursery school supervisor, Mrs. Burton Andrus, and an assistant, Mrs. Howard McGarr, have been hired.

They are assisted with the daily chores by volunteer club members, mothers of pupils and Jangos.

The Army wives like the work and are especially proud that they are succeeding so well with a worthwhile project. The junior service members have found that nursery school volunteer duty a few days a month is as much fun as any project Jango has joined. And the service mothers are noticing that their young pupils look forward each day to school time.

Help Is Sought In Home Furnishings

I've just returned to the United States and am furnishing a house for the first time. The high prices of furniture and my two small children have made me decide to furnish with secondhand furniture which my husband and I can restore. Can you suggest any books that would offer suggestions for such a project.?

J. P. S.

"First Aid for the Ailing House," by Roger B. Whitman (McGraw-Hill, publishers), has a practical section on furniture refinishing for the amateur. The new revised and enlarged edition of House and Garden's "Interior Decoration," edited by Richardson Wright (Simon & Schuster), has a section giving complete working directions for furniture finishing. This book has a wealth of colored illustrations for idea source material. "Revive Your Old Furniture," by Louise Sloane (American Studio Books), presents many original ideas for remodeling old furniture. These books are all available in most large book stores.

I have a tank type vacuum cleaner with plastic attachments with the exception of the long, narrow attachment used to clean the ceiling, corners and overhead light fixtures. This is made of black, heavy paper fiber. I have found it mars my walls with what would appear to be a pencil mark. Do you know of any solution for this? Or would you suggest my purchasing a different type of attachment. My vacuum cleaner comes from one of the mail order establishments that has stores in the city, so I am not sure that other attachments would fit it.

Have you taken this matter up with the local store of this firm? It may be that they would make some adjustment in the matter. Also, you might buy one of the new clear plastic preparations and coat the cleaning attachment with it. This will give you a hard film on the fixture and keep the black from rubbing off. A local paint store and an auto supply concern sell such preparations.

How can I keep food such as fresh vegetables, from drying out in the refrigerator? I. R. E.

Placing the freshly washed vegetables in a large covered glass or enamel pan (hydrator) in the refrigerator will keep them in garden-fresh condition. Or, there are large zippered cellophane or plastic bags on the market into which the vegetables can be put to prevent drying.

A pair of blue plastic curtains which hang in my bathroom over a radiator has a white ruffle which has yellowed. Simply

The Rev. Earl Meekins officiated and Mr. Asbell gave his daughter in marriage. Miss Kathleen Asbell was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. William Lee Smith, Mrs. Carlton Williams and Mrs. Raymond Evans. Major McBride's father was best man and ushers were Capt. William R. Culmer, Harold W. Strickland, Cecil Evans and Raymond Evans. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Fischman—Garcia

Mrs. Marie Antoinette Garcia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joaquin Garcia of Washington, became the bride on March 28 of Robert Henry Fischman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Fischman of Alexandria, Va.

The Rev. Robert Thomlinson performed the ceremony at the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd and a reception followed in the New Melody Ballroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white satin with seed pearl trimming and carried a white feather fan trimmed with orchids and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Sarah Patane, maid of honor; Mrs. Earl Helmuth Lutz, matron of honor, and Misses Louise Berardi and Nancy Azzarella, the bridesmaids. William Morton Fischman was his brother's best man and the ushers included Earl Helmuth Lutz, Clayton Bowman and Lambert Irby.

Gellman—Bord

MRS. DAVID H. GELLMAN

Miss Marcella Bord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mischa Bord, and David H. Gellman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Gellman, were married on March 21 at the Mosean Club.

The bride wore white silk satin and ice blue lace and carried a bouquet of white orchids and gladiolas. Miss Mary Bord, gowned in aquas and carrying pink roses, was maid of honor for her sister. Harold Lieberman served as best man. The bride's niece, Susan Colodny, was flower girl. She wore a white gown and carried sweet peas.

Newspaper Club to Celebrate Birthday at Buffet Supper

SENATOR AND MRS. HOMER FERGUSON are among the distinguished members of official circles who will attend the birthday party of the American Newspaper Women's Club, Inc., Sunday evening. The club will mark its sixteenth anniversary April 4 and honor guests at the informal buffet supper that evening will be the new members. Mrs. Ferguson recently accepted the club's invitation to become an associate member.

The party will be given in the Raleigh Room of the Hotel Raleigh where the group of women news writers had their home for several years. It was from the Raleigh that the club moved to its present home at 1604 20th st.

Sharing honors with the new members will be those who gave aid to the organization in its infancy. Among these will be Clifford K. Berryman, who gave the club its first possession—one of his famous Teddy Bear cartoons. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Berryman and their daughter, Miss Florence Berryman, an active member of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Bascom N. Timmons, the former the donor of the first chair the club possessed, are other honor guests. The list also includes Lee Poe Hart, who was instrumental in getting headquarters for the club in the National Press Club where meetings were held and parties given for two years.

Others who have been invited for Sunday are Senator Alben W. Barkley, Miss Margaret Petersen, Mrs. Charles Binns Tebbs, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hammond Welsh, jr., Mr. and Mrs. George R. Snyder, Miss Evelyn Tyner, Mr. and Mrs. Gibson Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. Jackson C. Davis.

There will be a brief program of entertainment during the supper hours and, following custom, part of it will be kept for a surprise. Among the songs of lighter vein will be those of Johnny Bradford, singing editor of NBC Television Journal.

Margaret Hart Canby, president of the club, will receive, and as hostess Sunday will be serving in a threefold capacity—as one of the two founders, and as a former president. She will be assisted by other former presidents. Kate Scott Brooks, first chief executive and now honorary president; Marie McNair, Alice Eversman, Genevieve Reynolds and Katharine M. Brooks, the other founder.

Other new members to be honored Sunday are Mrs. Lewis B. Schwellenbach, Mrs. William Averell Harriman, Mrs. John R. Steelman, Mrs. Spessard L. Holland, Mrs. J. Howard McGrath, Mrs. J. William Fulbright, Mrs. Clifford Davis, Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, Mrs. Benjamin M. McKelway, Mrs. Thaddeus H. Brown, Mrs. Joseph R. Farrington, Mrs. John Davis Lodge, Mrs. Herbert F. U. N. Official Asks Women to Sacrifice for Peace

The United States must have a double-barreled foreign relations policy. It must work to achieve peace through the United Nations. At the same time it must prepare to defend itself and its friends against possible war. So declared Mrs. Lydia Van Zandt, charter member of the Speakers' Research Committee for the United Nations, in an address yesterday before members of the Twentieth Century Club.

Mrs. Van Zandt said that such a step was necessary because even the most optimistic appraisal of the accomplishments of the United Nations does not assure us that it will develop the necessary power and authority to prevent another war .

She went on to point out that the as world's richest nation, the great burden of relief, reconstruction and rearmament falls upon the United States. Hence the United States has the greatest stake in the seeing the U. N. become strong enough to share some of these burdens in the future. For example, she said that it will be necessary to have the U. N. Economic Commission for Europe take over where the European Recovery Program stops.

"American women own more than 70 per cent of the property, spend more than 80 per cent of the family income and in this election year hold more than 50 per cent of the votes," explained Mrs. Van Zandt. "This puts a tremendous responsibility on our shoulders to be willing to make personal sacrifices in the interests of national security and world peace."

"But always we must remember that our real national security lies in the elimination of war itself," she concluded.

Last Word for Wallace

Hank and Senator Swap Some Satanic Dialogue About Brokers' Bible

By Mary Van Rensselaer Thayer

EVEN hearings on such unfunny subjects as universal military training have their lighter moments.

When Henry Wallace first appeared before the Senate Armed Services Committee to testify against the bill, he quoted the Wall Street Journal several times to emphasize his angle. When the former Vice President finished, Senator Russell, a Democrat from Georgia, remarked, "Mr. Wallace, I've heard of the devil's quoting Scriptures to his own ends, but if the devil himself had appeared here with horns and a forked tail it couldn't have surprised me more than to have heard you quote the Wall Street Journal." "Do you mean to imply, Senator, that the Wall Street Journal is a Bible?" retorted Wallace. Senator Russell refrained from answering.

Compliments of Bertha

BERTHA JOSEPH, once the secretary for former Senator Radcliffe, is as noted for her quips as for her one model hat. At a farewell party for Argentine Ambassador Ivanissevich (whom she calls her nicest "itch," she said, "If Mr. Peron is really bringing you back as Minister of Education, I can understand it." "Why, Bertha?" asked the Ambassador. "Because if they're stupid enough to take you away from Washington, they certainly need education!"

As a happy spring harbinger, Bertha's had her felt hat duplicated in bright red. These broad-brimmed felts are made especially for her, and at considerable cost, at Dobbs. She wears them not only for ornament but on doctor's orders!

Years ago, on the Hill, she sat hours on end in the rebound of an air-conditioning unit, developed agonizing pains in her head. Eventually a smart doctor told her the only sure cure was to keep her head covered. So she does, season in and season out, and, whisper it softly, she dons a bedcap nights. It's not felt, we hasten to add, but a dainty pink silk numero!

On the side, Miss J. holds down an important job in the international division of J. Walter Thompson, the world's largest (so we're told) advertising and public relations firm.

Peer Meets Labor

ONE of the newest and undoubtedly nicest members of the British Embassy is Lord Jellicoe, son of Britain's great admiral who commanded at the Battle of Jutland.

Lord Jellicoe, who spent several war years in Greece, and parachuted into a number of tight corners, is pleasantly modest. At a cocktail party the other afternoon he was introduced to the wife of an important personage in the CIO. As they shook hands the lady said, "I've never met a lord before." Jellicoe replied, "I'm afraid I'm not much of one!"

On the Capital Party Calendar . . .

MRS. CLARENCE NORTON GOODWIN will entertain at a weinie-waffle-beer snack party this evening, taking her guests later to the Canadian Club dance at Wardman Park Hotel. Honor guests at this young people's party will be Miss Patricia Magann and Miss Pamela Magann, daughters of the Counselor of the Canadian Embassy and Mrs. G. L. Magann.

In the hemispheric group this evening will be Maria Elena, Marta and Cecilia Restrepo, daughters of the Colombian Ambassador and Senora de Restrepo; Zulita Fernandez Davila, daughter of the Minister of Peru and Senora de Fernandez-Davila; Gloria Caceres, niece of the Honduran Ambassador and Senorita Adelina Copello. Among the North American girls will be Kiki Kem, daughter of Senator and Mrs. James Kem; Gloria Gilman, Katherine Elkins, Leonie Cooper and Ruth Aldis of Lake Forest, Ill. Attaches of the Canadian Embassy, the British Embassy, the Australian Embassy and Irish Legation, will be there and also several of the White House Aides.

Lady Berendsen, wife of the Minister of New Zealand, will assist the hostess.

Miss Howard Entertains For Walter Winchell

MISS MEREDITH HOWARD entertained at the United Nations Club yesterday afternoon in honor of Walter Winchell of New York City. The tea was from 5 to 7, included members of diplomatic, official and residential society.

The Ambassador of France, Henri Bonnet, attended, as well as the Norwegian Ambassador and Mme. de Morgenstierne and the Greek Ambassador and Mme. Dendramis. Others were Associate Justice and Mrs. William O. Douglas, Associate Justice and Mrs. Harold H. Burton, Secretary of the Army and Mrs. Kenneth C. Royall, Assistant to the President and Mrs. John R. Steelman, the Danish Counselor and Mme. Bertelsen, and Senator and Mrs. Brien McMahon.

Seventy-Niners Club Will Give Dance

A SPRING DANCE will be given by the Seventy-Niners on Tuesday, April 6, at the Meadowbrook Cabin off East-West Highway. The Seventy-Niners are young married couples, whose ages do not exceel 79 per couple. It is a nonsectarian organization under the sponsorship of the Takoma Park Presbyterian Church.

Tickets will be available at the door the night of the dance. Those desiring transportation may contact Earl Dilliplane, SHepherd 4742.

Dinner Parties Held At Miss Garcia's Opening

NAN GARCIA sang at the Pall Mall Room of the Raleigh Hotel last evening, beginning a week's engagement. The opening was attended by a number of the artist's friends, with smallish smart dinner parties dotting the room.

Mrs. Martin Vogel entertained at a table for a company of 16. Her guests were Mrs. Harold Burton, Mrs. Wiley Rutledge, Senor and Senora Sanz Briz, Rear Admiral and Mrs. J. A. Schofield, Senator George D. Aiken, Miss Evalyn Tyner, Fordyce Minnick, M. and Mme. Paternotte de la Vaillee, Senor and Senora Heurtematte, Mrs. Elizabeth Schwalb, Miss Mary Ann Mitchell, Jean Beliard, Flag Lieut. David Holdsworth, Group Capt. T. C. Noel and W. J. Bryan Dorn.

Nan Garcia studied with Nicoli Lopatnikoff, well-known modern composer, at Westchester Conservatory. At previous engagements in Washington she sang at Children's Hospital and the United Nations Club.

Misses Ladd, Adams To Give Dance

MISS Martha Ladd, daughter of of Col. and Mrs. John G. Ladd, and Miss Helen Adams, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Quincy Adams, will entertain at a dance Saturday evening at the Wesley Heights Community Club. They will be assisted by Miss Adams' aunt, Miss Joseph Banks, and Colonel and Mrs. Ladd.

Hip Hips Away—41 to 36½ Inches

By Ida Jean Kain

LET A GAL put on 20 excess pounds and 22 of them pad the hips—or so it seemed to our model, Barbara Anne. Her hips were way past the yard line! They measured 41 upholstered inches.

Unhappily, dieting doesn't budge hips. But they can't hold out against exercise—and here's the technique that slimmed those 41-inch hips to a neat 36½.

To slim the back of hips, the exercise action is a swing past right angles. So music, maestro! "The Fat Polka," please.

Position: Lying on floor on side, head pillowed on folded arm, legs straight down, one resting on top of the other.

Movement: Raise top leg for clearance and swing! Swing the leg up in front, then away back, tensing the muscle on the back of the hip as you swing. Continue for 12 counts. Relax. Change sides and swing 12 counts with the other leg. Rest. Later repeat again, changing sides with each 12 counts.

A side swing with a curve reaches side hip muscles . . .

Position: Same, lying on side, legs straight down.

Movement: Raise top leg and circle, knee straight, swinging up, around and down in wide circles, 6 counts in one direction and 6 counts in the other. Change sides and circle with other leg. Later repeat again.

Now we'll try a counter-attack, adding resistance. This time the target is that pincushion of fat perched on the side of the hip.

Position: Standing, hold onto chair back for support.

Movement: Place free hand on cushion of fat to direct the side-back swing through the bulge. Keeping knee stiff, kick against the muscular resistance of the front thigh muscles, directing the back thrust at an angle more toward the side than back. Six counts, change sides, 6 counts. Later increase.

Smooth off with an all-round roller-offer . . . rolling plump across the hip-line, 25 solid counts.

sudsing has not restored the ruffle to original brightness. What do you suggest doing?
J. A. L.

The change in color of the white ruffle is probably due to the heat from the radiator and very little can be done to restore it. Is the curtain long enough so that you can cut the ruffle off and then hem the curtain?

Would cans (containing fruit juice, ripe olives, fish and other products) which are bloated affect the food inside? H. L. R.

Bulging of canned food is caused by the formation of gas inside of the can due to bacterial action. When this happens, the food inside of the can is spoiled and should never be used.

I have an old box, silver plated on copper, off which most of the silver has come. Is there any home method I can use to take all of the silver plating off? I would prefer having the box all copper instead of replating it.
E. M.

Since most of the silver plating has come off the box with use, possibly the rest can be removed by scouring with a fine abrasive. A satisfactory abrasive which will leave the copper with a high polish can be made by mixing finely powdered chalk of rottenstone with vaseline to make a paste. Or, dampen one of the above abrasive powders with vinegar into which has been dissolved as much salt as it will take. Apply one of these abrasive pastes to the box with a soft cloth.

How can white rayon blouses and slips be made whitier?
B. P. J.

Soak the rayon in a solution of sodium perborate and soapy water. Use four tablespoons perborate to a pint of warm soapy water. Allow to stand for 20 to 30 minutes in this solution and rinse thoroughly. Or, a few tablespoons of household bleach can be added to the wash water when washing rayons to whiten. Be sure to rinse very thoroughly to remove every trace of bleach.

PETUNIA!

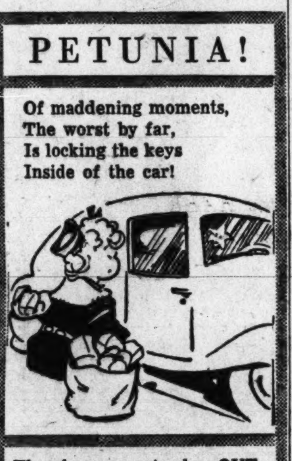
The worst by far,
Is locking the keys
Inside of the car!



Then keep an extra key OUTSIDE the car Petunia! Fasten it inside the lower edge of the running board with a thumbscrew. Or solder it lightly inside a hub cap.

Bishop-Bracken

Many years ago, there was an iron on the market heated by liquid alcohol. Is it possible one could be bought heated by canned heat? E. D.

There are no irons on the market at this time which are heated by canned heat. The Department of Commerce says that the only self-contained iron of this sort available is heated by kerosene and is produced by Radiant Products, Incorporated, Akron, Ohio.

I have a chamois leather jacket. Can you tell me what would be suitable for cleaning it?
P. G. L.

Such jackets can be cleaned at home with a commercial dry cleaning powder. However, it's doubtful whether you can get the leather as thoroughly clean as would a reliable dry cleaning company. Dry cleaners who do this work do not always guarantee it, but they say results are usually quite satisfactory.

Can you tell me where I can buy plain shoe platforms and if they can be sent by mail? F. K.

Can any of our readers supply information for F. K. on this subject?

Welcome home, Gus.
Hello.
Our London booking agent, Harry Price, tried to coax us into a tour of the provinces, but I felt I needed a nice long rest. And so I—
Barnaby! Gus's return is fortuitous, isn't it?
Huh?
I'm promoting a little product, Gus, and I think I can use you in my radio program—

THE DISTRICT LINE by Bill Gold

Love Makes World Go 'Round, But Blocks Traffic

Traffic Director George E. Keneipp and his deputy director, Wallace L. Braun, were driving home after a tough day at the office.

On E st. nw., between 19th and 20th, they found rush-hour traffic inexplicably blocked, and District Liner Keneipp moaned:

"It's probably a traffic signal on the fritz up there at the corner. Let's park the car and get it straightened out."

So they parked the car and walked up to the bottleneck to investigate.

The traffic light was okay, but a double-parked car was jamming traffic on the narrow street.

Inside the car were a young man and a young woman, necking to beat the band, and completely oblivious to the honking horns and grinding gears which surrounded them.

"Look, young fellow," began Keneipp, "don't you think you can find a more appropriate place for that sort of thing?"

The girl gasped. "Oh, it's a detective."

"Gee, officer," said her companion as he slowly returned to a comprehension of earthbound realities, "I didn't realize . . . we didn't know . . . golly, look at those cars . . . I'll get right out of here. Yes, sir. Right away."

And with that he was off, leaving Keneipp to scratch his head slowly and ponder the fate that leads some little boys to grow up to be traffic directors.

HE'S A CARD ALL RIGHT (A JOKER)

Roy C. Ward, who works for the Don't Make a Move Without Calling Youknowwho Transfer & Storage Co., suggests:

"To confound your critics, tell them you're just a little dandruff, trying to get ahead."

A 12-year-old relative of mine (he had a birthday last month—now he can be a Boy Scout instead of a Cub) prefers:

"I'm a card—but I can be dealt with."

When I tell him it's an old joke he says, "I know. I'm studying up on old jokes, so that I can be a columnist."

MEEEOW!

(Two of our leading journalists, discussing the output of a fellow craftsman):

No. 1: Yessir, I can truthfully say that his column hasn't nauseated me for several days now.

No. 2: He's improving, eh?

No. 1: No—vacationing.

MIRACLE OF 2D ST.

About five weeks ago Mrs. Leo Orwicz of 5325 2d st. nw. lost the diamond out of her engagement ring.

Methodically, she vacuumed the house, upstairs and down. Desperately, her husband dismantled all the plumbing.

It was all to no avail. The diamond was gone, and that was that.

The other day Mrs. Orwicz decided to take advantage of all that beautiful sunshine the weatherman sent us, and went out into her back yard to catch a few spring breezes.

Everything looked so bright and lovely—especially that sparkle which emanated from a patch of weeds.

REPUBLICAN JOKE

The latest political wisecrack around town is that a fourth party is being formed, to espouse the candidacy of Mr. Truman.

GIVE-AWAYS

"We'd like to find nice homes, so we're sending you our pictures:

"If you'd like to have us, call Randolph 5174."

FILL IT UP, MISTER?

Memo to the city desk:

If you want a good picture story, send a photographer out to Harry Nalls' garage, next door to the fire house, in East Falls Church, Va.

Starting at 9 o'clock tonight and lasting until 9 o'clock Saturday night, teen-agers are taking over Nalls' garage and filling station.

If you want to know why, think back to last summer, when we started plugging those shows given by the 'Teen Theater, to raise funds for a 'Teen Canteen.

Since then, those Falls Churchers have really gone to town. First they got a surplus prefabricated house from the Government; then they got the town council to appropriate $1000 toward the expense of moving and installing it.

Now local contractors and other businessmen are chipping in with donations of time, services, materials and money. And work has already started on the foundation.

To raise more money, Harry Nalls is turning his auto emporium over to the kids. They'll tend the pumps and service racks, and do the washing, greasing, tire changing and other chores.

The teen-agers will work for free, but Harry's regular help will draw regular wages. So, to balance that expense, Harry is kicking in $100 out of his own pocket—so that the profits will be bigger.

All those young 'uns dishing out super service to help get their clubhouse built should turn up some good pictures. Or would you rather print John Lewis' scowl again? Bill.

Listen to Bill Gold each noon, Monday through Saturday, over WINX (1340) and WINX-FM (96.3).

Leonard Lyons . . .

NEW YORK.—Gypsy Rose Lee and Julio de Diego, the artist, recently announced that they would be married two days later, on a Thursday afternoon. The newspapers published the story, as well as the account of the wedding reception to which all their friends had been invited, on Thursday night. It was a nice wedding reception, and all the guests toasted the newlyweds . . . On Friday morning the bride and groom went to the marriage license bureau. They had been there 24 hours earlier, but there were so many legal documents which required authentication that the license couldn't be issued in time. And so Friday morning, 12 hours after their wedding reception, the bride and groom received the license and were married.

For the first time in a decade the United States Supreme Court will adjourn in mid-May. This early adjournment is due to the fact that the court calendar is right up to date . . . A young movie producer, whose wealth and position were inherited, discussed economics with Dorothy Parker and during the heated argument he told her: "I too have known the pangs of hunger." Mrs. Parker told him: "If you ever knew the pangs of hunger, young man, it must've been before lunch was served."

Warren Austin didn't get the statement on the United States' Palestine switch until five minutes before he was to deliver the speech. Earlier that day Chaim Weizmann lunched with General Hildring of the American delegation, who assured him that partition would go through.

Aaron Bohrod, the painter, is selling his Chicago home. He's been appointed "Artist In Residence" at the University of Wisconsin—the post held by the late John Steuart Curry.

W. Somerset Maugham is reluctant to return to America because the British government allows him only a few pounds for his trip. "With this paltry sum, what do you expect me to live on?" Maugham asked. He was told: "On your many friends."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Peace Appeal to Stalin Proposed

By Drew Pearson

These are days when it isn't easy to write a column. It's partly the cherry blossoms, the magnolia trees in front of the White House and the violets in my own back yard. They make closed-door committee meetings, Army-Navy feuds over airplane carriers—the things editors pay me to write about—dull and drab in contrast.

PEARSON

The world looks so fresh and clean and ready to begin life over again . . . at least nature's part of it. So you don't want to write about backstage skulduggery or Communists' threats or preparations for war. And you can't help but think that if man's part in this world only kept up with nature's part, we wouldn't have to worry about war and preparations for war.

All these things make me sad and depressed. I shouldn't be. For my grandson has just come to see me. He's red-headed, named for me, and cute enough to make you forget all the headaches of the world—except when you remember that he and a lot of other kids are being brought into a world of atomic bombs, germ warfare, rockets and guided missiles.

While these kids grow up, we sit mute and helpless—we who are supposed to know something about government—merely watch the world drift toward another war.

Hope is the symbol of Easter—The hope inspired by Christ risen from the dead. Hope was never more desperately needed than now. And as I look round the country there is one thing that gives me hope—the American people. That's our greatest wealth—our fine, wonderful generous people. You have to go out as I did on the Friendship Train to know and appreciate them.

And the greatest hope of other countries is exactly the same thing—the people. I also found that France and Italy were full of the same kind of warmhearted, friendly, eager people. Their one great hope was peace and friendship.

The funny thing is that despite all the propaganda and iron curtain between us, I'm sure the Russian people are exactly the same way—if you can ever get by their rulers. At least they were when I was in Siberia. They get sentimental over cherry blossoms. They got worried about the future. And they don't want their babies to grow up to be cannon-fodder any more than we do.

So if you could just get the Russian and American people together—let them know each other, mingle with each other, trust each other, then we wouldn't have to worry about war. For people don't start wars. It's the kings and dictators and fanatics who push people into wars.

That, of course, is exactly why the 14 bosses in the Politburo have an iron curtain. That's why they're so careful to keep foreigners out, why the Red army in Germany and Austria is kept isolated.

Some time ago I talked with Secretary of State Marshall about making one last appeal direct to Stalin to get the American and Russian people together. Stalin is always talking about Russia's desire for peace and America's threat to the world; so let's call him on it; let's put it to him, squarely on the line, that the way to peace is through the mingling of people. And make the appeal public— for all the world to know.

For a time I thought General Marshall was going through with this idea.

He didn't, but it's still not too late.

It's not too late also to print several million copies of such an appeal in different languages and drop them in Yugoslavia, Romania, Czechoslovakia and all over Europe to show that we really want peace—that we made a proposal of Russian-American friendship. We should keep on dropping copies of this speech . . . behind the iron curtain . . . telling the Russian people we are their friends. Millions of copies. It would counteract a lot of lies . . . More important, it might prevent war.

Sometimes from our lowest depths, the best things come. This week most of us went to church. We listened to Easter sermons. But outside of church many of us forget about the greatest Spokesman who ever lived. So let's put some of his words and thoughts into that plea for friendship with the Russian people—if General Marshall will only make it.

If that appeal is made . . . it might remind the world—and Russia—that in Christ's day the world was pretty much the way it is now. Men needed guidance. They were swayed by greed, selfishness, doubt—as many of us are now.

But a great principle was laid down in that day—a great goal for all mankind—the Sermon on the Mount. And while the United States has been following it only imperfectly, we still believe it can be applied to our relations with other nations and other men. So, casting no stones, and not without sin, we invite our potential enemy to join us in a new journey down the road of friendship.

This appeal might fall on stony ground. It might fall on the sands and quickly be washed away. But if only one part fell on fertile soil anywhere in Europe, the appeal would be worth making.

To be with you

I wish that I could be with you . . . As long as rivers flow . . . And just as long as stars appear . . . And there are winds that blow . . . As long as day and night prevail . . . And flowers bloom in spring . . . And there are moments made of love . . . To be remembering . . . I wish that I might share with you . . . The glory of the sun . . . And watch the purple twilight when . . . The afternoon is done . . . To wander in the woods with you . . . And gaze upon your face . . . When shadows paint the walls around . . . A friendly fireplace . . . As long as mountains meet the sky . . . And moonlight walks the sea . . . And even after life and time . . . Become eternity.
